📰 SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The International Monetary Fund (IMF) and World Bank meetings are underway in Bangkok this week, with key discussions centered on the energy shock, rising global debt, and the economic implications of the AI boom. Central bank commentary is highly anticipated.
- European households are facing the prospect of another year of elevated gas prices, primarily due to critically low gas reserves and ongoing shipping disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz.
- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) implemented measures to curb volatility in the Indian Rupee, resulting in a significant appreciation against the US Dollar. Earlier, the RBI had raised the repo rate by 25 basis points to 5.5% on October 7, signaling a shift towards a "calibrated tightening" policy stance.
- Attention is keenly focused on upcoming US CPI data and the start of major bank earnings this week, as the Federal Reserve maintains a hawkish outlook on inflation. Market expectations for a Federal Reserve rate hike have shifted from October to December.
- The Financial Stability Board (FSB) issued a warning to the G20 regarding the largely untested crisis-management frameworks for global stablecoin arrangements, particularly under conditions of severe stress or insolvency.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock futures displayed a mixed performance in pre-market trading, with S&P 500 and Dow futures showing slight gains, while Nasdaq 100 futures dipped.
- Wall Street is preparing for the Q3 earnings season, with results from six major banks, including JPMorgan, Goldman Sachs, and Citi, due on Tuesday. The September Consumer Price Index (CPI) data is also a key focus.
- European equity markets opened the week positively, driven by gains in the financial and utilities sectors. Semiconductor stocks, however, saw mixed performance, while oil prices softened following an agreement on Russian diesel supplies.
- Among notable US pre-market movers, Salesforce (+4.74%) climbed amidst a broader software sector breakout. Other significant gainers included Gix Internet (+69.15%) and First Tracks Biotherapeutics (+13.06%).
- Volkswagen Group reported a 14% year-on-year decline in vehicle deliveries for the third quarter, primarily attributed to a deteriorating market in China.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity markets, after an initial positive open, reversed course and closed lower. The Sensex fell 547.65 points (0.76%) to settle at 71,924.68, and the Nifty 50 dropped 157.10 points (0.70%) to 22,363.35.
- Broad-based selling pressure was observed across banking, Fast-Moving Consumer Goods (FMCG), and Information Technology (IT) sectors.
- Key Nifty 50 losers included ITC (-3.23%), Tech Mahindra (-3.1%), and Hindustan Unilever (-2.1%). Conversely, top Nifty 50 gainers featured Bharat Electronics (+1.38%), Mahindra & Mahindra (+0.84%), and Kotak Mahindra Bank (+0.66%).
- The broader market displayed resilience, with the Nifty MidCap index gaining 0.08% and the Nifty SmallCap index rising 1.42%.
- The Indian Rupee strengthened by nearly 1% against the US Dollar, supported by RBI's intervention measures and a decline in crude oil prices.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) were net sellers, offloading equities worth ₹3,568.90 crore on Friday (October 9), while Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) were net buyers at ₹4,743.26 crore. FII ownership in Indian equities is currently at a 17-year low.
- Market sentiment continues to be influenced by persistent foreign investor outflows, elevated crude oil prices, and broader global economic uncertainties.
- HCL Technologies is scheduled to release its Q2 FY27 results today, October 12.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil prices are on the rise, gaining 1.00% to trade around $91.90 per barrel, driven by escalating Middle East tensions which are currently outweighing hopes of a Russia-Ukraine energy ceasefire. Brent crude is trading near $106 a barrel.
- Houthi attacks on Saudi Arabia and an oil tanker near Oman have renewed concerns regarding potential supply disruptions in the Middle East.
- OPEC has significantly revised down its 2026 oil demand growth forecast to 400,000 barrels per day (bpd), a substantial reduction from its initial projection of 1.4 million bpd at the beginning of the year.
- Gold (XAU/USD) is trading around $4,198-$4,200 per ounce, finding support from a softer US Dollar and continued central bank buying. However, the yellow metal faces resistance from elevated Treasury yields and a persistent hawkish stance from the Federal Reserve.
- Bitcoin is currently trading around $84,186, showing a 1.37% increase, despite a general decline in the broader cryptocurrency market. Solana (SOL) is also demonstrating resilience with a 3.29% gain.
- Crypto regulatory discussions are intensifying globally. The Financial Stability Board has expressed concerns regarding the untested crisis management frameworks for stablecoins.
- Pando Finance has launched a Solana ETF on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange (HKEX), expanding investment opportunities for Solana in Asia.
