SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

A summary of today's major market-moving news headlines, influencing our trading decisions across global and domestic markets.

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve maintained its benchmark interest rate in the range of 3.5-3.75% following its July meeting. The decision was not unanimous, with three FOMC members (Beth M. Hammack, Neel Kashkari, and Lorie K. Logan) dissenting in favor of a 25 basis-point hike, signaling a more hawkish stance within the committee.
- Inflation remains elevated relative to the Fed's 2% target, partly due to supply shocks and rising energy prices stemming from the ongoing conflict in the Middle East.
- The U.S. economy's GDP growth slowed to 1.5% in the second quarter, missing economists' expectations of 1.8%. The personal consumption expenditures (PCE) price index, the Fed's preferred inflation gauge, fell 0.1% for the month, bringing the annual rate to 3.7%.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) previously raised its policy rate by 25 basis points in June to a more restrictive stance and is monitoring the Middle East conflict's impact. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is expected to hike rates by 25 basis points in August due to surging inflation.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street opened higher today, primarily driven by strong corporate earnings from Microsoft and renewed optimism around Artificial Intelligence (AI) demand.
- Microsoft (MSFT) shares surged nearly 15% in pre-market and early trading after beating fourth-quarter earnings forecasts. Its Azure cloud services revenue grew 43%, pushing annual Azure revenue past $100 billion for the first time, significantly validating its AI strategy.
- Other notable pre-market movers include MarketAxess Holdings (MKTX) soaring nearly 30% on an acquisition deal, EMCOR Group (EME) climbing 13.7% after a strong Q2 earnings beat, and Lam Research (LRCX) surging 14.1% on record quarterly revenue.
- Conversely, Meta Platforms (META) shares fell after missing earnings forecasts and issuing weaker revenue guidance. Tesla (TSLA) has also seen a significant 30% drop in less than a month, with its latest earnings report showing collapsing operating margins and negative free cash flow, despite record revenue.
- Nvidia (NVDA) stock is rebounding despite earlier concerns about tech giants trimming AI budgets, with analysts citing strong demand validation from Microsoft's earnings. Nvidia has also committed $50 billion in long-term leases for a Texas AI data center, signaling expansion beyond chip supply to hosting compute capacity, although this raises credit risk concerns.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty, opened flat but closed higher today. The Sensex rose 273 points to 77,928, and the Nifty 50 ended at 24,317.
- Gains were primarily supported by strong performance in IT and auto stocks, as well as continued inflows from Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) and Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs). FIIs bought equities worth ₹2,981.87 crore, and DIIs bought ₹998.02 crore on July 29, 2026.
- Mahindra & Mahindra was a top gainer on the Nifty 50, reporting strong Q1 net profit and revenue growth. Infosys and other IT majors also showed gains.
- The broader market, however, remained under pressure, with the Nifty Midcap 100 falling 0.35% and the Nifty Smallcap 100 slipping 0.56%.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil prices remain volatile, with Brent crude trading around $89.60-$92.33 per barrel and WTI crude around $84.75 per barrel, influenced by the Middle East conflict and geopolitical tensions.
- Spot gold prices are trading around $4,067.39 per ounce.
- In cryptocurrency news, the SEC announced a new crypto regulation proposal to be released this month, aiming to grant safe harbor from securities enforcement to DeFi platforms and tokenized securities trading.
- The GENIUS Act, a bill designed to establish a digital asset framework, became law in July 2025, systematizing crypto regulation across multiple federal agencies like the OCC, FDIC, and FinCEN. However, there are concerns about potential delays in agency rule implementations.
- New York Attorney General Letitia James has called on Congress to implement stronger regulations on the cryptocurrency market, urging against provisions like those in the Clarity Act that could undermine state oversight and increase scam risks.
