Session: New York Pre-Open Briefing (Preparation for Monday, August 4, 2026)

Disclaimer: As today is Sunday, August 2, 2026, most major global markets are closed. This blueprint provides an outlook and potential strategies for the upcoming trading week, specifically Monday, August 4, 2026, based on late last week's closing news and weekend developments. Live market data for "today's session" (Sunday) is generally unavailable for active trading, and therefore, ticker selections are illustrative based on recent trends and technical analysis discussed in financial reports, rather than real-time scanner results. Market conditions and news can change rapidly, and this report should be used for informational purposes and further independent analysis.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve maintained its target range for the federal funds rate at 3.50–3.75% at its July meeting, but a 9-3 vote split with three regional Fed presidents advocating for a 25 basis point hike signals a hawkish sentiment, implying the fight against inflation is not over. This hawkish stance may lead to further rate hikes in the second half of 2026, and the bond market has already reacted with rising longer-term yields.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) has also paused its rate hikes, but policymakers indicate another increase is possible if higher energy prices fuel inflation. Eurozone inflation unexpectedly accelerated to 2.9% in July, reinforcing expectations for potential tightening later this year. ECB officials warn that the climate emergency poses a growing threat to "core financial stability."
- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is widely expected to keep the benchmark repo rate unchanged in its August monetary policy review (meeting August 3-5, decision August 5) due to elevated inflation risks and global uncertainties, particularly geopolitical tensions and crude oil prices. However, Natixis forecasts 50 basis points of tightening later in 2026 to combat persistent Rupee weakness and rising inflation. India's consumer inflation is expected to hover above 5% for the next two quarters.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street futures showed a moderate rebound late last week following a de-escalation of Middle East tensions, which cooled the overheated oil market. However, investors are digesting a hawkish statement from the US Federal Reserve.
- Mega-cap tech companies, including Amazon and Microsoft, reported strong earnings, reviving optimism about AI investments, although Meta's narrowed guidance triggered concerns over short-term profitability. Chipmakers like SK Hynix and Samsung saw significant jumps, indicating a positive sentiment in the semiconductor sector.
- Pre-market activity on Friday showed mixed movements for major indices, with the S&P, Dow Jones, and Tech futures slightly down, while oil and gold showed some fluctuations. Amazon.com, Inc. (AMZN) saw a significant pre-market rise (nearly 12%) after exceeding earnings and revenue estimates, particularly driven by its cloud and AI businesses. Microsoft (MSFT) had a strong day previously but was flat in Friday pre-market. Apple (AAPL) retreated despite topping estimates, due to disappointing services revenue and weaker revenue from Greater China.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- The Indian stock market witnessed a robust recovery last week, with Nifty climbing 2.59% to 24,383.60 and Sensex rising 2.68% to 78,094.64, both registering their second straight monthly gain in July. This recovery was driven by softer crude oil prices, easing geopolitical tensions, upbeat Q1 FY27 earnings, and a return of foreign institutional investor (FII) inflows.
- Technical analysis suggests Nifty has reclaimed its 200-day EMA, with the RSI strengthening to 59, indicating improving momentum. Immediate resistance for Nifty is seen at 24,550–24,600, with support at 24,000–24,100. For Sensex, 78,300–78,500 is immediate resistance, with support at 77,700–77,500.
- Indian exchanges (NSE, BSE) will be closed for 10 days in August, all falling on weekends.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- Crude Oil: OPEC+ countries, including Saudi Arabia and Russia, met virtually on August 2, 2026, and decided to implement a production adjustment of 188,000 barrels per day (bpd) from the additional voluntary adjustments announced in April 2023, to be implemented in September 2026. This marks the sixth consecutive month for OPEC+ to raise oil output. WTI Crude Oil was trading at $84.67 as of August 1, 2026. Brent crude prices, which had temporarily spiked near $94–96 in July, fell by 8–9% after a pause in US airstrikes against Iran, briefly dropping below $90. Oil prices settled over 1% higher and logged their strongest month since March in July, with Brent up 24% and WTI up 21%.
- Gold: Gold prices are projected to remain broadly anchored around $4,000 in August 2026, with experts anticipating a range between $3,900 and $4,350 per ounce. The Federal Reserve's rate hold and persistent Middle East tensions are expected to create competing forces, keeping gold range-bound. Key technical levels to watch are a break above $4,200 for upside towards $4,600, or a fall below $3,900 towards $3,500. Gold (XAU/USD) closed July around $4,040.
- Crypto: August 2026 is a busy month for crypto, with protocol upgrades, exchange deadlines, and regulatory milestones. The CLARITY Act, aiming for a comprehensive crypto regulation framework, faces a Senate recess deadline in early August. Its passage would be positive for US-based crypto firms. The Ripple v. SEC settlement has provided some clarity on XRP sales under securities law, which could boost institutional confidence. Bitcoin (BTC) held the $63,000 level at the end of July, up ~7% for the month, while Ethereum (ETH) climbed nearly 20%. XRP is trading around $1.07, with AI models broadly predicting a range of $1.05-$1.25 for August. Solana (SOL) and Cardano (ADA) are also in focus due to upgrades and ETF eligibility discussions.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS (For Monday, August 4, 2026)

Note: Given today is Sunday, August 2, 2026, selections below are illustrative based on recent market performance, technical analysis discussed in financial news and analyst outlooks, and potential catalysts for the upcoming trading week. These are not real-time scanner results for an active trading session.

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Screen Nifty leaders using 50-SMA support bounces or 20/50 EMA golden crosses. Indian markets ended last week strongly with Nifty above its 200-day EMA.

Ticker	Indicative Price (INR)	Strategy & Selection Reason
Reliance Industries (RIL)	~2,900 - 3,000	Large-cap Nifty leader demonstrating strong momentum and potential for 20/50 EMA golden cross on daily charts following FII inflows and easing energy costs. RIL was a top gainer last week.
Maruti Suzuki (MARUTI)	~12,000 - 12,200	Automobile sector led the rally last week, supported by improving global outlook. Potential for 50-SMA support bounce if it tests recent breakout levels after consolidation.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL): Screen using 21-day EMA pullbacks or 50-day SMA rejection strategy on mega-cap growth leaders.

Ticker	Indicative Price (USD)	Strategy & Selection Reason
Amazon (AMZN)	~190-200	Strong pre-market gains (nearly 12% on Friday after earnings) and positive sentiment on AI and cloud business. Potential for continued upside or 21-day EMA pullback entry if early week profit-taking occurs.
Tesla (TSLA)	~300-310	Mega-cap growth stock with high volatility. Could present a 21-day EMA pullback opportunity if it corrects from recent strength, or a 50-day SMA rejection for a short if overhead resistance holds.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY): Screen using Stage-2 VCP or High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) breakouts.

Ticker	Indicative Price (USD)	Strategy & Selection Reason
ONFO (Onfolio Holdings Inc.)	~$5 - 7	Recently noted as a top pre-market gainer, indicating potential for high relative volume and breakout continuation. Monitor for Stage-2 base breakouts.
REPL (Replimune Group Inc.)	~$20 - 25	Featured as a pre-market gainer. Look for strong volume confirming a breakout from a VCP pattern, indicating accumulation.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Screen using 4H 21-EMA trend following and high-volume volatility breakouts.

Ticker	Indicative Price (USD)	Strategy & Selection Reason
Ethereum (ETH/USD)	~$1,850 - 1,950	Outperformed Bitcoin in July, climbing nearly 20%. Monitor for 4H 21-EMA trend continuation or high-volume volatility breakouts as it potentially approaches its Glamsterdam upgrade.
XRP (XRP/USD)	~$1.05 - 1.15	Consolidation expected around $1.05-$1.25, with AI models predicting a $1.10 close for August. Potential for high-volume breakout if CLARITY Act progresses or institutional flows increase.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Gold (XAU/USD) and WTI Crude Oil using Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels.

Ticker	Indicative Price	Strategy & Selection Reason
Gold (XAU/USD)	~$4,000 - 4,100	Range-bound in July around $4,040. Key resistance at $4,200 (potential for Fibonacci extensions to $4,600). Support at $3,900 (potential for declines to $3,500). Volatility expected with interest rate sensitivity.
WTI Crude Oil	~$85 - 90	Traded at $84.67 as of Aug 1. Recent fall below $90 after Middle East de-escalation. Technical analysis shows resistance at 79.83–80.83, with Fibonacci targets towards $87.70, $93.89. Support zone at 73.58–76.11. OPEC+ output adjustment for September could influence prices.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term (EUR/USD, GBP/USD) & Macro Carry Swings (USD/JPY, AUD/USD).

Ticker	Indicative Price	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD (Short-Term)	~1.08 - 1.10	Built higher lows in July, largely dollar-led strength rather than euro-led. ECB's neutral but potentially hawkish stance could create asymmetric surprise risk. Monitor US labor-market data and Euro-area flash inflation.
USD/INR (Macro Carry Swing)	~95.30 - 95.50	Rupee around 6% weaker since start of 2026, ending July near 95.40. RBI expected to hold rates in August but potential for tightening later in 2026. Persistent rupee weakness and inflation risks. Short-term swings likely around RBI decision.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Nifty 50 / BankNifty 15-Minute Opening Range Breakouts (Call for Long, Put for Short).

Ticker	Key Levels	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 Index Options	Resistance: 24,550-24,600. Support: 24,000-24,100.	Strong weekly gains and improving technicals. Use 15-minute opening range breakout strategy. If Nifty breaks above the opening range high, initiate a Call option. If it breaks below the opening range low, initiate a Put option. Focus on momentum after the initial 15 minutes of Monday's session.
BankNifty Index Options	No specific levels found in searches. Will use Nifty's broad market sentiment.	Will mirror Nifty's sentiment. Apply 15-minute opening range breakout strategy. If BankNifty breaks above the opening range high, initiate a Call option. If it breaks below the opening range low, initiate a Put option. Crucial to watch banking sector performance on Monday.
