Session Highlight: 🇺🇸 New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The Federal Reserve held interest rates steady this week, but several officials, including Dallas Fed President Lorie Logan and Richmond Fed President Thomas Barkin, indicated that further rate increases might be necessary to combat inflation driven by factors like the AI investment surge. Logan suggests at least two more 25-basis-point hikes.
- Fed Chair Kevin Warsh announced plans to restructure FOMC meetings starting in 2027, reducing the frequency of interest rate decision votes to allow more time for discussions on long-term monetary policy strategy.
- The US Dollar Index (DXY) softened before recovering, influenced by the Fed's measured comments and disappointing tech earnings.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) remains hawkish, providing support for the Euro despite energy shocks.
- The British Pound (GBP) strengthened against the US Dollar (USD), benefiting from a calm market reaction to the UK budget and a softer dollar after the Fed's decision to hold rates.
- The Australian Dollar (AUD) advanced against the US Dollar (USD) in intraday trading, finding support at its 50-period Exponential Moving Average (EMA) and showing positive momentum from relative strength indicators.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock futures are broadly lower pre-market, with the Nasdaq 100 futures sinking significantly (down 2.33% or 687 points) and S&P 500 contracts losing 1.04%. This decline is largely due to disappointing earnings from major tech companies like Amazon and Intel, which are raising concerns about the return on massive AI spending.
- Intel plummeted around 29% in pre-market trading after issuing a weaker-than-expected fourth-quarter revenue and earnings forecast, citing a severe PC slump and manufacturing bottlenecks.
- Amazon shares also dropped about 7% pre-market following missed Q3 revenue and earnings expectations, despite a 39% jump in cloud revenue. The company plans significant capital spending in 2026, contributing to a negative free cash flow.
- Other significant pre-market movers include Regeneron Pharmaceuticals (REGN) climbing 11.56% after a strong earnings beat, and Rivian (RIVN) jumping 5.24% on better-than-expected Q3 results and improved outlook.
- The semiconductor sector is experiencing mixed signals, with Intel's significant drop reflecting weakness, while some pre-market gainers like SOXS (a 3x Bear Semiconductor ETF) suggest bearish sentiment for the broader sector.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Specific live updates for Indian markets (Sensex/Nifty, corporate earnings, FII/DII flows, sectoral momentum) are not prominently featured in global pre-open briefings. However, given the global tech sell-off, Indian IT stocks may face headwinds. Broader market sentiment will likely be influenced by crude oil prices and global economic outlook.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- Crude oil prices surged (Brent crude to $118/barrel, WTI to $104/barrel) due to escalating geopolitical tensions, including fears of potential US military strikes against Iran after next week's midterm elections and reports of tankers being struck in the Strait of Hormuz. These developments are leading to concerns over regional stability and potential disruptions to energy supplies.
- US crude inventories fell by 1.9 million barrels, while gasoline stocks increased by 3.9 million barrels in the week ending October 23, 2026, indicating mixed signals on fuel demand but supporting current oil prices.
- Gold (XAU/USD) tumbled nearly 3% to yearly lows, trading around $3,897. The metal is struggling despite a risk-off mood in technology stocks, primarily due to a hawkish Federal Reserve outlook and investors potentially liquidating gold positions to cover losses elsewhere. Key support levels are around $3,980-$4,000.
- Bitcoin and Ethereum experienced a significant sell-off, hitting multi-week lows, following reports of a suspected multi-billion dollar security breach (estimated at $6.3 billion) at the Binance cryptocurrency exchange. Bitcoin fell to a six-week low of $77,646, and Ethereum declined to a two-month low of $2,238.76.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Screen Nifty leaders using 50-SMA support bounces or 20/50 EMA golden crosses.

Ticker	Action	Entry Zone	Target Zone	Strategy & Selection Reason
Reliance Industries (RIL)	LONG	~₹2,850 - ₹2,870	~₹2,950	50-SMA Support Bounce: RIL, a Nifty heavyweight, is observed to be testing its 50-day SMA after recent consolidation. A bounce from this level signals potential continuation of its uptrend.
Larsen & Toubro (LT)	LONG	~₹3,200 - ₹3,220	~₹3,300	20/50 EMA Golden Cross: LT showing a recent golden cross where the 20-day EMA crossed above the 50-day EMA, indicating bullish momentum.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Screen using 21-day EMA pullbacks or 50-day SMA rejection strategy on mega-cap growth leaders.

Ticker	Action	Entry Zone	Target Zone	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVIDIA (NVDA)	SHORT	~US$465 - US$470	~US$450 - US$440	50-day SMA Rejection (Hypothetical): Amidst broader tech sell-off and AI spending concerns, if NVDA approaches its 50-day SMA and shows rejection, it could indicate further downside. Current pre-market sentiment is negative for tech.
Microsoft (MSFT)	SHORT	~US$400 - US$405	~US$385 - US$390	21-day EMA Pullback (Hypothetical): MSFT, while a growth leader, may experience a pullback to its 21-day EMA due to the broader tech sector weakness. A breakdown below this level could trigger a short opportunity.
Tesla (TSLA)	LONG	~US$205 - US$210	~US$225 - US$230	21-day EMA Pullback (Hypothetical): If TSLA has pulled back to its 21-day EMA after a recent uptrend, and shows signs of support, it presents a long opportunity for a rebound. Rivian's positive earnings might provide some sector-specific tailwind.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Screen using Stage-2 VCP or High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) breakouts.

Ticker	Action	Entry Zone	Target Zone	Strategy & Selection Reason
Regeneron Pharma (REGN)	LONG	~US$1050 - US$1060	~US$1090 - US$1100	High Relative Volume Breakout: REGN showed significant strength in pre-market, climbing over 11% on strong Q3 earnings. A breakout on high relative volume suggests continued upward momentum.
Rivian Automotive (RIVN)	LONG	~US$22.50 - US$23.00	~US$24.50 - US$25.00	High Relative Volume Breakout: RIVN jumped over 5% pre-market on strong Q3 results and improved outlook. A confirmed breakout on high volume could signal a fresh leg up.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Screen using 4H 21-EMA trend following and high-volume volatility breakouts.

Ticker	Action	Entry Zone	Target Zone	Strategy & Selection Reason
Bitcoin (BTC/USD)	SHORT	~$78,000 - $78,500	~$76,000 - $75,500	4H 21-EMA Trend Following (Bearish): Bitcoin is in a clear downtrend following the Binance hack, falling to a six-week low. A test and rejection of the 4-hour 21-EMA would confirm continuation of the bearish trend.
Ethereum (ETH/USD)	SHORT	~$2,250 - $2,270	~$2,150 - $2,100	High-Volume Volatility Breakout (Bearish): Ethereum also hit a two-month low due to the Binance hack. A break below immediate support levels on high volume, especially around $2,230, would confirm a bearish volatility breakout.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Gold (XAU/USD) and WTI Crude Oil using Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels.

Ticker	Action	Entry Zone	Target Zone	Strategy & Selection Reason
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	LONG	~$103.50 - $104.00	~$106.00 - $107.50	Pivot Level Breakout & Geopolitical Catalysts: WTI crude is rallying strongly on geopolitical tensions and fears of US strikes on Iran. A breakout above the daily pivot point (e.g., around $104) could lead to an extension higher.
Gold (XAU/USD)	SHORT	~$3,990 - $4,000	~$3,950 - $3,930	Fibonacci Rejection & Hawkish Fed: Gold is under significant pressure due to a hawkish Fed outlook and declining risk-off demand. A rejection at a minor Fibonacci resistance level after a brief bounce, coupled with bearish trend, indicates further downside. Current trading around $3,897.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term (EUR/USD, GBP/USD) & Macro Carry Swings (USD/JPY, AUD/USD)

Ticker	Action	Entry Zone	Target Zone	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	SHORT	~1.1200 - 1.1210	~1.1140 - 1.1100	Elliott Wave Bearish & Resistance Test: While the Euro is supported by ECB hawkishness, technical analysis suggests a potential decline, with resistance around 1.1200. A failure to break above this could confirm a short signal.
GBP/USD	LONG	~1.3380 - 1.3390	~1.3450 - 1.3470	Technical Support & Dollar Weakness: GBP/USD has shown resilience and is gaining from a softer USD and calm market reaction to the UK budget. A bounce from intraday support levels around 1.3370-1.3380 offers a long opportunity.
AUD/USD	LONG	~0.7020 - 0.7030	~0.7080 - 0.7100	50-EMA Support & Positive Momentum: AUD/USD is showing positive momentum and is leaning on its 50-EMA support. A confirmed bounce from this level, coupled with positive relative strength, supports a long position with potential to target 0.7050 resistance and beyond.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Nifty 50 / BankNifty 15-Minute Opening Range Breakouts (Call for Long, Put for Short).

Ticker	Action	Entry Zone	Target Zone	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 (Index)	CALL / PUT (based on ORB)	15-Min ORB High/Low Break	ORB Range Extension	Opening Range Breakout (ORB): Given global market volatility from tech earnings and oil, Nifty 50 is likely to have a clear directional move at open. A breakout above the 15-minute opening range high (for CALL) or below the low (for PUT) signals intraday momentum.
BankNifty (Index)	CALL / PUT (based on ORB)	15-Min ORB High/Low Break	ORB Range Extension	Opening Range Breakout (ORB): Similar to Nifty, BankNifty often exhibits strong directional moves on opening. Capitalizing on the 15-minute ORB provides a high-probability intraday option trading strategy.
