Session Highlight: 🇺🇸 New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

📰 SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- Global central banks are bracing for potentially higher interest rates into 2027, driven by resilient economic growth, elevated energy prices, and geopolitical conflicts keeping inflation risks alive. Markets are now pricing in almost a quarter-point of additional rate hikes across advanced economies.
- The Federal Reserve and European Central Bank (ECB) are anticipated to implement further rate hikes as inflation persists above target levels.
- The inflation battle has entered a more challenging phase, with central banks worldwide focusing on returning inflation to target levels, requiring careful consideration of policy restraint.
- The US Dollar has seen mixed signals in speculative positioning, with some trimming of net-short exposure but large speculators swinging back to net-short US Dollar Index futures.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock futures and European stocks have declined today amid unresolved broader risks.
- Mega-cap tech stocks like NVIDIA (NVDA), Microsoft (MSFT), and Tesla (TSLA) are in focus ahead of their Q3 earnings reports this week (Tesla and Meta on Wednesday, Oct. 21).
- NVIDIA (NVDA) is trading slightly lower in pre-market, giving back some of Monday's rebound, with concerns about AI financing and Treasury yields near 5.1% weighing on the sector.
- Pre-market activity shows some stocks with significant moves, such as BRZE (+51.6%), WORX (+48.9%), and SAIQ (+37.0%) as top gainers, while SMU (-12.7%), KORU (-8.6%), and AMRO (-8.2%) are among the biggest decliners.
- French fiscal risks and violent protests in France are adding to concerns about the country's economic outlook, impacting the Euro.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian markets saw FIIs (Foreign Institutional Investors) as net buyers in the cash market (+1,165.92 Rs. Crores) and index futures (+1,024.71 Rs. Crores) on Friday, October 16, 2026. However, DIIs (Domestic Institutional Investors) were net sellers in the cash market (-3,661.28 Rs. Crores).
- The NIFTY 50 closed at 23,146.15, up 0.7%, while the SENSEX closed at 74,729.27, up 0.55%, on October 16, 2026.
- Seasonal demand is showing early strength in the Indian gold market, leading to a flip to premium as demand improves and supplies tighten.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil is experiencing increased volatility, with prices trading around $99.15 in early European hours today, primarily due to escalating energy supply risks from continuous attacks in the Strait of Hormuz and Iran's warnings of a wider blockade.
- Crude oil prices initially surged over 5% to a 5-month high today but then erased early gains on unconfirmed reports of new peace proposals for the Iran war.
- Gold prices edged lower to $4,120 an ounce today, as rising oil prices fueled inflation concerns and prompted reassessment of the US interest rate outlook.
- The gold market in India has moved to a premium due to improved seasonal demand and tighter supplies.
- Switzerland has reportedly approved its first Bitcoin ETF, a significant step for institutional crypto adoption.
- Hyperliquid Policy Center has urged the SEC to adopt clearer crypto rules, suggesting five key changes to their draft Regulation Crypto Assets.
- Stablecoin issuers have reportedly replaced 40% of China's lost US Treasury demand.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Sector	Strategy & Selection Reason
Reliance Industries (RIL)	Oil & Gas, Conglomerate	Nifty leader showing potential for a 50-SMA support bounce. Given the general market uplift for Nifty and FII inflows in index futures, RIL could see renewed buying interest at key moving average support levels.
HDFC Bank	Financial Services	Large-cap demonstrating robust fundamentals; screening for a 20/50 EMA golden cross setup on daily charts, indicating potential for continued upward momentum following FII activity.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVIDIA (NVDA)	Short (Initial bias)	Pre-market is showing NVDA down ~0.85% today, building on concerns about AI financing. Will monitor for 50-day SMA rejection or failure to reclaim key EMA levels if broader tech sector weakness persists post-open.
Tesla (TSLA)	Long (Watch for reversal)	TSLA is up +0.69% pre-market today. With Q3 earnings due this week, looking for a 21-day EMA pullback that holds support, indicating accumulation ahead of the earnings report, potentially a bullish play if pre-earnings sentiment is strong.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Sector	Strategy & Selection Reason
Amazon.com (AMZN)	E-commerce, Tech	AMZN is up +0.58% pre-market today. While large-cap, its growth profile often aligns with mid/small-cap breakouts. Searching for a Stage-2 VCP (Volatility Contraction Pattern) setup on daily/weekly charts, indicating institutional accumulation before a significant breakout on high relative volume (RVOL > 2.0).

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
Bitcoin (BTC/USD)	Long	Switzerland approving its first Bitcoin ETF is a strong catalyst for institutional adoption. Looking for a 4H 21-EMA trend following entry on a volatility breakout if the ETF news drives significant volume and upward price action.
Ethereum (ETH/USD)	Long	Often follows BTC's momentum. Screening for a 4H 21-EMA trend continuation alongside BTC, particularly if increased regulatory clarity and adoption narratives continue to gain traction.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	Long	Geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and Iran's warnings are driving supply risks, pushing WTI towards $100.50 and above the 20-day EMA. Today's pivot point is around $99.88, with R1 at $100.69. A breakout above R1 targeting Fibonacci extension levels is plausible given escalating tensions.
Gold (XAU/USD)	Short (Initial bias)	Gold prices are dipping ($4,120) as rising oil prices fuel rate hike expectations. Today's pivot point for Gold is around $4138.01, with S1 at $4130.62 and S2 at $4123.70. A break below S1, potentially targeting lower Fibonacci retracement levels as safe-haven demand temporarily wanes with rate hike fears.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Short	The EUR/USD maintains a bearish near-term bias, holding below the 100-day SMA, with French fiscal risks and protests adding downward pressure. Resistance is around 1.1260. Targeting downside towards the lower Bollinger band at 1.1110.
GBP/USD	Long (Watch for pullback)	Given broader USD retreat today, looking for GBP/USD to find support. Monitoring for a clear bullish reversal signal on intraday charts, potentially leveraging strong economic data from the UK if any releases align.

Macro Carry Swings

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
USD/JPY	Long	With global central banks bracing for higher rates and resilient US economic growth, the interest rate differential should continue to favor the USD, supporting a carry trade strategy.
AUD/USD	Long	Commodity-linked currencies like AUD could benefit from rising WTI prices and generally firm commodity markets, alongside any signs of robust economic activity in Australia supporting a long-term swing.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 Options	Bi-directional	Employing the 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) strategy. Buy Call if Nifty 50 breaks above the 9:15-9:30 AM high; Buy Put if it breaks below the low. This strategy capitalizes on initial market momentum absorbing overnight news.
BankNifty Options	Bi-directional	Similar to Nifty 50, applying the 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout strategy. BankNifty is highly volatile, offering significant intraday moves, making it suitable for ORB.
