SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Dollar Index (DXY) rose slightly to 99.85 as investors awaited key US CPI data, which could influence Federal Reserve policy decisions.
- The Federal Reserve's next policy moves are under scrutiny, with markets divided on a potential 25 basis point rate hike in September, especially given rising oil prices reinforcing hawkish expectations.
- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) kept its repo rate unchanged at 5.25% for the fifth consecutive meeting in August 2026, maintaining a neutral policy stance. The RBI also lowered its FY27 inflation forecast to 5.0% and raised its GDP growth forecast slightly to 6.7%.
- Geopolitical tensions, particularly in the Middle East, continue to influence global markets, with ongoing uncertainty around US-Iran negotiations and the Strait of Hormuz.
- The Japanese yen weakened against the dollar, trading at 159.31 per dollar, despite recent interventions.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock futures were little changed ahead of today's crucial Consumer Price Index (CPI) report for July, which is expected to rise 0.1% month-on-month.
- In the regular session, the S&P 500 fell 0.3%, the Nasdaq dropped 0.6%, and the Dow declined 0.3%.
- Mega-cap tech stocks weighed on major US indices on Tuesday. Microsoft (MSFT) and Amazon (AMZN) previously saw significant gains following strong Q2 earnings, with Azure crossing $100B in annual revenue for MSFT. However, some analysts suggest that the "bubble" in AI spending might be in future profit assumptions rather than the technology itself, leading to caution around high valuations.
- Semiconductor developments remain a focus, with AMD heading into earnings with elevated expectations for its Data Center business, particularly around AI accelerator demand.
- European markets finished lower on Tuesday, with the FTSE 100, France's CAC 40, and German DAX futures all showing declines in early European trades today.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equities are set for a flat to tepid opening after a weak finish on Tuesday, with Nifty 50 closing below the 24,500 mark. GIFT Nifty signals a positive start, up 23 points.
- July consumer inflation data for India is due today at 4:00 PM local time and is expected at 4.50% year-on-year, which could significantly impact bonds and the rupee.
- Corporate earnings continue, with several BSE500-linked companies, including Tata Motors and Apollo Hospitals, due to report Q1 2027 earnings today. Recent Q1 FY27 results show strong underlying profit growth when excluding volatile sectors like Metals & Mining and Oil & Gas.
- The rupee weakened against the US dollar, ending at 95.44 per US dollar.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil prices extended gains to trade near $90 per barrel amid the Hormuz deal deadlock and ongoing US-Iran tensions. The EIA's August STEO lowered US commercial crude inventory forecasts, supporting a tighter near-term supply picture.
- OPEC+ confirmed an 188 kb/d production increase for August 2026, completing the reversal of 2023 voluntary cuts. However, actual physical exports from the Gulf remain constrained.
- Gold prices climbed, gaining 0.46% to $4,387.03 an ounce, driven by geopolitical tensions.
- The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) is set to hold an open meeting today, August 12, 2026, to assess the need for tailored rules for crypto asset investment contracts. This follows the delay of the CLARITY Act to September.
- Ethereum (ETH) is trading around $1,889, benefitting from a recovery in sentiment following improved spot Ethereum ETF flows. The network has seen a significant reduction in mainnet fees and increased throughput.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Sector	Strategy & Selection Reason
HAL (Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd.)	Industrials	Nifty leader demonstrating strong Q1 FY27 revenue growth (68.6% YoY) and profit growth (123.5% YoY), indicating robust operational momentum and order backlog. Potential for 50-SMA support bounce in current market corrections.
Apollo Hospitals Enterprise Ltd.	Healthcare	Reported solid Q1 FY27 results with 18.1% revenue growth and 33.1% profit growth. Positioned for a 20/50 EMA golden cross on daily charts following positive earnings, suggesting renewed bullish momentum.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Sector	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVDA (NVIDIA Corp.)	Semiconductors/AI	Recent strength in AI narrative but potential for 21-day EMA pullback after significant rallies. Looking for long entries on pullbacks to this key moving average, expecting demand to step in given strong sector tailwinds.
MSFT (Microsoft Corp.)	Software/Cloud	Mega-cap growth leader showing 50-day SMA rejection after recent gains. Could present a short opportunity if it fails to clear this resistance, especially if broader tech sentiment falters post-CPI.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Sector	Strategy & Selection Reason
SMCI (Super Micro Computer)	Technology Hardware	Showing high Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) pre-market, indicating strong institutional interest and potential for a breakout. Looking for Stage-2 VCP patterns on daily charts to confirm accumulation.
AMD (Advanced Micro Devices)	Semiconductors	Expected to report strong Q2 earnings driven by AI accelerator demand. High RVOL and VCP breakout potential as investors anticipate continued data center growth.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Type	Strategy & Selection Reason
ETH/USD (Ethereum)	Large-Cap Crypto	Exhibiting 4H 21-EMA trend following on recent ETF inflows and reduced network fees. Bi-directional strategy, long on bounces from 21-EMA, short on sustained breaks below it amidst SEC regulatory uncertainty.
SOL/USD (Solana)	Mid-Cap Crypto	High-volume volatility breakout candidate. Given recent SEC news focus, altcoins with strong development roadmaps could see increased speculation. Long on upward breakouts with confirming volume, short on failed breakouts or high-volume rejections from resistance.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Commodity	Strategy & Selection Reason
XAU/USD (Gold)	Precious Metal	Rising amid geopolitical tensions. Long on bounces from key Fibonacci retracement levels (e.g., 38.2% or 50%) after a strong upward move. Short on rejection from a major pivot resistance level, especially if CPI data alleviates inflation fears.
WTI Crude Oil	Energy	Bullish bias with price breaking above a descending trend line and retesting it as support near $83.90. Looking for long entries targeting Fibonacci extension levels at $84.24, $87.38, and $90.53, driven by Hormuz tensions and tight supply. Short on decisive break below trendline support.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term (EUR/USD, GBP/USD) & Macro Carry Swings (USD/JPY, AUD/USD)

Ticker	Pair Type	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Short-Term	Approaching a major resistance and supply zone around 1.1600-1.1700. Bi-directional: Short on confirmed bearish reversal signals at resistance, long if it breaks definitively above this zone with strong volume. US CPI data is a key catalyst.
GBP/USD	Short-Term	Testing the psychological 1.3500 area. Short-term bullish bias while above the balanced area, but watching 1.3500-1.3650 for potential bearish reversal confirmation, especially after recent dollar weakness.
USD/JPY	Macro Carry Swing	Yen weakened to 159.31 against the dollar. Long carry trade if divergence in central bank policies persists (Fed hawkish potential, BoJ dovish). Short on strong intervention signals or significant shift in BoJ policy expectations.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Instrument	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50	Index Options	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) Strategy. Given mixed global cues and Nifty closing below 24,500, an ORB offers clear entry/exit points. Long Call on break above opening range high, Long Put on break below opening range low, with strict stop-losses.
BankNifty	Index Options	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) Strategy. BankNifty slipped 241 points on Tuesday. A volatile open provides opportunities for ORB, capturing initial directional momentum. Long Call if it breaks above the opening range, Long Put if it breaks below.
