Session Highlight: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- Concerns are rising over persistent inflation data in the Eurozone, potentially delaying anticipated ECB rate cuts, pushing the EUR/USD higher in early trading.
- Comments from Federal Reserve officials continue to emphasize a data-dependent approach, with inflation remaining the primary concern, casting a hawkish shadow on the pre-market session.
- The Bank of Japan maintains its ultra-loose monetary policy, widening the interest rate differential and supporting carry trades in USD/JPY.

2. US & European Markets

- US futures are showing mixed signals, with tech-heavy Nasdaq futures slightly down following concerns about tighter monetary policy, while Dow futures hold steady.
- Pre-market activity indicates volatility for NVIDIA (NVDA) as semiconductor sector sentiment remains cautious despite long-term AI demand.
- Microsoft (MSFT) is seeing modest pre-market gains, driven by continued optimism around its AI integration and cloud services.
- Tesla (TSLA) is under pressure in pre-market due to renewed concerns over demand in key markets and increased competition.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian markets are expected to open flat to slightly positive, with the Nifty 50 eyeing key resistance levels.
- Key corporate earnings reports are influencing individual stock movements, with some mid-cap IT firms showing resilience.
- FII's (Foreign Institutional Investors) have shown cautious buying in select sectors, while DII's (Domestic Institutional Investors) continue to provide underlying support.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil prices are volatile amidst escalating geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and ongoing OPEC+ production cut discussions.
- Gold (XAU/USD) is finding support as a safe-haven asset, reacting to global economic uncertainties and central bank rhetoric.
- Bitcoin (BTC) and Ethereum (ETH) are experiencing sideways consolidation after a recent rally, with regulatory discussions in the US remaining a key catalyst.
- Several altcoins are seeing increased trading volume, driven by specific project updates and adoption news.
