SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The European Central Bank (ECB) is widely expected to raise its policy rate to 2.50% from 2.25% today, with financial markets pricing in additional hikes through next year. This hawkish stance is driven by persistently elevated inflation and renewed energy price surges. Eurozone GDP increased by 0.6% and employment by 0.1% in Q2 2026, indicating economic resilience.
- The US Federal Reserve has maintained its rates, but future decisions will heavily depend on upcoming CPI data and the strong August labor market report. US holiday retail sales are projected to accelerate by 4-4.8% this year.
- The global economy is demonstrating resilience to the energy shock, with a forecast growth of 2.5% for 2026, despite ongoing geopolitical risks and inflationary pressures.
- The Bank for International Settlements (BIS) head, Pablo Hernandez de Cos, highlighted that the rapid growth of Artificial Intelligence (AI) is introducing new financial stability risks. He noted that significant AI infrastructure spending is being increasingly financed through debt and private credit, warranting close scrutiny.

2. US & European Markets

- US equity markets saw declines on Wednesday, primarily due to surging crude oil prices and elevated Treasury yields, fueling inflation concerns. However, both US and European stock-index futures are showing slight gains in today's pre-market trading, suggesting a cautiously improved global risk sentiment.
- The US options market is exhibiting a blend of fragility and fearlessness ahead of the upcoming midterm elections, indicating potential for increased market volatility.
- Big tech companies are heavily investing in AI, contributing to upward pressure on bond yields. Conversely, AI is also driving substantial price cuts, up to 40%, in long-term IT service deals, posing challenges for major IT firms like TCS and Infosys.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Dalal Street is anticipated to have a muted to flat opening, with the Nifty 50 struggling below 23,450. A sustained hold above 23,500 could signal a recovery.
- Sectoral analysis shows strength in PSU banks, oil & gas, and private banks. Meanwhile, IT, media, and FMCG sectors are mildly positive, while auto, pharma, healthcare, consumer durables, mid, and smallcap indices face pressure.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) were net sellers on Wednesday, offloading equities worth Rs 583 crore, while Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) were net buyers at Rs 1,509 crore.
- Geopolitical tensions, particularly the Iran war, have pushed Brent crude oil prices above $100 per barrel, adversely impacting investor sentiment and leading to Indian Rupee depreciation.
- Positive individual stock news includes IRB Infrastructure and Ola Electric among Nifty 500 gainers, and Kolte-Patil Developers reporting record sales for a new Pune project. Nomura also raised its target price for Ather Energy due to faster EV adoption.
- New Delhi is preparing to host the BRICS Summit on September 12-13, focusing on global cooperation and sustainability.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- Crude Oil prices, specifically Brent, have soared above $100 per barrel, driven by escalating tensions in the Middle East due to the ongoing Iran conflict.
- Gold (XAU/USD) has been experiencing short-term downward pressure, with US Treasury bond buybacks potentially influencing its movement.
- In the crypto space, the SEC approved a rule change on September 3, designating Bitcoin, Ethereum, Solana, and XRP as commodities under a new Nasdaq Texas listing standard. This allows trusts to hold up to 15% of their net asset value in assets that might not meet standard eligibility criteria. Solana (SOL) has broken above its $103 resistance line. Bitcoin is trading just below the $80,000 psychological level.
- The Arab Global Crypto Exchange (AGCX) is set to launch today, September 10, offering AED support and zero platform fees on crypto transfers in the UAE.
