Date: August 15, 2026 (Pre-Open Briefing for next trading session based on August 14, 2026 market close and pre-market insights)

CURRENT SESSION HIGHLIGHT: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

SESSION NEWS FOCUS: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- US Federal Reserve: Futures markets indicate a 50% chance the Fed will maintain its target rate at its mid-September meeting, influenced by a weak July jobs report and easing inflation pressures (July PPI unchanged, 4.7% YoY). This diminishing likelihood of rate hikes has been a supportive factor for gold prices.
- Currency Dynamics: The Japanese Yen faces potential joint intervention from Japan and the US to curb its slide, with the Bank of Japan also considering faster rate hikes. Despite these talks, USD/JPY has shown resilience to softer US data and BOJ hike discussions. The US dollar has generally weakened over the past month, particularly after the Fed's July meeting.
- European Inflation: German wholesale prices in July 2026 increased by 5.3% year-over-year, primarily due to escalating energy and raw material costs stemming from Middle East hostilities.
- US Economic Indicators: US Retail Sales unexpectedly contracted in July (-0.6% month-over-month, -0.3% Core), raising concerns about a broader economic slowdown following recent soft CPI and PPI reports.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street Futures: As of Friday, August 14, 2026, pre-market activity saw Nasdaq 100 futures up 0.20% and S&P 500 futures up 0.08%, while Dow Jones futures were down 0.09%.
- Mega-Cap Tech: NVIDIA (NVDA) was a strong pre-market mover, gaining approximately 0.5-1.1% on August 14th/11th. This rally is attributed to its plan to raise $500 billion for AI infrastructure and its strategic move into open-source AI, which is expected to boost GPU demand. Goldman Sachs maintains a "Buy" rating and a $285 price target on NVDA ahead of its August 26 earnings report. Other tech giants like Meta and Apple saw slight increases, while Microsoft, Amazon, and Alphabet experienced minor declines on August 11th.
- Semiconductor Sector: NVIDIA continues to lead in AI infrastructure, and JPMorgan upgraded Sandisk (SNDK) to Overweight, citing strong AI storage demand.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Benchmark Indices: Indian equity benchmarks, Sensex and Nifty, traded lower on August 14, 2026, with the Sensex falling between 70-300 points and Nifty hovering around 24,300-24,366. This marked the fourth consecutive session with a lower open for the Indian markets.
- Institutional Flows: On August 13, 2026, Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) were significant net buyers (+₹4,353.09 crore), largely offsetting Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) net selling (-₹510.69 crore), resulting in a net positive institutional flow of approximately ₹3,842 crore into Indian equities. This pattern of DII buying providing a cushion against FII selling has been a consistent theme.
- Corporate Earnings: 3M India reported a 31% increase in Q1 FY27 net profit, primarily due to an exceptional gain from a land sale, although its EBITDA margin contracted. Other companies like Alkem Laboratories and Ashok Leyland also announced results on August 14, 2026. Excluding volatile sectors, corporate profit growth for Indian companies is rising sharply at approximately 20% year-over-year.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil: Prices experienced volatility, slipping to around $80.96 per barrel on August 14, 2026, after a six-session rally. This decline was attributed to a significant surge in US crude stockpiles (the largest weekly build since January 2023) and OPEC+ cutting its 2026 global demand forecast. Geopolitical tensions in the Middle East (US-Iran conflict, Strait of Hormuz disruptions) remain key drivers, with a broad trading range of $67.93-$106.74 projected for August.
- Gold (XAU/USD): Gold prices have risen sharply in August, trading around $4,375-$4,450 per ounce, reaching $4,375.50 on August 14, 2026. This surge is driven by macroeconomic factors such as a reduced likelihood of Fed rate hikes, easing inflation, and heightened safe-haven demand amid Middle East tensions. UBS forecasts gold to reach $5,000 again in the first half of 2027.
- Crypto Regulatory: The US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) had scheduled an open meeting for August 14, 2026, to discuss proposing "Regulation Crypto" for tailored offering regimes for crypto assets. However, this meeting was abruptly canceled, postponing a potentially significant step in crypto regulation. The White House is planning a separate meeting with crypto executives on August 19th. The CLARITY Act currently has a 21% chance of becoming law in 2026, according to Polymarket traders.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Sentiment (As of Aug 14)	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level (Est.)	Target/Stop Loss (Est.)
Ethereum (ETH/USD)	Volatile / Regulatory Uncertainty	SEC meeting cancellation introduces regulatory uncertainty but also potential for speculative moves. Applying 4H 21-EMA trend following and high-volume volatility breakouts. Given no specific trend identified from news, a bi-directional approach is warranted with tight risk management.	Long Entry: ~1,850 (on break above resistance with volume) Short Entry: ~1,780 (on break below support with volume)	Target: 1,900 / 1,730 Stop Loss: 1,820 / 1,810

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Sentiment (As of Aug 14)	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level (Est.)	Target/Stop Loss (Est.)
Gold (XAU/USD)	Bullish (Macroeconomic drivers)	Up sharply in August, driven by falling Fed hike expectations, easing inflation, and safe-haven demand. Trading around $4,375-$4,450. Applying Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels (illustrative). Bullish bias, but monitor for profit-taking.	Long Entry: ~4,400 (on pullback to support) Short Entry: ~4,460 (on rejection from resistance)	Target: 4,480 / 4,360 Stop Loss: 4,380 / 4,475
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	Volatile (Supply/Demand, Geopolitics)	Slipped after a rally due to rising US stockpiles and OPEC+ demand cut, yet Middle East tensions persist. Range-bound expectations for August ($67.93-$106.74). Applying Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels (illustrative). Price near $80.96 as of Aug 14.	Long Entry: ~81.50 (on bounce from support) Short Entry: ~83.00 (on rejection from resistance)	Target: 83.50 / 80.00 Stop Loss: 80.80 / 83.70
