CURRENT SESSION HIGHLIGHT: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

SESSION NEWS FOCUS: Focus heavily on Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- Geopolitical tensions escalated significantly with renewed military exchanges between the U.S. and Iran, including U.S. strikes on Iranian rocket launchers and Iranian retaliation against American airbases in Jordan. This conflict has fueled inflation fears and driven oil prices higher.
- Federal Reserve Chairman Kevin Warsh delivered a hawkish message at the Jackson Hole Symposium, emphasizing the Fed's commitment to tackling persistent inflation and hinting at potential interest rate hikes in the coming months.
- Markets are now pricing in a nearly 60% probability of a September Fed rate hike, up from 35-40% before Warsh's speech, leading to elevated U.S. Treasury yields and a stronger U.S. Dollar.
- The euro was slightly firmer against the dollar but had slipped after Warsh's speech. Data on EU inflation this week is expected to cement market pricing for another hike from the European Central Bank (ECB) at its September 10 meeting.

2. US & European Markets

- U.S. stock futures edged lower in pre-market trading, reflecting investor concerns over the escalating U.S.-Iran conflict and the hawkish stance from the Federal Reserve.
- Despite a strong August, Wall Street is bracing for a potentially weak September, historically a challenging month for equities.
- Mega-cap tech stocks like NVIDIA (NVDA) experienced a 4.5% drop on Friday, dragging down the Nasdaq Composite, which fell 0.52%. Tesla (TSLA) was also down in pre-market trading.
- The S&P 500's cyclically adjusted price-to-earnings (CAPE) ratio of 40.6 in July, the highest since September 2000, raises concerns about current market valuations.
- In Europe, German yields rose to multi-year highs following Warsh's comments.
- Aon announced a $17 billion deal to acquire rival USI Insurance Services, highlighting consolidation in the middle-market insurance segment.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity benchmarks, Sensex and Nifty 50, opened lower on Monday, trading in the red amid cautious global cues and the escalation of the U.S.-Iran conflict.
- The Nifty 50 traded below the 24,100 mark, with selling pressure dragging it to an intraday low of 23,993.60.
- Despite the weakness in frontline indices, the broader market, including Nifty Smallcap and Midcap indices, showed resilience and reached fresh record highs last week.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) were net sellers of Indian equities worth Rs 5,039.80 crore on August 28, 2026, while Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) were net buyers.
- The Indian Rupee pared initial losses to settle higher against the US dollar, possibly due to intervention by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI).
- Clean Max Enviro Energy Solutions shares gained over 4% after Nomura initiated coverage with a "Buy" rating. HDFC Bank is in focus due to news that Sashidar Jagadishan will not be seeking re-appointment as MD & CEO.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil and Brent crude prices surged, with Brent rising 2.86% to $92.46 and WTI gaining 3.12% to $86.53 a barrel, driven by renewed Middle East tensions and concerns over supply disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz.
- Gold prices fell to their lowest in nearly two weeks, trading around $4,438-$4,445 per ounce, as the hawkish Fed outlook and higher interest rate expectations outweighed safe-haven demand from geopolitical concerns.
- Bitcoin traded near $77,800, surrendering the $80,000 level after Fed Chair Warsh's hawkish remarks. Most crypto stocks, however, showed slight gains.
- Discussions at Jackson Hole included the potential "dystopian" impact of AI on financial markets, raising concerns about AI-driven market manipulation and the need for central banks to rethink transparency.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
CLEANMAX.NS	Long	Nifty leader demonstrating a 20/50 EMA Golden Cross on the daily chart, further supported by recent "Buy" initiation and positive outlook from Nomura, indicating strong institutional interest and growth potential in the renewable energy sector.
HDFCBANK.NS	Long	Showing a bounce from 50-SMA support on the daily chart after recent volatility. Despite leadership news, analysts expect limited derating, suggesting resilience and potential for recovery.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
MSFT	Long	Mega-cap growth leader pulling back to its 21-day EMA. Given strong underlying fundamentals and institutional buying during dips, this represents a potential bounce play after initial market weakness due to Fed hawkishness.
TSLA	Short	Mega-cap growth stock showing a rejection from its 50-day SMA in pre-market trading, coupled with broader market risk-off sentiment and vulnerability to higher interest rates, indicating potential for further downside.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
QNRX	Long	Small-cap showing high Relative Volume (> 2.0) breakout in pre-market, indicative of strong speculative interest and potential for Stage-2 base breakout on the daily chart.
ANIK	Long	Mid-cap exhibiting strong pre-market gains (+34.35%) with significant volume, suggesting a potential high-volume volatility breakout.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC/USD	Short	Bitcoin failed to hold the $80,000 level after hawkish Fed remarks, breaking below its 4H 21-EMA with significant selling volume. This suggests a continuation of the short-term downtrend.
ETH/USD	Long	Ethereum showing signs of consolidating above a key 4H support level. A high-volume volatility breakout attempt above the 4H 21-EMA could signal a reversal from the recent weakness.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	Long	Strong geopolitical catalysts with U.S.-Iran tensions driving supply disruption fears, pushing WTI significantly higher. Looking for long entries on pullbacks to key Fibonacci support levels after recent surge.
Gold (XAU/USD)	Short	Hawkish Fed outlook and rising rate hike probabilities are exerting strong downward pressure on gold, despite geopolitical risks. Targeting short positions at Fibonacci resistance levels or pivot point rejections.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Short	U.S. Dollar strength post-Jackson Hole and anticipation of further Fed hawkishness outweighs modest ECB hike expectations. Looking for short opportunities on bounces to resistance, trading Fibonacci levels.
GBP/USD	Short	Similar to EUR/USD, the pair is expected to face headwinds from a stronger USD and elevated U.S. Treasury yields. Short bias on rallies towards key resistance.

Macro Carry Swings

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
USD/JPY	Long	Significant divergence in monetary policy expectations between the hawkish Fed and the still dovish Bank of Japan, combined with rising U.S. yields, makes USD/JPY an attractive long carry trade. The pair briefly traded above 160.00.
AUD/USD	Short	Vulnerable to the hawkish Fed stance and stronger U.S. Dollar, with its recent rally put at risk by Warsh's comments. Short bias, anticipating further depreciation.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
NIFTY 50 (Index Options)	Put (Short)	Indian markets opened lower, and Nifty 50 slipped below key levels. A 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) to the downside, confirming continued selling pressure, offers a high-probability Put option entry.
BANKNIFTY (Index Options)	Put (Short)	BankNifty also showed early weakness, trading lower. A confirmed 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) below the opening low would trigger a Put option entry, aligning with the broader market's cautious sentiment.
