SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- US Federal Reserve: Cleveland Fed President Beth Hammack reiterated her hawkish stance, stating it's "time to act" on inflation, pushing September rate hike odds above 60% following strong August jobs data. The Fed has entered its quiet period ahead of the September 15-16 FOMC meeting.
- Inflation Concerns: Strong US jobs data (162,000 nonfarm payrolls, 4.1% unemployment) is fueling expectations of further Fed tightening. The upcoming CPI report on Friday, September 11, will be critical for the Fed's decision.
- European Central Bank (ECB): The ECB is widely expected to raise its deposit rate by 25 basis points this week, driven by resilient Q3 activity, elevated headline inflation, and contained wage growth.
- Japanese Yen (JPY): The JPY has strengthened, hitting its highest level since May, supported by growing Bank of Japan (BOJ) hike expectations and suspected intervention after a record drop in FX reserves in August.
- China: China's exports are expected to have grown at a faster pace in August (25% year-on-year), indicating continued reliance on external demand amid domestic weaknesses.

2. US & European Markets

- US Stock Futures: S&P 500 futures are slipping in pre-market trading, reacting to the stronger-than-expected US August jobs data and renewed interest rate hike concerns. US markets are closed today for Labor Day, leading to quiet trading conditions.
- Mega-Cap Movers: Sandisk (SNDK) jumped 11.90% after S&P 500 inclusion and memory sector headlines. Cerebras Systems (CBRS) climbed 10.30% and Astera Labs (ALAB) advanced 9.75% on strong AI demand updates. Tesla (TSLA) shares are noted to have fallen 6% earlier today following a Cybercab launch and NHTSA probe. Nvidia (NVDA) is showing buyers testing all-time highs.
- European Markets: Eurozone GDP picked up more rapidly than estimated in Q2, but resilience may be tested by ongoing geopolitical tensions.
- Amazon Cargo Plane Crash: An Amazon Prime Air cargo plane crashed in Miami, killing at least five people, potentially impacting logistics sentiment.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Nifty 50 Outlook: The Nifty50 continued its decline, falling 118 points to close at 23,779.15, slipping below the key 23,800 level due to heightened geopolitical tensions and elevated crude oil prices. Analysts are watching the 23,600-23,700 zone for support, while 24,000 remains a strong hurdle. The index is trading below its falling 50-day exponential moving average.
- Sectoral Performance: Pharma and Healthcare were the only sectors in the green, while Media, IT, and Realty faced strong selling pressure.
- Corporate Earnings: Shiprocket reported narrower net losses and a 33.8% rise in revenue for Q1FY27, with its Emerging Business growing significantly faster than its Core Business. Its shares ended over 1% lower pre-results.
- Institutional Flows: While not explicitly detailed in the search results, the broader market mixed performance and Nifty decline suggest cautious FII/DII flows given global uncertainties.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil: WTI crude is near six-week highs, trading around $91.98-$92.30 per barrel, up approximately 0.5% from Friday. The primary catalyst is the intensifying conflict between the US and Iran in the Strait of Hormuz, with US forces striking Iranian oil tankers and Iran retaliating. Goldman Sachs forecasts crude could reach $120/barrel if attacks intensify.
- Gold (XAU/USD): Gold is trading around $4,394-$4,399, facing pressure from stronger US jobs data increasing Fed rate hike expectations. It has broken important support at $4,400. Key resistance is around $4,411 and $4,519, with support near $4,324 (50% retracement and 200-day EMA). Central banks continue to buy physical gold at record speeds.
- Crypto Market: The cryptocurrency market experienced a broad-based rally, pushing total capitalization past $2.7 trillion. Bitcoin (BTC) is holding firmly above $80,000 despite a brief dip to $78,600 following strong payroll data. US spot BTC ETFs recorded significant net inflows. Altcoins like Zcash (ZEC) and HYPE surged to new all-time highs, with ZEC gaining 43% over the week on ETF demand and short liquidations, trading near $1,197.
