CURRENT SESSION HIGHLIGHT: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

SESSION NEWS FOCUS: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST (July 31, 2026)

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- US Federal Reserve commentary suggests a less hawkish stance than previously feared, easing pressure for immediate rate hikes. However, hawkish remarks from Fed officials combined with resilient labor market data indicate continued emphasis on inflation control. The Fed kept rates unchanged but signaled a hawkish stance, while slower US inflation limits the dollar's upside potential, but the Fed's rate remains comparatively higher.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) maintained its deposit rate at 2.25%, with future decisions contingent on inflation and the resilience of domestic demand. Hawkish ECB signals were largely overshadowed by market expectations of sustained high interest rates from the US Federal Reserve. The Eurozone economy unexpectedly expanded by 0.4% in the second quarter.
- The Bank of England kept its interest rate unchanged at 3.75%, although the voting split within the committee revealed growing concerns about inflation risks.
- The Japanese Yen (JPY) is under considerable pressure due to the Bank of Japan's (BoJ) decision to keep its policy unchanged, and the significant interest rate differential continues to fuel carry trades. USD/JPY experienced a notable drop, breaking below its 100-day Exponential Moving Average (EMA100) and testing the 50.0% Fibonacci level around 159.80.
- The Indian Rupee opened at a 3-week high of 95.39 against the US dollar.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street futures are climbing in premarket trading, indicating a broad market rebound. Nasdaq futures (NAS FUT) jumped 1.11% to 28,552.00, S&P 500 futures (S&P FUT) added 0.47% to 7,507.75, and Dow Jones futures (DOW FUT) advanced 0.53% to 52,660.00.
- Technology stocks are leading the rebound, fueled by stronger-than-expected earnings reports. Amazon (AMZN) stock surged nearly 13% in premarket trading after beating earnings estimates, driven by accelerated revenue growth in Amazon Web Services (AWS) for the fifth consecutive quarter and strong AI demand.
- Microsoft (MSFT) jumped over 15% after reporting its cloud-computing unit's revenue grew at the fastest pace in four years, signaling successful AI monetization.
- Apple (AAPL) stock tumbled 7.2% in premarket trading as its Services and China revenue segments fell short of investor expectations, despite beating most other major metrics.
- The semiconductor industry continues to show strong momentum and investment. Micron, Samsung, and Linde are making significant progress and investments in new fabrication facilities and supply chains across the U.S.. Demand for AI-powering components remains robust, with Lam Research (LRCX) popping nearly 18% after upbeat FQ4 results.
- Meta Platforms (META) slumped more than 7% after providing a disappointing Q3 revenue forecast.
- The US auto safety regulator has opened a preliminary investigation into 1.2 million Tesla (TSLA) vehicles over suspension failures.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity benchmarks, Sensex and Nifty, concluded higher for the third consecutive session, with the Nifty closing above the 24,350 mark. Both indices opened on a firm note.
- Foreign Institutional Investor (FII) inflows have significantly boosted investor sentiment, with FIIs buying equities worth ₹2,981.87 crore on Wednesday and ₹3,623.51 crore on July 30th.
- Key individual stock movers included Bajaj Finance, which rallied 8.31%, and Bajaj Finserv, which jumped 6.33%. Mahindra and Mahindra (M&M) also saw gains of 3.30%. The Nifty Midcap 100 advanced by 0.44%.
- Some IT sector stocks, such as TCS (-2.68%) and Infosys (-2.18%), experienced weakness, capping overall market gains.
- From a technical perspective, the Nifty 50's near-term outlook has turned bullish. Immediate resistance for Nifty 50 is identified between 24,300-24,400, with support at the 24,200 level.
- Bank Nifty staged a strong recovery session, opening with a gap-up near 57,127.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil (USOIL-F) is trading down 2.22% at $82.03, representing a 9.28% decline over the past 7 days. Brent crude settled at $89.03 a barrel, while WTI closed at $83.59.
- The downward pressure on WTI is primarily driven by weakening demand signals stemming from soft Chinese manufacturing data.
- OPEC+ is reportedly planning to gradually restore production volumes, which could lead to a supply surplus by year-end. The alliance had previously signaled an intention to pause planned production increases for approximately three months starting in October.
- A strengthening US dollar and an easing of geopolitical risks are contributing to the pressure on crude futures prices. Oil prices have fallen despite the ongoing US-Iran conflict, as improved flows through crucial maritime chokepoints have alleviated some supply concerns. Military actions targeting energy infrastructure in the Middle East had previously caused oil prices to surge, but this was followed by a decline.
- Gold (XAU/USD) has regained positive momentum, attempting to breach the stubborn resistance level at $4,100. The price continues to trade above its EMA50, which is acting as dynamic support, strengthening the chances of a continuing bullish corrective trend.
- The World Gold Council forecasts that investment demand will continue to be the primary driver for gold prices in the second half of 2026, with central banks expected to maintain large-scale purchases. Global gold demand in Q2 2026 remained largely unchanged year-on-year.
- The gold-silver ratio is currently around 70.5:1.

- While specific July 31st, 2026 crypto news wasn't found, the broader market environment suggests continued volatility influenced by macro factors and risk appetite. Bitcoin (BTC) and Ethereum (ETH) typically lead market movements.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

(Note: Ticker selections and levels are illustrative based on today's simulated market conditions and news, reflecting typical chart patterns and market reactions.)

1. INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target Price	Stop Loss
Reliance Industries (RELIANCE.NS)	50-SMA Support Bounce: Nifty leader showing strong fundamental support and a rebound from its 50-day Simple Moving Average, aligning with overall positive FII sentiment for Indian equities.	~1265.00	~1300.00	~1240.00
Bajaj Finance (BAJFINANCE.NS)	Momentum/EMA Golden Cross: Exhibited significant positive momentum, rallying over 8% today. Looking for sustained strength following a potential 20/50 EMA golden cross as a confirmation of uptrend.	~1150.00	~1185.00	~1125.00

2. US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target Price	Stop Loss
Amazon (AMZN) - LONG	21-day EMA Pullback / Earnings Momentum: Surged nearly 13% pre-market on strong earnings. A pullback towards the 21-day EMA could offer a low-risk entry for trend continuation in a strong market.	~$195.00	~$205.00	~$190.00
Apple (AAPL) - SHORT	50-day SMA Rejection / Earnings Disappointment: Tumbled 7.2% pre-market due to disappointing China revenue and services. A bounce and rejection of the 50-day SMA would confirm bearish sentiment for a short play.	~$215.00	~$205.00	~$220.00

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target Price	Stop Loss
"Mid-Cap AI Innovator" (Illustrative)	Stage-2 VCP Breakout: Identify a mid-cap company in the AI sector exhibiting a clear Volatility Contraction Pattern (VCP) breaking out of its consolidation on strong volume, signaling the start of a new uptrend (Stage-2).	~$78.00	~$85.00	~$74.50
"Small-Cap Semiconductor Solutions" (Illustrative)	High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) Breakout: A small-cap semiconductor company showing a significant price breakout with relative volume exceeding 2.0, indicating strong institutional interest and potential for further upside.	~$22.50	~$25.00	~$21.00

3. CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target Price	Stop Loss
BTC/USD Perpetual Futures - LONG	4H 21-EMA Trend Following: Bitcoin maintaining a clear uptrend, with price consistently holding above the 4-hour 21-EMA, indicating strong bullish momentum. Look for bounces off the EMA.	~$72,500	~$74,000	~$71,800
ETH/USD Perpetual Futures - SHORT	High-Volume Volatility Breakout (Breakdown): Ethereum breaking down from a key support level on significantly high volume, suggesting a loss of bullish control and potential for further downside.	~$3,850	~$3,700	~$3,920

4. COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target Price	Stop Loss
Gold (XAU/USD) - LONG	Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels: Gold regaining positive momentum, trading above EMA50 and attempting to breach $4,100 resistance. Look for a bounce off a key Fibonacci support level (e.g., 61.8% retracement from previous swing) for a long entry.	~$4070.00	~$4120.00	~$4050.00
WTI Crude Oil (USOIL-F) - SHORT	Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels: WTI crude is under pressure from weak demand and increased supply forecasts, trading down today. Look for rejection at a key pivot resistance level (e.g., R1 or 38.2% Fibonacci retracement) for a short entry amidst bearish sentiment.	~$83.00	~$80.50	~$84.20

5. FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term (EUR/USD, GBP/USD)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target Price	Stop Loss
EUR/USD Futures - SHORT	Bearish Structure / Resistance Hold: Euro faced downside pressure, trading depressed below resistance. Look for continuation of bearish structure as the pair tests key resistance zones following profit-taking and easing overbought conditions.	~1.1480	~1.1420	~1.1510
GBP/USD Futures - SHORT	Lower Highs/Lows / Macro Divergence: Sterling faced persistent downside pressure against a firm US Dollar. The 4-hour chart is developing lower highs and lower lows, indicating a short-term bearish trend continuation below key resistance.	~1.3340	~1.3280	~1.3370

Macro Carry Swings (USD/JPY, AUD/USD)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target Price	Stop Loss
USD/JPY Futures - LONG	Carry Trade Persistence / BoJ Divergence: Despite recent volatility, the wide interest rate differential between the US and Japan continues to support the JPY carry trade. A pullback offering value within the broader uptrend is ideal.	~159.50	~161.00	~158.80
AUD/USD Futures - LONG	JPY Carry Trade Beneficiary / Dollar Strength Counter: While USD is strong, the AUD benefits from JPY weakness via carry trade mechanics. Look for support hold and a rebound if risk sentiment allows for carry trade unwinding to reverse.	~0.6720	~0.6780	~0.6690

6. INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target Price	Stop Loss
Nifty 50 CALL Option (Long)	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB): Nifty 50 is expected to have a constructive opening and build on its recent recovery. A decisive breakout above the 15-minute opening range on increased volume signals a strong intraday long opportunity for a Call option.	(Above 15-min High)	(ORB Target)	(15-min Low)
BankNifty PUT Option (Short)	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB): BankNifty opened with a gap-up. If the initial strength wanes and the index decisively breaks below its 15-minute opening range, it presents a short opportunity for a Put option, anticipating profit-taking or weakness.	(Below 15-min Low)	(ORB Target)	(15-min High)

10-Year Backtest Metrics (Illustrative)
