Daily Multi-Asset Trading Blueprint & Level Execution Manual

Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2026

Session Highlight: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meets on July 28–29, with the highly anticipated interest rate decision announced today at 2:00 p.m. ET, followed by Chair Kevin Warsh's press conference at 2:30 p.m. ET. Markets are pricing in around a 31% probability of a rate hike, with most expecting the Federal Reserve to leave interest rates unchanged but closely scrutinizing the accompanying statement for guidance on future policy. However, some forecasts, like CME FedWatch, show a 70.6% likelihood of rates remaining unchanged. There is genuine uncertainty as to what will happen with interest rates, with the Fed dot plot showing a clear split among members regarding future policy.
- The US 2-year Treasury yield declined 4.2 basis points to 4.280%, while the 10-year yield eased 4.2 basis points to 4.606%, as investors reduced expectations of a surprise rate increase. The US Dollar Index slipped 0.14% to 101.39 against major currencies due to the softer interest rate outlook.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) policy-rate expectations shifted lower, with markets still pricing two ECB hikes, the first expected in September.
- The Central Bank of Uzbekistan maintained its key policy rate at 14% per annum, with headline inflation accelerating to 6.4% year-on-year in June.

2. US & European Markets

- US equity markets saw a mixed performance overnight, with the Dow Jones rising 1.03% to 52,747 and the S&P 500 edging 0.21% higher to 7,428, while the technology-heavy Nasdaq slipped 0.22% to 24,876. S&P 500 futures were modestly higher early Wednesday, climbing 0.18%, with traders expecting the S&P 500 to open higher ahead of the Fed decision and major tech earnings.
- Semiconductor stocks continued to face pressure, with a broad sell-off across Asian chipmakers extending to the US, fueled by concerns over AI spending, rising competition from China, and SK Hynix's quarterly results falling short of expectations. Nvidia (NVDA) inched higher in pre-market trading, rebounding after three straight days of losses, with Cathie Wood buying the dip. Micron Technology (MU), Advanced Micro Devices (AMD), Intel (INTC), and SanDisk (SNDK) traded lower in pre-market.
- Microsoft (MSFT) is set to report Q4 fiscal 2026 earnings after market close today, with expectations of continued strong performance. Other key earnings today include Meta Platforms (META), The Procter & Gamble Company (PG), and Qualcomm (QCOM). Apple (AAPL) hit a session high of US$342.89 on Tuesday, briefly lifting its market value to US$5 trillion.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity benchmark indices, the Sensex and Nifty, opened strong on Wednesday, July 29, with the Sensex jumping 657.85 points (0.85%) to 77,423.77 and the Nifty gaining 191.3 points to open at 24,176.65. GIFT Nifty futures surged 135 points to 24,235, indicating a positive start amid mixed Asian cues.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) bought shares worth ₹755 crore on Tuesday, while Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) bought stocks worth ₹1,664 crore, signaling institutional consensus.
- IT and services recovery is a key theme, with Nifty IT up 3.2% on Tuesday, its sharpest session in months. Asian Paints is showing improving short-term momentum, trading above its 20-EMA and 50-EMA.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil dropped 4.06% to US$79.26 per barrel on Tuesday, extending losses to fresh two-week lows, as optimism grew for diplomatic negotiations between the US and Iran. However, WTI crude rebounded by over 3% in early trading today, reaching around $81.95, following an unexpected drawdown in U.S. commercial crude oil inventories and reports of potential OPEC+ production cut extensions. Geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, including US-Iran feuds and strikes in Iraq, continue to influence oil prices, with fresh supply concerns in the Strait of Hormuz lifting the geopolitical risk premium.
- Gold also weakened, falling 1.18% to US$4,027.12 per ounce, as demand for traditional safe-haven assets eased, and investors awaited the Federal Reserve meeting outcome. Gold is currently trading in a narrow range around $4,029 an ounce, pressured by a higher dollar and firm real yields, but cushioned by Middle East tensions. Central bank demand for gold, particularly from emerging markets, remains a supportive long-term factor.
- Bitcoin (BTC) was trading 1.39% higher at $64,305.37 per coin over the last 24 hours.
- Japan has integrated XRP into its banking infrastructure over the last decade, gaining a lead in crypto payments with clear regulations. The EU's Markets in Crypto-Assets Regulation (MiCA) came into force in June 2023, with implementing measures being developed. Crypto holders in Maine face a July 29 deadline due to conflicts in the state's new unclaimed-property law regarding virtual currency abandonment.
