Session Highlight: 🇺🇸 New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

📰 SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- US Federal Reserve: The Federal Reserve raised interest rates by a quarter percentage point in September, pushing the target range for the federal funds rate to 3.75%-4.00%. This unanimous decision included signals for a potential additional 25 basis point hike in 2026. Fed Chair Kevin Warsh underscored the Fed's commitment to achieving price stability amidst persistent inflation, while also revising economic growth expectations for 2026 and 2027 upwards.
- Other Central Banks: The Bank of England maintained its policy rate at 3.75% as widely anticipated. The Reserve Bank of Australia's Governor Bullock highlighted supply shocks and secondary inflation effects as significant challenges. The South African Reserve Bank is expected to implement a 25 basis point rate hike this Wednesday.
- Geopolitical & Trade Developments: A critical meeting between US President Trump and Chinese President Xi Jinping is scheduled for this week, with anticipation of an extension to the US-China trade truce. Discussions are expected to cover artificial intelligence, trade, and investment. Diplomatic efforts are also underway concerning US-Iran relations, with President Trump indicating openness to meeting Iranian President Pezeshkian. Concurrently, increased Saudi oil loadings and robust US oil and gas shipments from Hormuz have contributed to downward pressure on oil prices.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street Pre-Market: US equity futures are showing strength, with SPY, QQQ, and DIA all reflecting positive pre-market activity. Mega-cap technology stocks are exhibiting robust performance. Semiconductor shares are leading pre-market gains, driven by optimistic supplier guidance.
- Mega-Cap US Stocks:
 - NVIDIA (NVDA): Showing significant pre-market gains (up approximately $5) and exiting an oversold condition, fueled by strong AI sector sentiment. Reports indicate NVIDIA is in talks to potentially anchor Anthropic's upcoming IPO with an investment up to $10 billion.
 - Microsoft (MSFT): Also up approximately $5 in pre-market, signaling renewed buyer interest. The stock maintains strong support near the $477.31 level and is targeting the $515 resistance.
 - Tesla (TSLA): Expected to open higher in pre-market due to increased risk appetite. However, recent news of Elon Musk announcing the new Roadster unveiling in October 1 has coincided with a 2% pre-market dip, as traders weigh near-term execution against a bullish $840 price target for autonomous trucking. The 200-day EMA at $379.11 is a key resistance level.
- AI Catalysts: AI-driven growth continues to be a primary market driver. Meta Platforms experienced a 12% surge in shares, propelled by strong options trading volume and excitement around its new AI personal assistant, Muse. Nvidia's advancements in AI CPUs are repositioning the semiconductor market. Despite this, some bond market participants are exercising caution with AI-related corporate debt due to the high volume and unpredictable nature of financing requirements.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Market Performance: Indian markets have presented mixed signals. The Sensex recently rose 110 points, with the Nifty closing above 23,450, supported by cooling oil prices and bond yields. Conversely, the Sensex later declined over 200 points, pushing the Nifty below 23,400, primarily due to weakness in IT stocks.
- Corporate Earnings & IPOs: Milky Mist Dairy Food reported strong Q1 growth, leading to a 10% surge in its shares. Zerodha's FY26 net profit increased by 1.2%. Mid- and small-cap stocks are generally seeing momentum from robust earnings. The National Stock Exchange (NSE) IPO was heavily oversubscribed (5.7x), raising $2.3 billion, indicative of rising retail participation in India's capital markets.
- Institutional Flows & Sectoral Momentum: Private sector banks are considered to be nearing their bottom, presenting an attractive investment opportunity due to improving fundamentals and liquidity. Mid-cap and small-cap segments maintain a constructive long-term outlook, bolstered by healthy liquidity and manageable leverage.
- Rupee Depreciation: The Indian government has expressed concerns over the depreciation of the Rupee, which is currently trading around 95.8050 per dollar.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil: Crude oil prices have experienced recent volatility. Earlier this week, WTI fell to $96 per barrel, then to around $101 following reports of potential additional supply from Saudi Arabia. Brent crude has also seen a decline, falling below $100 from $110 last week. However, supply concerns have also led to oil extending gains in some European energy names. Hopes for Middle East diplomatic progress are easing supply disruption worries.
- Gold (XAU/USD): Gold is maintaining its strength despite a firm US Dollar and the hawkish stance of the Federal Reserve. A potential short-term dollar pullback could provide an opportunity for gold to rebound.
- Crypto: The cryptocurrency market is a notable outperformer, with Bitcoin (BTC) and Ethereum (ETH) experiencing significant rallies. Bitcoin surged past its $82.5K resistance level and is now trading above $85K, marking its highest point since late January, largely attributed to a substantial short squeeze. Bitcoin mining and AI infrastructure stocks are also rallying.

 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & LEVEL EXECUTION MANUAL

Note: Ticker selection is illustrative, based on today's news digest and strategic considerations, as direct real-time technical screening is not feasible without live market data feeds and analytical tools.

1. INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Zone	Target / Stop Loss
HDFC Bank (Illustrative)	Long	Nifty leader, identified from news as potentially near a bottom with improving fundamentals and liquidity. Apply 50-SMA support bounce strategy for entry.	Entry near 50-SMA (requires live chart)	Target: Recent swing high / SL: Below 50-SMA support
Meesho (Illustrative)	Long	Mid-cap stock showing strong recent performance (+12% rally post-UBS hike) and benefiting from improving earnings momentum in the small/mid-cap segment. Potential for a High Relative Volume breakout.	Entry on pullback to support after breakout	Target: Further upside / SL: Below breakout base

2. US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Zone	Target / Stop Loss
NVIDIA (NVDA)	Long	Mega-cap growth leader with strong pre-market gains and ongoing AI catalyst. Look for a 21-day EMA pullback as a dip-buying opportunity to join the upward momentum.	Entry near 21-day EMA (e.g., ~$220-222 area)	Target: New high / SL: Below 21-day EMA support
Microsoft (MSFT)	Long	Mega-cap growth leader with positive pre-market action and strong support. Employ a 21-day EMA pullback strategy for entry.	Entry near 21-day EMA (e.g., ~$498-500 area)	Target: $515 resistance / SL: Below 21-day EMA
Tesla (TSLA)	Bi-directional	Experienced a pre-market dip despite positive Roadster news, with the 200-day EMA ($379.11) acting as a critical barrier. Could present a short opportunity if rejected from this level, or a long opportunity upon a decisive break above with significant volume.	Long: Break above $379.11 with volume; Short: Rejection at $379.11	Long Target: New high; Short Target: Recent low / SL: Opposite side of break/rejection

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Zone	Target / Stop Loss
Core Scientific (CORZ) (Illustrative)	Long	Bitcoin mining and AI infrastructure stock benefiting from a sector-wide rally as Bitcoin reclaims the $80,000 level. Utilize a High Relative Volume breakout strategy.	Entry on breakout above recent resistance with RVOL > 2.0	Target: Price extension / SL: Below breakout level

3. CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Zone	Target / Stop Loss
Bitcoin (BTC/USD)	Long	Strong upward momentum, ripping above $85K for the first time since late January, driven by a significant short squeeze. Apply a 4H 21-EMA trend following strategy.	Entry on 4H 21-EMA touch or bounce during an uptrend	Target: Resistance / SL: Below 4H 21-EMA
Ethereum (ETH/USD)	Long	Following Bitcoin's strong rally, suggesting potential for further gains. Employ a high-volume volatility breakout strategy.	Entry on breakout of key resistance with strong volume	Target: Next resistance level / SL: Below breakout level

4. COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Zone	Target / Stop Loss
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	Bi-directional	High volatility influenced by geopolitical news (US-Iran talks, Saudi supply reports) and recent price swings below $100. Trade using Pivot and Fibonacci extension levels.	Long: Bounce from S1/S2 Fibonacci pivot; Short: Rejection at R1/R2 Fibonacci pivot	Target: Next pivot/Fib level / SL: Beyond pivot level
Gold (XAU/USD)	Bi-directional	Holding firm despite a strong US Dollar, with potential for a rebound if the dollar pulls back. Trade using Pivot and Fibonacci extension levels.	Long: Bounce from S1/S2 Fibonacci pivot; Short: Rejection at R1/R2 Fibonacci pivot	Target: Next pivot/Fib level / SL: Beyond pivot level

5. FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Zone	Target / Stop Loss
USD/JPY (Carry Swing)	Long	Favorable conditions for a carry trade due to the hawkish Fed stance, strong USD outlook, and interest rate differentials. Recommended 2x-3x leverage for swing trading.	Entry on pullback to minor support levels	Target: Resistance levels / SL: Below strong support
EUR/USD (Short-Term)	Bi-directional	Subject to short-term volatility driven by central bank divergence (hawkish Fed vs. ECB actions like 'Pontes' for tokenized assets).	Entry on 15-min chart based on trend direction, using support/resistance.	Target: Intraday levels / SL: Tight, beyond immediate S/R
GBP/USD (Short-Term)	Bi-directional	Influenced by the Bank of England holding rates and views on weak UK growth, leading to short-term volatility.	Entry on 15-min chart based on trend direction, using support/resistance.	Target: Intraday levels / SL: Tight, beyond immediate S/R

6. INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Zone	Target / Stop Loss
Nifty 50 Index Options	Bi-directional	Intraday strategy: 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB). Purchase Call options for a long position, and Put options for a short position.	Long: Break above ORB High; Short: Break below ORB Low	Target: 1.5x - 2x ORB range / SL: Opposite side of ORB
BankNifty Index Options	Bi-directional	Intraday strategy: 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB). Purchase Call options for a long position, and Put options for a short position.	Long: Break above ORB High; Short: Break below ORB Low	Target: 1.5x - 2x ORB range / SL: Opposite side of ORB
