Session Highlight:  New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve raised interest rates by 0.25 percentage points on Wednesday, marking the first hike since 2023, to combat resurgent inflation driven by soaring energy prices.
- The target range for the federal funds rate is now 3-3/4 to 4 percent.
- Surging Treasury yields, reaching multi-decade highs (30-year bond yield at 5.46%, 10-year yield at 5.14%), are complicating the Fed's rate path and indicating expectations for tighter policy.
- New York Fed President John Williams stated that another rate hike by year-end is "reasonable," while Philadelphia Fed President Anna Paulson described potential tightening as "modest."
- Federal Reserve officials have called for new regulations specifically for stablecoins, citing risks similar to traditional finance.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street futures are mixed, with the Dow Jones Industrial Average declining for the third consecutive session on Thursday due to climbing treasury yields.
- The S&P 500 ended flat, and the NASDAQ Composite was little changed on Thursday.
- NVDA (NVIDIA Corp):* Trading lower by approximately -1.52% in pre-market at $222.09, down from a previous close of $225.51. Its 52-week range is $164.27 - $236.54, with the current price near the upper end. NVIDIA reported a 71.1% gross margin for fiscal 2026.
- MSFT (Microsoft Corp):* Trading slightly lower by -0.2% below its premarket VWAP price of 502.04, with the last trade at $501.19. Stifel recently upgraded Microsoft to Buy with a price target of $575. Its 52-week range is $349.20 - $553.72.
- TSLA (Tesla Inc):* Trading up approximately +0.26% in pre-market at $379.87, compared to a previous close of $378.90. Tesla's stock showed a "Bullish Crossover" technical signal when the 20-day moving average made a bullish crossover during a downtrend. Its 52-week range is $297.38 - $498.83.
- Big Tech stocks are generally under pressure in premarket trading due to rising Treasury yields and higher oil prices.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity benchmarks posted their worst single-day performance since March 9 on Thursday, as rising US bond yields and surging crude prices dented investor sentiment.
- The Sensex dropped 1,248 points (1.67%) to 73,580, and the Nifty 50 declined 384 points (1.64%) to 23,063.
- FII's (Foreign Institutional Investors) were net sellers on Thursday, offloading shares worth ₹5,027.36 crore, while DII's (Domestic Institutional Investors) bought stocks worth ₹4,301 crore. This continues a trend of FII selling, totaling ₹12,609 crore this month.
- Nifty is currently near 23,000, trading in a narrow range.
- Nifty 50 technical analysis shows a "Strong Sell" outlook based on moving averages and other technical indicators.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil:* Oil prices are sliding again today after reports that the U.S. and Iran are discussing a phased agreement to end the standoff in the Persian Gulf, which could reopen the Strait of Hormuz. WTI futures dropped 0.68% to $105.86, while Brent crude fell 1% to $93.66 a barrel. WTI is currently seen slipping below $92.00 amid diplomacy hopes, though bullish potential is noted as intact.
- Gold (XAU/USD):* Gold is up 0.33% today. It currently struggles below the $4,300 level with a bearish bias holding, as hawkish Fed sentiment, higher bond yields, and Iran risks support the USD. Key support levels for today are around $4,254.97, with resistance at $4,313.67.
