DAILY MULTI-ASSET TRADING BLUEPRINT & LEVEL EXECUTION MANUAL

Date: July 29, 2026

Current Session Highlight: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting concludes today, July 29, 2026, with the interest rate decision expected at 2:00 PM ET, followed by Chair Warsh's press conference at 2:30 PM ET. Markets are largely expecting rates to remain unchanged in the 3.50%-3.75% range, but a hawkish tone is anticipated due to persistent inflation risks, particularly from rising oil prices.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) Governing Council kept all three key interest rates unchanged at its July meeting, with the deposit rate at 2.25%. However, the ECB acknowledged that higher energy prices and ongoing geopolitical tensions pose upside risks to inflation, leaving the door open for a potential rate hike as early as September if pressures persist.
- The U.S. Dollar Index (DXY) remains in a strongly bullish mode, despite a slight pullback.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock futures, including the Dow, S&P 500, and Nasdaq, are indicating a lower open, largely driven by escalating Middle East tensions and a significant sell-off in semiconductor stocks.
- Mega-cap US tech companies like Microsoft (MSFT) and Meta (META) are scheduled to report second-quarter earnings today, which will be closely watched by investors.
- Semiconductor stocks are facing considerable headwinds, with the iShares Semiconductor ETF (SOXX) down 1.8%, as investor concerns grow over the massive AI spending spree by Big Tech and the timing of its meaningful returns.
- European markets, including Germany's DAX, Paris's CAC 40, and Britain's FTSE 100, are trading mixed to lower, influenced by global tech sell-offs and regional geopolitical concerns.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty 50, opened on a strong note and rallied throughout the day, closing significantly higher despite mixed global cues and renewed Middle East tensions. The Nifty 50 closed above 24,250, up 1.10%.
- Broader markets also ended positively, with the Nifty Midcap 100 and Nifty Smallcap 100 indices gaining 0.82% and 1.48% respectively.
- The Nifty IT and Nifty Chemical sectors recorded strong gains, up 2.32% and 0.98% respectively, with IT stocks like Infosys, TCS, and HCL Tech rallying up to 5%. This surge in Indian IT is attributed to strong Q1 earnings and optimism around AI-driven demand, contrasting with a global tech sell-off.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) have been net sellers in July, but DIIs (Domestic Institutional Investors) have provided significant support, cushioning the market. Provisional data suggests FIIs turned net buyers on Tuesday, purchasing shares worth ₹755 crore, which improved investor sentiment.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil prices jumped significantly in early trade due to escalating geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, specifically US and Saudi strikes on Iran-backed groups in Iraq and an intercepted Iranian missile attack on US forces. Brent crude rose 3.6% to $87.13 a barrel, and WTI gained 3.5% to $82.06.
- OPEC+ members agreed to another symbolic increase in their oil output quotas for July, but actual production remains challenged by the effective closure of the Strait of Hormuz.
- Gold (XAU/USD) is trading around $4,003-$4,045, oscillating below its major moving averages. It faces near-term pressure from rising real yields and a firmer US Dollar, but analysts see pullbacks towards $3,850-$4,000 as buying opportunities, with a long-term upward trend expected.
- In the crypto market, Bitcoin's price dipped below $63,000, and Ethereum also showed weakness, with bearish signals identified across both. Bitcoin's short-term odds of retaking $70,000 appear low.
- Regulatory developments are active, with California's Digital Financial Assets Law (DFAL) licensing requirements now live, and Portugal's Bison Bank becoming the first MiCA-Regulated Crypto-Asset Service Provider in the EU. The US Senate is also racing to pass the "Clarity Act" to establish crypto regulation.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
INFY (Infosys Ltd.)	Long	Nifty leader demonstrating a strong 20/50 EMA Golden Cross after recent consolidation, buoyed by the broad IT sector rally of over 4% today, signaling renewed investor confidence in Indian tech amidst global semiconductor sell-off.
TRENT (Trent Ltd.)	Long	Identified as a top Sensex gainer today. Screening suggests a potential 50-SMA support bounce, indicating underlying strength and institutional accumulation.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVDA (NVIDIA Corp.)	Short	Pre-market weakness and ongoing sell-off in semiconductor stocks due to AI spending concerns. Awaiting a clear 50-day SMA rejection on any pre-market bounce or early session strength to initiate a short position.
MSFT (Microsoft Corp.)	Long/Short	Approaching Q2 earnings release today. Potential for volatility breakout post-earnings. Will look for 21-day EMA pullback as a potential long entry if earnings beat, or a 50-day SMA rejection for short if earnings disappoint and create strong downside momentum.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
SMCI (Super Micro Computer Inc.)	Long	Despite broader semiconductor weakness, SMCI might exhibit a Stage-2 VCP (Volatility Contraction Pattern) setup with high Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) on a breakout above a pivot, indicating strong institutional demand in a specific niche.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC (Bitcoin) Perpetual Futures	Short	Showing bearish signals, with price dipping below $63,000. A 4H 21-EMA trend following strategy indicates bearish momentum, potentially exacerbated by high-volume volatility breakouts to the downside. Confirmation of a daily close below its "daily Cloud" would strengthen the bearish case.
ETH (Ethereum) Perpetual Futures	Short	Ethereum also exhibiting weakness and a weakening Relative Strength Index (RSI). Utilizing a 4H 21-EMA trend-following strategy, looking for continuation of bearish trend with high volume, especially if it breaks below recent support levels.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
WTI Crude Oil (/CL)	Long	Strong bullish catalyst from escalating Middle East tensions and US/Saudi strikes, pushing prices up significantly today. Targeting a long entry on pullbacks to key Fibonacci retracement levels (e.g., $84.02, 38.2% Fib) after the initial surge, anticipating further upside momentum. Current price action near $82.34.
Gold (XAU/USD)	Short	Gold trading below its major moving averages, facing pressure from a strong USD and potential Fed hawkishness. Looking for rejection around the $4,045 pivot or the 20-day SMA, with a Fibonacci extension target to the downside towards $3,935.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD (Short-Term)	Short	Euro trading cautiously ahead of the Fed decision, holding near 1.14. A hawkish Fed tone, coupled with ongoing Eurozone inflation concerns despite stable ECB policy, could drive the pair lower. Targeting downside on a break below 1.14.
USD/JPY (Macro Carry Swing)	Long	USD/JPY remains very strong and bullish. Maintaining a long carry trade position, anticipating continued divergence in monetary policy between the hawkish Fed outlook and accommodative Bank of Japan, even with a potential bearish RSI reset.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
NIFTY 50 Call Option (Weekly Expiry)	Long	Nifty 50 opened significantly gap-up today (191 points) and surged, breaking above key resistance zones. Executing a 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) strategy. A confirmed breakout above the opening 15-minute high, with sustained volume, warrants a call option purchase for intraday bullish momentum.
