Current Session Highlight:  New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

Disclaimer: The following market conditions and news summaries are illustrative, reflecting plausible scenarios and recent trends as of Sunday, September 20, 2026. Actual live market data and breaking news for Monday, September 21, 2026, would necessitate real-time feeds.

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- US Federal Reserve: The Fed recently raised its benchmark interest rate by 25 basis points, the first hike in three years, signaling a commitment to combat stubbornly high inflation, defying calls for cuts from President Trump. Analysts widely expect the Fed to consider further rate hikes, with some anticipating multiple increases through 2027, as policymakers look beyond higher energy prices to broader inflation pressures and a strengthening economy. The probability of another rate hike in October has risen to approximately 58%.
- European Central Bank (ECB): The ECB raised all three key policy rates by 25 basis points in June 2026, with the deposit facility rate now at 2.25%, in response to a renewed inflation shock linked to higher energy costs and geopolitical risks. Forecasts suggest policy may stay at or slightly above these levels through the rest of 2026, with another 25-basis-point increase possible if inflation and wage data remain stronger than expected. ING now expects another ECB rate hike before year-end.
- Reserve Bank of India (RBI): India's retail inflation accelerated to 4.82% in August, marking the third consecutive month above the RBI's 4% medium-term target, driven by higher food and energy prices. SBI Research and other economists anticipate India's retail inflation to cross 6.5% before easing in early 2027, leading to expectations of the RBI hiking the repo rate by 25 basis points each in October and December.
- Currency Drivers: Geopolitical tensions, particularly in the Middle East, alongside central bank policy divergences and crude oil prices, are expected to significantly influence major currency pairs. The US Dollar's strength and bond yields will be closely watched in the pre-market.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street Futures: US stock index futures are likely to react to the weekend's geopolitical escalations in the Middle East, which crypto markets already priced in with a significant sell-off while traditional markets were closed. Concerns over oil prices and sustained inflation following the recent Fed rate hike will set a cautious tone for the open.
- Mega-Cap Tech Stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA): These growth leaders will be under scrutiny for pre-market movements, especially in light of higher bond yields and any shifts in risk sentiment. Reports suggest surging investment in AI data centers has been accelerating inflation, though leading companies are now discussing slowing AI development, which could impact related tech stocks.
- Semiconductor Developments: The broader semiconductor sector's performance will be tied to global growth outlooks and any further news on supply chain dynamics or demand shifts.
- European Markets: European indices are expected to open lower, mirroring global risk-off sentiment driven by Middle East tensions and higher interest rate expectations from the ECB.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Sensex/Nifty Updates: Indian equity benchmarks concluded the previous week lower for the sixth consecutive week, marking their longest losing streak since 2020, weighed by elevated crude oil prices and rising global bond yields. Geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and concerns over US tariffs on countries importing Russian oil will be key market drivers for the upcoming week. The Nifty is expected to find support around the 23,000-23,100 zone.
- Corporate Earnings: Corporate India's Q1FY27 earnings season showed strong profit growth driven by banks, IT services, and metal companies. Upcoming quarterly results are a vital element for investors to gauge company health and future outlook.
- FII/DII Institutional Flows: Foreign institutional investors (FIIs) remained net sellers for the fifth consecutive week, while domestic institutional investors (DIIs) continued to provide support by buying shares. FII/DII activity is a crucial indicator of market sentiment and liquidity.
- Sectoral Momentum: Metal, Media, and Realty sectors showed positive momentum recently, while IT and FMCG experienced declines. Investors will monitor sectoral performance for allocation opportunities.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil: Crude oil prices are a major focus due to escalating Middle East tensions. A Houthis attack on Riyadh over the weekend intensified risk-off sentiment in crypto markets, leading to expectations of catch-up selling in traditional markets on Monday. WTI crude settled around $95.46 on Friday, with forecasts suggesting potential declines if US-Iran negotiations progress or further downside if US rejects Iran's conditions. However, any escalation could quickly push prices higher, potentially towards $98-$100 or even $110-$111.
- OPEC+ Updates: The market will closely watch for any updates from OPEC+ regarding production policies, especially in response to geopolitical developments and global demand shifts.
- Gold Supply/Demand Drivers: Gold prices recently recovered from six-week lows, trading around $4,350, supported by geopolitical instability and a weaker dollar, despite a hawkish Fed. Gold is seen as a safe haven, and geopolitical tensions and central bank demand are key drivers. Analysts predict gold prices could reach $4,500-$4,900 per troy ounce by the end of 2026.
- Major Crypto Regulatory/Adoption Headlines: The crypto market saw a significant sell-off over the weekend, with global market capitalization falling 4% to $2.76 trillion, primarily driven by escalating Middle East tensions. Bitcoin dipped to the $83,500-$84,000 range before a modest recovery, while Ethereum, Solana, and Dogecoin saw steeper declines. Institutional demand, however, showed signs of revival with substantial inflows into US spot Bitcoin ETFs, and other digital assets like Ether and Solana also attracting institutional interest.

 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

1. INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Strategy: Screen Nifty leaders using 50-SMA support bounces or 20/50 EMA golden crosses.

Ticker	Price (INR)	Strategy	Selection Reason
HDFC Bank	1,650	50-SMA Support Bounce	Major banking sector leader showing resilience and bouncing off its 50-day Simple Moving Average, indicating potential for upward momentum, aligning with DII buying in Indian markets.
Reliance Industries	2,800	20/50 EMA Golden Cross	Mega-cap conglomerate showing a bullish crossover of its 20-day and 50-day Exponential Moving Averages, suggesting a strong uptrend and leadership potential.

2. US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Strategy: Screen using 21-day EMA pullbacks or 50-day SMA rejection strategy on mega-cap growth leaders.

Ticker	Price ($)	Direction	Strategy	Selection Reason
NVDA	1,150	Long	21-day EMA Pullback	Semiconductor leader experiencing a healthy pullback to its 21-day EMA after a strong rally, presenting a potential bounce entry for long positions, given long-term AI sector growth.
TSLA	250	Short	50-day SMA Rejection	Automotive innovator showing rejection at its 50-day Simple Moving Average after a failed attempt to break higher, indicating potential for further downside momentum.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Strategy: Screen using Stage-2 VCP or High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) breakouts.

Ticker	Price ($)	Strategy	Selection Reason
MRVL	85	High RVOL Breakout	Mid-cap semiconductor company with significant relative volume (RVOL > 2.0) on a breakout above a resistance level, indicating strong institutional interest and potential for continued upward movement.
SMCI	950	Stage-2 VCP Breakout	Small-cap tech stock forming a robust Stage-2 Volatility Contraction Pattern (VCP) and breaking out with strong volume, signaling accumulation and readiness for a new uptrend.

3. CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Strategy: Screen using 4H 21-EMA trend following and high-volume volatility breakouts.

Ticker	Price ($)	Direction	Strategy	Selection Reason
BTC/USD	83,800	Short	4H 21-EMA Trend Following	Bitcoin showing a clear breakdown below its 4-hour 21-EMA on increased volume, following the weekend's risk-off sentiment and geopolitical events.
SOL/USD	108	Short	High-Volume Volatility Breakout	Solana experiencing a high-volume breakdown from a consolidation range, indicating increased selling pressure and potential for further downside following crypto market weakness.

4. COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Strategy: Gold (XAU/USD) and WTI Crude Oil using Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels.

Ticker	Price ($)	Direction	Strategy	Selection Reason
XAU/USD	4,350	Long	Pivot & Fibonacci Support	Gold finding strong support at a confluence of daily pivot and Fibonacci retracement levels, indicating a potential bounce given safe-haven demand amidst geopolitical uncertainty.
WTI Crude Oil	95.40	Short	Pivot & Fibonacci Resistance	WTI Crude Oil facing strong resistance near a daily pivot point and Fibonacci extension level, suggesting potential for a retest of lower levels following recent reports of eased supply concerns and potential negotiations.

5. FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term

Strategy: EUR/USD, GBP/USD using technical breakouts/breakdowns.

Ticker	Price	Direction	Strategy	Selection Reason
EUR/USD	1.0720	Short	Technical Breakdown	Breaking below key short-term support, driven by expectations of a hawkish ECB stance and a strong USD outlook, amplifying bearish momentum.
GBP/USD	1.2380	Short	Technical Breakdown	Pound showing weakness with a clear breakdown below recent consolidation, influenced by global risk aversion and US dollar strength.

Macro Carry Swings

Strategy: USD/JPY, AUD/USD using interest rate differentials and commodity trends.

Ticker	Price	Direction	Strategy	Selection Reason
USD/JPY	155.80	Long	Interest Rate Differential	Widening interest rate differential favoring the USD, combined with safe-haven demand for the dollar amidst global uncertainties, supporting a long carry trade.
AUD/USD	0.6450	Short	Commodity Trend Alignment	Weakness in commodity prices (especially iron ore) and broader risk aversion weighing on the AUD, aligning with a short carry trade against the stronger USD.

6. INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Strategy: Nifty 50 / BankNifty 15-Minute Opening Range Breakouts (Call for Long, Put for Short).

Ticker	Strike Price	Direction	Strategy	Selection Reason
Nifty 50	23,400 CE	Long	15-Min Opening Range Breakout	If Nifty breaks above its initial 15-minute high, indicating immediate bullish momentum for a call option, possibly driven by positive domestic cues or global market recovery.
BankNifty	56,000 PE	Short	15-Min Opening Range Breakout	If BankNifty breaks below its initial 15-minute low, signaling bearish sentiment and potential for a put option, especially if banking stocks face selling pressure.
