Date: Friday, September 18, 2026

Current Session:  London Session Pre-Open Briefing (08:33 AM UTC)

Session News Focus: European macroeconomic releases, ECB/BOE news, Forex short-term futures (EUR/USD, GBP/USD), and Gold (XAU/USD) supply/demand zones.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- Federal Reserve (US): The Federal Reserve hiked interest rates by 25 basis points for the first time in three years. The Fed's stance was hawkish, with policymakers signalling further tightening to curb inflation, although Treasury yields fell after the hike. The 10-year Treasury yield slid below 5%.
- European Central Bank (ECB): The ECB raised its key interest rates by 25 basis points, effective September 16, 2026, bringing the deposit facility rate to 2.50%. The inflation outlook for 2026 remains unchanged, but expectations for 2027 and 2028 are rising, with economic growth forecasts also revised upwards. However, ECB Vice President Boris Vujcic cautioned against over-reliance on energy prices as the sole driver for future rate hikes, emphasizing a broader data assessment.
- Bank of England (BoE): The BoE maintained its rates at 3.75% but issued a warning that rates could increase if Middle East tensions escalate and fuel inflation. Significant adjustments to its Quantitative Tightening (QT) program were announced, including a six-month pause on active gilt sales and a complete halt to the sale of long-dated gilts. UK inflation rose to 3.1% year-on-year in August.
- Bank of Japan (BoJ): The BoJ raised its policy rate by 25 basis points to 1.25%, marking its highest level since 1995. Despite the hike, the monetary policy statement was perceived as less hawkish due to a 7-2 vote margin, leading to a sharp sell-off in the Japanese Yen (JPY).

2. US & European Markets

- US Markets: US stock index futures saw a slight decline on Friday morning, following strong gains on Wall Street the previous day. Technology and chipmaking stocks were notable performers, rebounding from earlier losses. The S&P 500 futures and Nasdaq 100 futures dipped marginally in early trading.
- European Markets: European equities experienced a modest pullback on Friday, after recording their strongest daily surge in over two months, but are still poised for their first weekly gain in three weeks. Investors are drawing confidence from the Federal Reserve's commitment to combat inflation. European equities demonstrated a strong performance in the first half of 2026, boosted by improved earnings, global AI investments, profitable banking sectors, increased public spending, and a significant reversal in oil prices. Defence and infrastructure sectors particularly supported European stock markets.
- Semiconductor Developments: Chipmaker stocks, including Micron, Nvidia, Intel, and AMD, exhibited strong buying momentum, leading the gains in the US market.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Sensex/Nifty Updates: Indian equity benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty, opened and traded higher on Friday. This positive momentum was driven by supportive global cues, easing crude oil prices, and opportunistic buying, even amidst ongoing geopolitical tensions and sustained selling by Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs).
- Sectoral Momentum: The Nifty Realty sector was a prominent gainer, while the Nifty IT index emerged as the top underperformer. Most other broader indices traded in positive territory during early trading.
- FII/DII Institutional Flows: Foreign Institutional Investors continued their selling streak, offloading shares worth ₹3,208.76 crore on September 17. Conversely, Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) provided crucial market support by purchasing shares worth ₹3,617.75 crore.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- Crude Oil Geopolitics & OPEC+ Updates: Crude oil prices fell for a third consecutive session on Friday, though remaining above the $100 per barrel mark. This decline was attributed to receding fears of supply disruptions after reports indicated Saudi Arabia could utilize alternative export routes and was working to restore pipeline capacity. WTI crude futures were around $100.88-$101 a barrel, and Brent crude futures were around $103.70-$104 a barrel. However, geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, including Houthi strikes and an oil tanker incident in the Strait of Hormuz, are still providing a floor to prices.
- Gold (XAU/USD) Supply/Demand Drivers: Gold is currently trading around $4366.41 and is expected to move within the $4254.97-$4376.04 range. It is attempting a recovery following the Fed's rate hike, though a hawkish outlook from the Fed presents a bearish near-term bias. The recent easing in oil prices has offered some relief to gold. Long-term demand for gold is underpinned by ongoing fiscal risks and geopolitical uncertainties. Gold has shown signs of relieving negative pressure after breaching a short-term bearish trend line and surpassing the EMA50 resistance. The 4,300 support level is identified as a critical point. The Relative Strength Index (RSI) is also supporting a bullish structure for gold.
- Major Crypto Regulatory/Adoption Headlines: The global cryptocurrency market capitalization surged by 1.1% over the past 24 hours, with Bitcoin maintaining a strong dominance at 57%. Bitcoin rose to $77,560.9, recouping most of its weekly losses, driven by encouraging regulatory developments from the SEC and supported by falling oil prices and Treasury yields. Bitcoin's price at $76,770 exhibits a bullish near-term bias, trading comfortably above its key Exponential Moving Averages (EMAs). The crypto derivatives market is evolving, with options playing an increasingly significant role in risk management and pricing. The XRP Ledger recently received a major software upgrade designed to enhance its efficiency and stability.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & LEVEL EXECUTION MANUAL

(Note: Ticker selections are illustrative based on today's news and strategy criteria, as real-time live screening is not possible.)

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Entry Zone	Target	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
DLF (Hypothetical)	Long	50-SMA Support (Illustrative: ~₹850)	₹880	₹835	Nifty Realty led sectoral rally today. DLF (or similar strong realty stock) chosen hypothetically for a 50-SMA support bounce within Nifty leaders, indicating underlying strength.
Reliance Industries (Hypothetical)	Long	20/50 EMA Golden Cross (Illustrative: ~₹2900)	₹2950	₹2875	Nifty opened higher. A Nifty heavyweight showing a bullish Golden Cross (20-EMA crossing above 50-EMA), indicating renewed upward momentum after recent consolidation.

US EQUITIES

Ticker	Direction	Entry Zone	Target	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)
NVIDIA (NVDA) (Hypothetical)	Long	21-day EMA Pullback (Illustrative: ~$1200)	$1250	$1175	Mega-cap tech and chipmaking stocks rallied strongly after recent losses. A pullback to the 21-day EMA offers a potential entry for continuation of the upward trend in this growth leader.
Alphabet (GOOGL) (Hypothetical)	Short	50-day SMA Rejection (Illustrative: ~$170)	$165	$172.50	Wall Street futures showed slight softening. Hypothetically, if a mega-cap growth stock faces rejection at its 50-day SMA, it could signal a short-term bearish reversal.
Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)
RBLX (Roblox) (Hypothetical)	Long	Stage-2 VCP Breakout (Illustrative: ~$45)	$48	$43.50	Risk appetite improved slightly for US markets. A mid-cap stock showing a Volume Contraction Pattern (VCP) breakout from a Stage 2 base indicates potential for significant upward movement.
SMCI (Super Micro Computer) (Hypothetical)	Long	High Relative Volume Breakout (RVOL > 2.0) (Illustrative: ~$950)	$990	$930	Chipmakers were strong performers. A small-cap tech stock exhibiting a high Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) breakout, signalling strong institutional interest and momentum.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Entry Zone	Target	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC/USD	Long	76,500 - 77,000 (after 4H 21-EMA bounce)	78,500	75,800	Bitcoin rose to $77.5k and holds a bullish near-term bias above key EMAs, with global crypto market cap surging. Trend following the 4H 21-EMA, anticipating continuation.
ETH/USD	Long	4,500 - 4,550 (high volume volatility breakout)	4,700	4,400	Ethereum options market active, indicating growing sophistication. Looking for a high-volume breakout after consolidation, aligning with overall positive crypto sentiment.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Entry Zone	Target	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
XAU/USD (Gold)	Long	4300 Pivot Support (Illustrative: after bounce)	4370 (Fib Extension)	4285	Gold is attempting to recover after Fed hike, with 4300 identified as a key support level. RSI also supporting a bullish structure. Looking for a bounce off pivotal support.
WTI Crude Oil	Short	101.50 - 102.00 (rejection of resistance)	99.50 (Fib Extension)	102.75	Oil prices fell for a third consecutive day due to easing supply concerns, despite Middle East tensions. Seeking short entry on rejection from short-term resistance levels, anticipating further decline.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Entry Zone	Target	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
Short-Term Futures
EUR/USD	Short	1.1490 (Key Resistance Rejection)	1.1420	1.1520	ECB cooled rate hike bets, while USD remains firm after hawkish Fed. EUR/USD is holding lower after stability at 1.1490 key resistance.
GBP/USD	Short	1.3500 (Trendline Resistance)	1.3425 (200 EMA)	1.3530	BoE warned of rate hikes but eased QT, UK inflation rose. USD strength after Fed hike. GBP/USD trades below 50 EMA, testing support around 1.3470. Looking for rejection at a potential resistance zone.
Macro Carry Swings
USD/JPY	Long	156.50 - 157.00 (on JPY weakness)	158.00	156.00	BoJ hiked rates but less hawkish than expected, triggering a sharp sell-off in JPY. This provides a strong setup for a long USD/JPY carry trade.
AUD/USD	Long	0.6650 (Key Support Retest)	0.6720	0.6620	Asian stocks rose, with Indian markets up partly due to easing crude prices and global cues. China data important for AUD/USD risk sentiment. Seeking long on retest of support if positive sentiment holds.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Instrument	Entry Logic	Target	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 Index Options	Call/Put (Intraday)	15-Min Opening Range Breakout (ORB)	Defined by ORB extension	Below/Above ORB	Indian markets opened higher. This strategy capitalizes on initial market momentum post-open. Buy Call if Nifty breaks above 15-min opening high, Buy Put if breaks below 15-min opening low. Strict intraday risk management.
BankNifty Index Options	Call/Put (Intraday)	15-Min Opening Range Breakout (ORB)	Defined by ORB extension	Below/Above ORB	Bank Nifty also traded in positive territory in early trading. Similar to Nifty, this strategy leverages volatility and directionality after the initial 15-minute trading range is established.
