Daily Multi-Asset Trading Blueprint & Level Execution Manual

Date: Tuesday, August 25, 2026

Current Session Highlight: London Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Focus heavily on European macroeconomic releases, ECB/BOE news, Forex short-term futures (EUR/USD, GBP/USD), and Gold (XAU/USD) supply/demand zones.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- India has successfully mobilized $73 billion in foreign exchange inflows in less than 11 weeks, surpassing the scale and pace of previous RBI swap schemes.
- Concerns are rising over the growing US national debt, which has crossed $40 trillion, reviving the "debasement trade" and underpinning demand for alternative stores of value like gold.
- Gold prices are heading for a weekly gain, buoyed by a hit to Federal Reserve rate hike odds and increasing safe-haven demand. The dollar has fallen as traders reduce their bets on further Fed rate hikes.
- The Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) minutes indicate the board is ready to raise rates if upside risks to inflation materialize.
- South Korea's Composite Consumer Sentiment Index experienced a decline in August 2026, falling 2.3 points to 104.5.
- German companies have cut their investment in the US to a three-year low.
- The US has tightened sanctions on Iran and its trading partners, with implications for global markets and oil prices.
- No significant market-moving ECB or BOE specific news headlines were observed in the pre-open briefing.

2. US & European Markets

- Several major US companies, including Apple, EMCOR Group, and Johnson & Johnson, reported record-breaking results in their Q2 2026 earnings cycle. Apple saw double-digit revenue growth across iPhone, Mac, and Services, with adjusted EPS growing 29%.
- Nvidia's Q1 earnings report is highly anticipated today, serving as a critical litmus test for the "AI Trade" and potentially influencing broader tech and growth indices.
- Alphabet (Google) reported an 82% growth in its Cloud revenue last quarter and has entered a multiyear custom-chip commitment with Marvell Technology.
- US stocks are experiencing mixed movements today, with investors reportedly rotating out of tech and into other market sectors.
- The semiconductor industry continues to see developments in technology and leadership appointments.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity markets are showing mixed to lower trends in early trade; the Sensex opened lower amid negative global cues, and the Nifty 50 is trading around the 24150 mark.
- Indian Nifty 500 companies recorded a 13% jump in earnings for Q1 FY27, with significant contributions from the metals, financials, and telecom sectors. However, earnings of oil & gas companies dipped by 34%.
- Strong earnings momentum continues to propel mid- and small-cap stocks in the Indian market.
- Nifty Media and Nifty PSU Bank sectors saw gains of 1.59% and 0.28% respectively, while Nifty Auto and Nifty Metal declined by 0.45% each.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- Brent Crude oil prices are back near $92 per barrel after a 2% drop, influenced by the US tightening pressure on Iran. The Strait of Hormuz transits are severely constrained, impacting global oil supply.
- OPEC+ completed the restoration of its 2023 output cuts in early August, approving a modest production increase. This means the spare capacity previously held is now in the market, highlighting limits to further supply relief.
- Gold (XAU/USD) is exhibiting a bullish bias, with demand zones identified around $4615-$4625 and $4605-$4620. Key resistance levels are seen at $4680-$4700, and a sustained break below $4550-$4570 would weaken the current bullish structure.
- Bitcoin has surged above $80,000, marking its highest level since May and a 28% gain since mid-August. This rally is attributed to renewed interest in the "debasement trade" and strong weekly inflows into US spot Bitcoin ETFs, totaling $1.92 billion.
- The US has approved high-leverage Bitcoin trading, although crypto founders remain legally blocked from raising funds. Bitcoin price gains are pulling new investors into crypto, and discussions around GameStop and Trump's Bitcoin investments are impacting future institutional crypto adoption.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Type	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
HDFCBANK.NS	Large-Cap	50-SMA Support Bounce	Financials showed strong Q1 FY27 earnings growth. A pullback to the 50-SMA on HDFC Bank, India's largest private sector bank, could present a strong long entry if support holds, aligning with the positive sectoral momentum.
IDEA.NS	Small-Cap	20/50 EMA Golden Cross	Telecom sector exhibited 384% earnings growth in Q1 FY27. Vodafone Idea, a smaller telecom player, is a candidate for a golden cross given the strong underlying sector tailwinds, indicating potential renewed upward momentum.

US EQUITIES

Ticker	Type	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
AAPL	Large-Cap	21-Day EMA Pullback	Apple reported record Q2 2026 earnings with strong iPhone, Mac, and Services growth. A pullback to its 21-day EMA offers a potential dip-buying opportunity on a fundamentally strong mega-cap leader, despite current market rotation out of tech.
GOOGL	Large-Cap	50-Day SMA Rejection	Alphabet's Cloud revenue grew 82%, but the stock trades cheaper than other mega-caps. A rejection from the 50-day SMA after a failed breakout could signal a short opportunity in a bi-directional strategy, especially if the broader tech rotation continues.
SMCI	Mid-Cap	High Relative Volume Breakout (RVOL > 2.0)	Super Micro Computer, a semiconductor firm, recently plummeted 19% on news of a delayed 10-K filing, making it highly volatile. A high relative volume breakout above resistance could indicate a strong short-term bounce or reversal, targeting long-only for small-cap recovery plays.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Type	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC/USD	Large-Cap	4H 21-EMA Trend Following	Bitcoin surged above $80,000, signaling strong bullish momentum driven by the "debasement trade" and ETF inflows. A 4-hour 21-EMA trend following strategy would aim to capture continuation of this upward trend with appropriate stop-loss for potential reversals.
ETH/USD	Large-Cap	High-Volume Volatility Breakout	Ethereum tends to follow Bitcoin's lead. With Bitcoin's surge, a high-volume breakout in ETH/USD could signal strong follow-through buying or selling pressure, enabling a bi-directional volatility breakout strategy.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Type	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
XAU/USD	Gold	Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels	Gold is in a strong bullish trend due to Fed rate hike uncertainty and safe-haven demand, with immediate support identified around $4605-$4625 and resistance at $4680-$4700. Trading around these pivot and Fibonacci extension levels allows for capturing moves within its defined supply/demand zones.
WTI/USD	Crude Oil	Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels	Brent Crude is back near $92 due to Iran sanctions and constrained Hormuz transits, implying upward pressure on WTI. Using pivot and Fibonacci extension levels to identify support/resistance for WTI will be key to trading its bi-directional volatility driven by geopolitical news.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Type	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Short-Term	Demand Zone Bounce (Intraday)	EUR/USD is trading defensively, but Forex Factory suggests a BUY opportunity. Identifying intraday demand zones could offer short-term long entries, capitalizing on potential bounces or corrections in the London session.
GBP/USD	Short-Term	Supply Zone Rejection (Intraday)	GBP/USD holds a range below mid-1.3600s. While some indicators show a BUY signal, short-term trading strategies could look for rejection from intraday supply zones for potential short entries or profit-taking opportunities if the pair struggles to break higher.
USD/JPY	Long-Term Carry Swing	Interest Rate Differential & Trend	Given the Federal Reserve's stance and the yen's carry trade appeal (Forex Factory suggests SELL), a long-term carry swing strategy on USD/JPY would capitalize on sustained interest rate differentials and established trends, aiming for prolonged directional moves.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Type	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
NIFTY 50	Index Options	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB)	Nifty 50 is experiencing a mixed start. An opening range breakout strategy on the 15-minute chart for Nifty 50 options (Call for long, Put for short) allows capitalizing on initial directional bias and volatility.
BANKNIFTY	Index Options	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB)	Nifty PSU Bank showed some gains, while the broader BankNifty is slightly down. Applying the 15-minute Opening Range Breakout strategy to BankNifty options offers a systematic approach to trade initial price discovery and momentum in this volatile banking index.

10-Year Backtest Metrics (Target vs. Benchmarks)
