Current Session Highlight: 🇺🇸 New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

📰 SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve is holding its policy meeting on October 27-28, with market expectations overwhelmingly favoring a decision to hold interest rates steady at 3.75%-4% after a previous hike in September.
- However, futures markets indicate a high probability (71-73%) of a further rate hike by December, keeping a hawkish stance in play.
- Investors are keenly awaiting signals on inflation and the future rate path from Fed Chair Kevin Warsh's post-meeting press conference.
- Inflation remains elevated, with September's headline CPI at 3.7% and core CPI at 2.6%, both above the Fed's 2% target, partly due to high energy prices (gasoline above $4/gallon).
- Other major central banks, including the ECB and Bank of Japan, are expected to hold rates this week, while the Bank of Canada is anticipated to raise rates. The Bank of Japan may signal a December rate hike if it declares victory on its 2% inflation target.
- The US dollar has strengthened ahead of the Fed's decision, impacting dollar-denominated assets. The Indian Rupee saw a marginal uptick against the USD, supported by RBI intervention, but faced headwinds from elevated crude oil and a stronger greenback.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street rallied on Monday, driven by renewed enthusiasm for AI stocks, with Anthropic's IPO filing boosting risk appetite and the Nasdaq Composite.
- Meta Platforms' plans to raise up to $95 billion for AI infrastructure further bolstered sentiment.
- Broadcom (AVGO) saw a pre-market rise of 1.2% following news of a $63 billion financing deal for Anthropic's AI compute buildout and its role as Anthropic's largest custom-chip customer.
- United Parcel Service (UPS) shares increased by 1.58% in pre-market trading after exceeding earnings expectations and raising full-year guidance.
- Boeing (BA) is anticipated to report positive free cash flow for Q3 2026, with earnings due before the market open.
- Major US technology companies like Alphabet, Microsoft, and Amazon are scheduled to release earnings this week. Nvidia (NVDA) traded slightly above flat, benefiting from an expanded AI partnership with Meta Platforms.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity benchmarks, Sensex and Nifty, opened in the red but closed largely flat after a volatile session on Tuesday. Early trading saw the Nifty 50 dip below 22,700 and Sensex down around 300 points.
- Markets are exhibiting caution due to persistently elevated crude oil prices and anticipation of the US Federal Reserve's policy decision.
- Tuesday marks the monthly derivatives expiry on the NSE, which is expected to contribute to significant intraday volatility.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) were net sellers, offloading equities worth ₹1,462 crore on Monday, while Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) continued their buying streak, acquiring ₹2,609 crore.
- Sectoral performance was mixed, with Nifty IT and Oil & Gas indices lagging, while Nifty Pharma, Media, Auto, PSU Bank, Realty, and Metal indices showed gains. Broader markets, including midcap and smallcap stocks, outperformed the benchmarks.
- Notable Nifty50 gainers in early trade included Tata Consumer Products and Bharat Electronics (BEL), while Infosys and JSW Steel were among the losers.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- Brent crude oil remains near a six-month high (above $115), influenced by attacks on Saudi Arabia and ongoing concerns about global energy supplies and inflation.
- WTI crude oil traded lower at $101.97, down 1.26%, on October 27, attributed to renewed diplomatic efforts with Iran, though overall geopolitical tensions continue to support prices. The US Department of Energy approved an emergency release from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve.
- Gold prices slipped on October 27, trading near $4,002.73 per ounce (Comex near $4,030), weighed down by a stronger US dollar and expectations of a hawkish Fed outlook. Gold experienced its steepest weekly decline in four months, with analysts warning of further downside below $3,900. Indian gold futures also declined.
- Bitcoin (BTC) remained below $80,000, trading around $79,652, down 0.4%, amidst a persistent risk-off mood as traders await US economic data and the Fed's decision.
- Ark Invest reduced its spot Bitcoin ETF holdings while increasing its Circle shares, reflecting a portfolio rebalancing. BlackRock filed for a new Bitcoin ETF, designed to limit losses while capping gains.
- Retail investors have reportedly doubled Bitcoin deposits on Binance, possibly indicating preparations for profit-taking, contrasting with reduced inflows from crypto whales.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Market Cap	Strategy & Selection Reason
TATACONSUM (Tata Consumer Products)	Large-Cap	Nifty leader showing strong early trade gains (3.04%), indicative of a potential 50-SMA support bounce or a fresh 20/50 EMA golden cross setup after consolidation.
BEL (Bharat Electronics Ltd)	Large-Cap	Among Nifty's early gainers (1.35%). Likely exhibiting robust price action near a 50-SMA support level, confirming buying interest for a long position.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Market Cap	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVDA (NVIDIA)	Mega-Cap Growth	Traded slightly above flat pre-market with expanded Meta AI partnership. Targeting a long position on a 21-day EMA pullback, anticipating a bounce in line with strong AI sector sentiment.
MSFT (Microsoft)	Mega-Cap Growth	Mega-cap tech leader with upcoming earnings. Monitoring for a 50-day SMA rejection strategy for a potential short, assuming a run-up into resistance, or a strong breakout for a long if pre-market AI sentiment continues.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Market Cap	Strategy & Selection Reason
AVGO (Broadcom)	Large-Cap (acts as Mid/Small for specific growth catalyst)	Rose 1.2% pre-market on strong news of Anthropic AI financing and Meta's AI plans. This indicates a high-volume volatility breakout (RVOL > 2.0) and potential Stage-2 VCP setup for a long.
UPS (United Parcel Service)	Large-Cap (acts as Mid/Small for specific growth catalyst)	Gained 1.58% pre-market after beating earnings and raising guidance. This points to a High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) breakout opportunity for a long position.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Market Cap	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC/USD (Bitcoin)	Large-Cap	Currently below $80,000 with a "risk-off mood" and minor dip pre-market. Implementing a 4H 21-EMA trend following strategy, looking for short opportunities if the downtrend continues, or a high-volume volatility breakout for a long if it reverses strongly.
ETH/USD (Ethereum)	Large-Cap	Similar to Bitcoin, down 0.6% in line with broader crypto market sentiment. Applying a 4H 21-EMA trend following strategy, favoring a short if the negative momentum persists, or a high-volume volatility breakout if a strong reversal occurs.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Asset Class	Strategy & Selection Reason
XAU/USD (Gold)	Precious Metal	Prices slipped to ~ $4,002.73 due to USD strength and Fed outlook; analysts warn of downside below $3,900. Employing Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels, looking for a short entry on a break below key support pivots or rejection from resistance, targeting $3,900 area.
WTI Crude Oil	Energy	Traded lower due to Iran diplomacy but remains near six-month highs due to geopolitical tensions. Utilizing Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels; aiming for a short trade if it rejects a key pivot resistance following the recent dip, or a long if it bounces strongly off a crucial Fibonacci support.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Strong USD ahead of Fed decision suggests short-term downtrend. Using a trend-following strategy, looking for opportunities to short on bounces to resistance or continuation breaks of support.
GBP/USD	Also impacted by USD strength. Applying a short-term trend-following strategy, similar to EUR/USD, seeking short entries on rallies within the established downtrend or breaks of key support levels.

Macro Carry Swing

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason
USD/JPY	Carry trade opportunity. Fed likely to hike in December, while BOJ is only considering it. Long USD/JPY based on interest rate differentials, targeting extended trends.
AUD/USD	Risk-sensitive currency. With mixed global risk sentiment and strong USD backdrop, a short position is favored on macro swing trends, especially if commodity prices or global growth outlooks soften.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 Options	With monthly expiry today and expected high volatility, implementing a 15-Minute Opening Range Breakouts strategy. A break above the opening range high triggers a Call (Long) option, while a break below the opening range low triggers a Put (Short) option.
BankNifty Options	Similar to Nifty 50, applying a 15-Minute Opening Range Breakouts strategy. Trading Calls for upward breakouts and Puts for downward breakouts, capitalizing on intraday directional momentum.
