London Session Pre-Open Briefing (08:28 AM GMT)

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- Inflation remains a central concern, with the US annual inflation rate easing slightly to 3.4% in July from 3.5% in June, and core CPI at 2.5%. However, the Cleveland Fed's Inflation Nowcasting tool projects headline inflation to cool in September, while the more closely watched core Personal Consumption Expenditures (PCE) is expected to reaccelerate to 3.49%.
- Federal Reserve Governor Christopher Waller indicated that the upcoming August CPI report (scheduled for September 11) will be critical in his decision regarding a potential interest rate hike at the FOMC meeting on September 15-16. Strong US jobs data for August have intensified market expectations for a possible September Fed rate hike.
- The European Central Bank's (ECB) September policy decision is a significant event this week, likely to influence EUR/USD dynamics. The Bank of England's base rate currently stands at 3.75%, closely aligned with the Federal Reserve's target range of 3.50%-3.75%.

2. US & European Markets

- US markets concluded Friday (Sept 4) in negative territory, with futures showing mixed signals as investors await crucial US inflation data. Despite recent headwinds, the overall stock market has demonstrated resilience in 2026, with the Dow Jones, S&P 500, and Nasdaq Composite achieving new highs.
- The semiconductor industry is experiencing robust growth, with global equipment billings surging 23% year-over-year in Q2 2026 to $40.53 billion, primarily driven by substantial AI investments. Silvers Semiconductors is channeling $30 million into expanding its European indium phosphide manufacturing capabilities to meet rising AI datacenter and optical networking demand. Forecasts also suggest that Taiwan Semiconductor's market value could exceed $3 trillion before 2029.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty 50, opened marginally lower on Monday, September 7, 2026, trading with negative sentiment in the pre-opening session. This decline was influenced by elevated crude oil prices, escalating US-Iran geopolitical tensions, and ongoing concerns about a possible US interest rate hike.
- The Sensex fell by approximately 65-172 points to 76,342.66, while the Nifty 50 traded below the 23900 mark at 23,832.60 in early sessions.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) were net sellers on Friday (Sept 4), offloading equities worth ₹3,111.94 crore. However, they turned net buyers on September 1, purchasing ₹1,143 crore after a three-day selling streak. Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) demonstrated strong buying interest, investing ₹8,930.12 crore on Sept 4 and ₹1,846 crore on Sept 1, providing a stabilizing force in the market.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- Crude Oil: Prices have escalated due to increasing US-Iran hostilities in the Strait of Hormuz, fueling fears of prolonged supply disruptions. Brent crude futures were trading at $96.80 per barrel, and US West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude at $92.14 per barrel. OPEC+ recently decided to maintain October 2026 oil production levels unchanged from September, aiming for market stability amidst West Asia conflicts.
- Gold (XAU/USD): Gold prices (currently around $4404.48) are facing downward pressure following robust US labor market data, which has heightened the probability of a Federal Reserve rate hike. The market is currently pricing in a 58% likelihood of a September Fed rate hike. Key support and resistance levels for today are identified at $4,313.67 and $4,645.91, respectively, with price consolidation expected within the $4,441.34-$4,509.74 range. A bearish correction towards the $4205 area is anticipated this week.
- Crypto: Bitcoin (BTC) is trading slightly lower around $79,943.71, while Ethereum (ETH) shows modest gains at approximately $2,505.67. Analysis suggests potential for Ethereum's upside momentum if buying strength persists, with its Taker Buy/Sell Ratio rising to 1.11, indicating aggressive buy orders. US-listed Bitcoin ETFs recorded inflows of $986.9 million for the week ending September 4, though other altcoin ETFs experienced reduced inflows.
- Crypto Regulation: The CLARITY Act, poised for a vote on September 15, is expected to significantly impact the US crypto market by establishing a clearer regulatory framework. Additionally, the SEC proposed "Regulation Crypto Assets" on August 18, 2026, aiming to create a tailored securities offering regime and streamlined pathways for capital raising within the crypto sector.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

1. INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY across Large, Mid, Small)

Ticker	Direction	Current Price / Level	Strategy & Selection Reason
Reliance Industries (RIL)	Long	₹2,850 (near 50-SMA)	50-SMA Support Bounce: Observing RIL for a bounce off its 50-day Simple Moving Average on daily charts, indicating strong underlying demand after a minor correction.
HDFC Bank	Long	₹1,720	20/50 EMA Golden Cross: Daily chart showing 20-day Exponential Moving Average crossing above the 50-day EMA, signaling bullish momentum and potential for upward trend continuation.

2. US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Current Price / Level	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVIDIA (NVDA)	Long	$1,250 (near 21-EMA)	21-day EMA Pullback: Identifying a pullback to the 21-day Exponential Moving Average on the 4-hour chart, with strong bullish candlestick formation indicating buyer re-entry in a strong uptrend.
Tesla (TSLA)	Short	$310 (near 50-SMA)	50-day SMA Rejection: Price rejecting the 50-day Simple Moving Average on the daily chart after an attempted rally, suggesting resistance and potential for a downtrend continuation.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Current Price / Level	Strategy & Selection Reason
Super Micro Computer (SMCI)	Long	$920 (Breakout level)	Stage-2 VCP Breakout / High RVOL: Breaking out of a Volatility Contraction Pattern (VCP) in Stage 2 of a bullish trend, accompanied by Relative Volume (RVOL) significantly above 2.0, indicating strong institutional interest.

3. CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL across Large, Mid, Small)

Ticker	Direction	Current Price / Level	Strategy & Selection Reason
Ethereum (ETH/USD)	Long	$2,505 (Above 4H 21-EMA)	4H 21-EMA Trend Following & Volume: Price firmly above 4-hour 21-EMA, supported by increasing buying volume and a positive Taker Buy/Sell Ratio.
Solana (SOL/USD)	Short	$102 (Below 4H 21-EMA)	4H 21-EMA Trend Following & Volume: Price breaking below the 4-hour 21-EMA with significant selling volume, indicating a potential shift to a bearish trend.

4. COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Current Price / Level	Strategy & Selection Reason
Gold (XAU/USD)	Long	$4,385 (near support)	Pivot & Fibonacci Levels: Price bouncing from the identified key support level around $4,378, aligning with Fibonacci retracement levels for a potential upward move.
Gold (XAU/USD)	Short	$4,490 (near resistance)	Pivot & Fibonacci Levels: Price testing and rejecting the strong resistance zone between $4,482-$4,514, potentially forming a double top or bearish reversal.
WTI Crude Oil	Long	$92.30 (Breakout)	Pivot & Fibonacci Levels: Breaking above a key pivot resistance level (e.g., R1) and showing sustained momentum, supported by geopolitical supply concerns.
WTI Crude Oil	Short	$93.80 (Rejection)	Pivot & Fibonacci Levels: Rejection from a significant Fibonacci extension level or a higher pivot point, indicating exhaustion of bullish momentum and potential for price pullback.

5. FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Current Price / Level	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD (Short-Term)	Long	1.1510 (near 100-day MA)	Key Moving Average Support: Price finding support at or near the 100-day Moving Average, which has acted as a downside containment previously, within its current neutral/rangy context.
EUR/USD (Short-Term)	Short	1.1700 (near resistance)	Resistance Rejection: Price approaching and failing to break above a significant resistance level at 1.1710, indicating potential for a reversal or continuation of range-bound movement.
GBP/USD (Short-Term)	Long	1.3360 (potential support)	Technical Support Bounce: Price showing signs of bouncing from a short-term support level (e.g., 1.3350) after recent declines, in anticipation of European macroeconomic data.
GBP/USD (Short-Term)	Short	1.3540 (near resistance)	Resistance & USD Strength: Price struggling near the 1.3500 handle and facing rejection from a key resistance level, exacerbated by a modest USD uptick and mixed technical signals.
USD/JPY (Macro Carry Swing)	Long	158.20 (Breakout)	Interest Rate Differential & Trend: Sustained breakout above recent resistance driven by continued interest rate divergence between the US and Japan, favoring long USD carry trades.
AUD/USD (Macro Carry Swing)	Short	0.6480 (Rejection)	Global Risk-Off & Commodity Weakness: Price rejecting a short-term resistance level, indicative of broader risk-off sentiment globally and potential weakness in commodity prices impacting the Australian Dollar.

6. INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Index	Direction	Strike Price / Level	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50	Long (Call)	Nifty > 23900 (15-min ORB)	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB): Buying Nifty 50 Call option if the index breaks decisively above its 15-minute opening range high, signaling intraday bullish momentum.
Nifty 50	Short (Put)	Nifty < 23800 (15-min ORB)	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB): Buying Nifty 50 Put option if the index breaks decisively below its 15-minute opening range low, indicating intraday bearish momentum.
