Session News Focus: Heavy emphasis on Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve is widely anticipated to raise its benchmark interest rate by 25 basis points today, marking the first hike in over three years. This move is largely driven by persistent inflation, with the Consumer Price Index (CPI) recorded at 3.4% in August, well above the Fed's 2% target, and elevated energy prices. Fed Chair Kevin Warsh is expected to address a press conference following the announcement.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) raised its three key interest rates by 25 basis points on September 10, bringing the deposit facility rate to 2.50%. The ECB cited ongoing inflation pressures stemming from the Middle East conflict and revised up its inflation projections for 2027 and 2028.
- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) maintained its repo rate unchanged at 5.25% in June. The RBI is currently focused on establishing a digital payments intelligence platform to combat rising cyber-fraud instances and manage banking system liquidity.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street futures are showing mixed sentiment ahead of the crucial Fed rate decision. US stocks edged higher on Wednesday after days of losses fueled by rising oil prices and higher bond yields.
- Mega-cap tech stocks, including NVIDIA (NVDA), Microsoft (MSFT), and Tesla (TSLA), will be under scrutiny. Semiconductor news indicates SK Hynix is reportedly discussing US memory chip manufacturing with Intel, and Chinese quartz has been approved for semiconductor equipment and DRAM manufacturing. However, fears of an AI slowdown have recently impacted chipmakers.
- European markets are navigating the ECB's recent rate hike and inflation concerns. The euro area economy has shown greater-than-expected resilience, leading to an upward revision in economic growth projections for 2026 and 2027.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- The Indian equity market has seen a mixed trend, with Sensex and Nifty showing some recovery after previous declines. The Nifty 50 closed above 23,200 points on September 15.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) have been net sellers in the Indian cash market in September, with a net outflow of around ₹2,032.61 Crores on September 16, 2026. Conversely, Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) have been consistent net buyers, indicating strong domestic support, with a net inflow of +₹3,908.23 Crores on September 16, 2026.
- Banking stocks have recently supported market rebounds.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil futures are retreating, sliding 2.3% today. This decline is attributed to a hawkish Federal Reserve policy decision bolstering the US dollar, fading geopolitical risk premium, and an unexpected build in US crude inventories, despite ongoing Middle East tensions and concerns over the Strait of Hormuz. OPEC+ had planned a 188,000 bpd oil output hike for September.
- Gold prices are reacting to the Federal Reserve's anticipated rate hike, with a stronger US dollar typically putting downward pressure on the yellow metal.
- In the crypto space, efforts to establish a comprehensive regulatory framework in the US faced a setback. The "Clarity Act," aimed at splitting oversight between the SEC and CFTC, was blocked by Senate Democrats, citing concerns over President Trump's crypto investments and the extent of CFTC's control. Despite regulatory hurdles, global crypto adoption surged by 12.4% in 2025, reaching 741 million holders, driven partly by ETFs and clearer US regulations.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Current Action	Strategy & Selection Reason
Reliance Industries (RIL)	Long	Nifty Leader identified showing a strong bounce from its 50-SMA support on the daily chart, indicating sustained bullish momentum in line with the broader market's recovery.
HDFC Bank (HDFCBANK)	Long	Demonstrating a bullish 20/50 EMA golden cross on the daily timeframe, reflecting a shift to an uptrend and strong institutional buying interest (DII support evident).

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Action	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVIDIA (NVDA)	Monitor for Short / Long	Currently positioned for a potential 50-day SMA rejection after a recent rally. A confirmed rejection could trigger a short entry, while a break and hold above suggests continued strength and a potential long entry on a pullback to the 21-day EMA. Focus on pre-market volatility due to semiconductor news.
Microsoft (MSFT)	Monitor for Long	Observing a pullback to the 21-day EMA on the daily chart. A bounce and bullish candle formation from this level would confirm a long entry, targeting new highs.
Tesla (TSLA)	Monitor for Short / Long	Displaying high volatility. A decisive break below its 50-day SMA could initiate a short position. Conversely, a strong rebound and consolidation above the 21-day EMA could signal a long opportunity for a retest of resistance.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Current Action	Strategy & Selection Reason
Hypothetical Mid-Cap A	Long	Identified as forming a Stage-2 Volatility Contraction Pattern (VCP) with decreasing volume during contractions, suggesting accumulation and readiness for a breakout above resistance.
Hypothetical Small-Cap B	Long	Exhibiting high Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) on a breakout above a key resistance level, indicating strong institutional interest and potential for continuation.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Action	Strategy & Selection Reason
Bitcoin (BTC/USD)	Bi-directional	Following the 4H 21-EMA trend. A clear break and close above the EMA with high volume suggests a long, while a break below implies a short, especially with current regulatory uncertainties.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Action	Strategy & Selection Reason
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	Monitor for Short	Currently pulling back, testing key pivot support levels. A break below Pivot S1 ($97.50) could target Fibonacci extension levels (e.g., 1.272 at $96.00) for a short entry. Renewed geopolitical risk or demand signals could reverse to a long.
Gold (XAU/USD)	Monitor for Short	Facing pressure from a hawkish Fed. A break below the daily pivot point ($1920) could lead to a test of Fibonacci retracement levels (e.g., 38.2% at $1905) for a short entry. A weaker USD or safe-haven demand could trigger a long from support.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term

Ticker	Current Action	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Short bias	Stronger USD expected post-Fed hike. Looking for a break below recent support levels, targeting 1.0550, with a stop above intraday resistance.
GBP/USD	Short bias	Similar to EUR/USD, the hawkish Fed policy is likely to strengthen the dollar. Targeting a move towards 1.2100, with tight risk management.

Macro Carry Swings

Ticker	Current Action	Strategy & Selection Reason
USD/JPY	Long bias	Potential for carry trade as US rates rise. Looking for sustained strength above 148.00, targeting 150.00, capitalizing on interest rate differentials.
AUD/USD	Short bias	Susceptible to global risk-off sentiment and a stronger USD. Looking for continued weakness below 0.6450, targeting 0.6300, as risk appetite wanes.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Action	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 Options	Bi-directional	Implementing a 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) strategy. Buy Call options if Nifty breaks above the opening range high (first 15 minutes) with conviction. Buy Put options if Nifty breaks below the opening range low with conviction. Strict stop-loss at the opposite end of the breakout.
