Lead Quantitative Strategist & Institutional Portfolio Manager Briefing

Date: Thursday, August 6, 2026

Session Highlight: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- US Federal Reserve: San Francisco Fed President Mary Daly supported holding interest rates steady at the July meeting, emphasizing the need for more data on inflation drivers and vigilance for future action. Conversely, Minneapolis Fed President Neel Kashkari advocated for immediate incremental rate hikes due to persistent high inflation. The FOMC previously kept rates unchanged at 3.5%-3.75% in April.
- Reserve Bank of India (RBI): The RBI maintained its repo rate at 5.25% in its latest policy meeting. The central bank raised its GDP growth forecast to 6.7% and lowered its inflation projection to 5% for the current financial year.
- Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA): The RBA board is set to decide on interest rates next week, with expectations leaning towards keeping the cash rate at 4.35%. However, further hikes are not ruled out as inflation remains above target.
- Economic Data & Geopolitics: The US is scheduled to release jobless claims and wholesale inventories data today. Progress towards a peace deal between the US and Iran over the Strait of Hormuz is easing geopolitical tensions, providing support for the Dow Jones.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street Futures & Mega-caps: Dow Jones futures traded higher amid hopes of a US-Iran peace deal. Nasdaq and S&P 500 futures, however, saw declines, largely attributed to a 13.6% drop in SpaceX shares (following its Q1 report showing increased AI spending) and a 7% fall in Advanced Micro Devices (AMD) due to AI spending concerns. Nvidia received a 3.4% boost after SpaceX announced it would exclusively use Nvidia chips for its AI technology. US stock futures are slightly positive in premarket trading.
- Semiconductor Developments: Asian semiconductor stocks, including SK Hynix (-9.7%) and Samsung Electronics (-6.1%), experienced a sell-off driven by profit-taking and risk reduction ahead of the US nonfarm payroll report, reflecting a broader rout in AI-related shares. In Europe, Nordic Semiconductor reported record Q2 2026 revenue (up 33% YoY) with strong demand. SUESS MicroTec also reported record order intake, driven by demand for advanced packaging solutions in the AI value chain.
- European Markets: The UK's FTSE closed in the green, buoyed by strong earnings from Glencore and Next. France's CAC also traded higher, while Germany's DAX declined, primarily due to losses in Infineon, Deutsche Post, and Continental.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Sensex/Nifty: Indian benchmark indices opened higher today, with the Nifty up 0.07% and the Sensex up 0.26%, signaling a positive start driven by post-RBI policy sentiment and easing crude oil prices.
- Corporate Earnings: Today is a busy day for Q1 FY27 earnings, with 165 companies scheduled to report. Notable results include significant profit increases for Navin Fluorine International, PB FinTech, and Neuland Laboratories. Biocon and Bayer CropScience also reported strong profit growth. Cummins India, however, saw a 7.96% dip in net profit despite revenue growth. LIC, Trent, Britannia Industries, and Hero MotoCorp are among other key companies reporting.
- FII/DII Institutional Flows: On August 5th, Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) were net buyers (₹2,883.17 crore), while Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) were net sellers (₹943.42 crore). This continues a trend where DII holdings in Nifty-500 reached a record 21%, and FII ownership fell to an all-time low of 17% in June 2026, indicating a structural shift towards domestic market dominance.
- Sectoral Momentum: Market volatility is expected. Early trading showed mixed sectoral performance, with IT and Pharma outperforming, while Auto, FMCG, Metal, Realty, and Cement sectors were in the red. Reliance Industries was identified as a top gainer.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- Crude Oil: WTI Crude is hovering near $75 per barrel, with Brent near $79. Prices are easing due to optimism surrounding a US-Iran peace deal and the potential reopening of the Strait of Hormuz. OPEC+ agreed to further boost collective production by 188,000 barrels per day in August, continuing the unwinding of voluntary cuts.
- Gold: Gold prices surged to a seven-week high, with COMEX gold hitting $4,363.60/oz intraday, driven by easing US-Iran tensions (reducing Fed rate hike expectations), softer Treasury yields, and a weaker dollar. Despite some profit-booking, strong central bank buying continues to underpin long-term demand.
- Crypto: Kenya approved new digital currency legislation, granting its central bank significant regulatory autonomy over crypto transactions, including stablecoins. In the US, the Senate has a tight window to pass the CLARITY Act, a crucial piece of digital asset market structure legislation, before its August recess. Industry leaders emphasize the need for a stable regulatory framework for crypto in the US. Bitcoin is showing strong bullish momentum, trading above its EMA50.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Current Price (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
RELIANCE (Reliance Industries)	₹3,050.00	Nifty 50 leader and a top gainer today. Selected for a long position based on a hypothetical strong bounce off its 50-SMA support, indicating sustained bullish momentum in line with robust domestic institutional inflows.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVDA (NVIDIA)	$1,250.00	Mega-cap growth leader in the AI sector, boosted by SpaceX's exclusive use of its AI chips. Initiating a potential long on a pullback towards its 21-day EMA, anticipating a strong rebound given its integral role in the accelerating AI capex cycle.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Current Price (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
SMHN.DE (SUSS MicroTec)	€65.00	Leading semiconductor equipment manufacturer with record order intake and strong order book, driven by robust demand for advanced packaging in the AI value chain. This aligns with a Stage-2 VCP (Volatility Contraction Pattern) breakout, indicating significant growth potential.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC/USD (Bitcoin)	$72,500.00	Exhibiting strong bullish momentum, having successfully broken above a bearish corrective channel and trading firmly above its 4H 21-EMA (or EMA50). This presents a trend-following long opportunity on a high-volume volatility breakout from recent consolidation.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
XAU/USD (Gold)	$4,320.00/oz	Reached a seven-week high but is currently facing profit-booking near the $4,300-$4,360 resistance zone. Monitoring for a pullback to a key Fibonacci support level (e.g., $4,280-$4,290) for a long entry, supported by continued Fed rate hike buzz easing and strong central bank demand.
CL=F (WTI Crude Oil)	$75.00/bbl	Prices are easing due to optimism regarding the US-Iran deal and the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz. OPEC+ production increases further support a bearish bias. Seeking a short entry on a rejection of a key daily pivot point or resistance (e.g., $75.50), targeting further downside.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD (Short-Term)	1.1545	The pair is showing strong bullish intent, attempting to break above the significant resistance level at 1.1555. A confirmed clean breakout above this level with momentum would trigger a short-term long position, targeting 1.1600.
USD/JPY (Long-Term Carry Swing)	157.70	Engaging in a long-term carry swing trade. Maintained a long position, anticipating continued strength due to persistent positive interest rate differentials favoring the USD and generally stable global risk appetite. Adding on minor pullbacks.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
NIFTY 50 (Weekly Call Option)	24,640.00 (Index)	Indian benchmarks opened higher. Awaiting a clear 15-minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) to the upside. Upon confirmation (e.g., Nifty 50 breaking and holding above 24,670), a Call option will be purchased for an intraday long play.
