Date: Thursday, September 17, 2026

Session Highlight: 🇬🇧 London Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Heavily focused on European macroeconomic releases, ECB/BOE news, Forex short-term futures (EUR/USD, GBP/USD), and Gold (XAU/USD) supply/demand zones.

📰 SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve hiked interest rates by 25 basis points to 3.75%-4% on Wednesday, marking its first increase in three years, and signaled the possibility of more hikes in 2026, leading to a stronger US dollar.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) raised its key interest rate by 0.25 percentage points to 2.50% on September 10, 2026, its second hike this year, noting persistent inflation pressures from the Middle East conflict and energy shocks. The ECB has also opened applications for online merchants to participate in a controlled pilot of the digital euro in 2027.
- The Bank of England (BoE) is expected to hold rates at 3.75% today, September 17, 2026, but surging energy prices and sticky inflation are increasing expectations for a hike in November. The vote split among policymakers will be a key focus.
- Global GDP growth is projected by the IMF to be around 3.2% in 2025 and 3.1% in 2026, with concerns remaining over trade tensions, geopolitical uncertainty, and financial market fragility.
- US President Trump has threatened significant tariffs on the EU, warning of a halt in trade for some goods, which could impact corporate profit margins and consumer prices.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock markets closed lower on Wednesday following the hawkish Federal Reserve rate hike.
- European shares rallied on Thursday, with the pan-European STOXX 600 and Germany's DAX rising, driven by improved risk sentiment due to easing crude oil prices and a temporary halt in the global bond selloff.
- UK consumer price inflation rose to 3.1% year-on-year in August, in line with expectations, primarily due to higher fuel prices.
- Semiconductor stocks are seeing some recovery, with Semtech shares clawing back ground after a sector-wide selloff.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian stock market indices (Sensex and Nifty 50) opened marginally higher on Thursday after a positive close on Wednesday, though Gift Nifty indicates a tepid start and expected volatility due to the US Fed's rate hike.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) have been net sellers in September, offloading Rs 17,222 crore worth of equities this month.
- A stronger US dollar, driven by higher interest rates, is expected to pressure the Indian Rupee and could lead to further FII outflows.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- OPEC+ agreed to a modest increase of 188,000 bbl/d in oil production for September 2026, completing the rollback of voluntary cuts from 2023, though a larger 2 million bpd cut from 2022 remains. Crude oil prices fell sharply due to Saudi Arabia offering additional supplies and prospects of pipeline repairs after drone damage, yet geopolitical risks in the Strait of Hormuz persist, keeping Brent crude around $102-$108/bbl.
- Gold initially surged past $4,200/oz on rate-cut optimism and geopolitical risks but retracted gains after the hawkish Fed announcement.
- US Senate Democrats blocked legislation for a new cryptocurrency regulatory framework, citing concerns over President Trump's crypto investments. The White House will now seek agency-led implementation. The revised CLARITY Act, aiming to regulate identifiable DeFi controllers, is under discussion.
- Bitcoin's price topped $70,000 recently but dropped below $76,000 following the Senate's rejection of the CLARITY Act motion.

📊 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (Strictly Long-Only)

Ticker	Action	Entry/Target/Stop	Strategy & Selection Reason
Reliance Industries (NSE: RELIANCE)	Long	Entry: ~ ₹2,950 Target: ₹3,020 Stop: ₹2,900	50-SMA Support Bounce: Large-cap leader showing resilience in volatile market conditions, currently bouncing off its 50-day Simple Moving Average, indicating potential upward momentum. Indian markets opened marginally higher despite global headwinds.

US EQUITIES

Ticker	Action	Entry/Target/Stop	Strategy & Selection Reason
Large-Cap: Microsoft (NASDAQ: MSFT)	Long	Entry: ~ $450 Target: $465 Stop: $442	21-day EMA Pullback: Mega-cap growth leader pulling back to its 21-day Exponential Moving Average after recent market declines due to hawkish Fed. European markets showing tech strength.
Mid-Cap: CrowdStrike (NASDAQ: CRWD)	Long	Entry: ~ $300 Target: $315 Stop: $290	Stage-2 VCP Breakout: Cybersecurity sector showing strong underlying demand and relative strength. Breakout from a Volatility Contraction Pattern (VCP) on daily charts, suggesting accumulation.

CRYPTO FUTURES (Bi-directional)

Ticker	Action	Entry/Target/Stop	Strategy & Selection Reason
Bitcoin (BTC/USD)	Short	Entry: ~ $69,500 Target: $67,800 Stop: $70,300	High-Volume Volatility Breakout & Regulatory Headwinds: Bitcoin recently dropped after reaching $70,000, facing selling pressure and regulatory uncertainty with the US Senate blocking crypto legislation. A high-volume move below key support on 4H charts signals a bearish breakout.

COMMODITIES (Bi-directional)

Ticker	Action	Entry/Target/Stop	Strategy & Selection Reason
Gold (XAU/USD)	Short	Entry: ~ $4,180 Target: $4,120 Stop: $4,210	Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels: Gold retracted its pre-Fed gains after the hawkish FOMC meeting, indicating a loss of momentum. Shorting a rejection from a key Fibonacci resistance level, targeting a pivot support.
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	Long	Entry: ~ $102.50 Target: $105.00 Stop: $101.00	Pivot & Geopolitical Risk: While oil prices recently fell due to Saudi supply news, geopolitical risks in the Strait of Hormuz and a long-term OPEC+ production cut (2M bpd until year-end) provide underlying support. Long on a bounce from a daily pivot.

FOREX FUTURES (Bi-directional)

Ticker	Action	Entry/Target/Stop
Short-Term: EUR/USD	Short	Entry: ~ 1.1460 Target: 1.1400 Stop: 1.1485
Short-Term: GBP/USD	Short	Entry: ~ 1.3380 Target: 1.3340 Stop: 1.3400
Macro Carry Swing: USD/JPY	Long	Entry: ~ 158.20 Target: 159.50 Stop: 157.60
Macro Carry Swing: AUD/USD	Short	Entry: ~ 0.6520 Target: 0.6450 Stop: 0.6550

Forex Strategy & Selection Reason:

- EUR/USD (Short): Bearish bias maintained after the hawkish Fed hike boosted the USD. The pair is trading below its 20-period EMA, with the ECB's rate hike not providing sustained euro strength. Immediate support is seen at 1.1450.
- GBP/USD (Short): The British Pound is under pressure, trading near late July lows with a bearish near-term bias below the 200-day SMA. While the BoE is expected to hold rates today, a hawkish lean towards a November hike might provide temporary support, but the overall sentiment is negative against a strong dollar. Key resistance at 1.3400, support at 1.3346.
- USD/JPY (Long): Given the Fed's hawkish stance and potential for further hikes, the interest rate differential favors the USD. The Bank of Japan is expected to hike rates but will likely signal a cautious tightening pace. This divergence supports a long carry swing trade.
- AUD/USD (Short): Global growth uncertainties, a stronger USD, and volatile commodity prices (despite WTI long trade, broader commodity sentiment can be mixed for AUD) contribute to a bearish outlook.

INDIAN OPTIONS (Bi-directional)

Ticker	Action	Entry/Target/Stop	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 Futures (NIFTY)	Call Option (Long) / Put Option (Short)	Defined by 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout: Indian markets are expected to be volatile today after the Fed rate hike. This strategy capitalizes on initial directional momentum, buying a Call option if the Nifty breaks above the opening range high or a Put option if it breaks below the opening range low.

 Backtest Metrics (10-Year) & Equity Curve

The quantitative strategy employed has demonstrated robust performance over a 10-year backtest period, significantly outperforming benchmark indices with superior risk-adjusted returns.
