Daily Multi-Asset Trading Blueprint & Level Execution Manual

Date: Friday, October 23, 2026

Current Session Highlight: 🇺🇸 New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

📰 SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The Federal Reserve's latest October inflation forecast indicates that the Consumer Price Index (CPI) and Core Personal Consumption Expenditures (PCE) are heading for further acceleration, suggesting a challenging inflation outlook.
- The odds of multiple Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) rate hikes are climbing, with the benchmark interest rate, recently raised to 3.75%-4% in September 2026, projected to reach 4.25% by year-end.
- The upcoming FOMC meeting (October 27-28) is expected to result in a pause, but a tightening bias remains, with further hikes not ruled out.
- Elevated oil prices are bolstering expectations for higher-for-longer interest rates, thereby increasing the opportunity cost of holding non-yielding bullion like gold.
- Corporate America, however, perceives monetary policy as not restrictive, with only 19% of firms reporting constraints due to financing costs or credit access.
- The euro is expected to register a moderate weekly loss against the US dollar, while the yen is on track for its largest rise in almost a month, driven by safe-haven demand.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street experienced a significant tech sell-off on Thursday, fueled by concerns over artificial intelligence (AI) spending and increasing corporate debt.
- Mega-cap tech leaders such as Meta, Nvidia (NVDA), AMD, and Tesla (TSLA) were among the biggest decliners.
- Meta Platforms' unchanged capital expenditure guidance and Tesla's reduced full-year CAPEX forecast sparked fears that the AI investment boom might have peaked.
- The Philadelphia SE Semiconductor Index plunged almost 7% in the previous session.
- On Thursday, the S&P 500 fell 1.21% and the Nasdaq Composite dropped 2.6%, while the Dow Jones Industrial Average showed a marginal gain.
- Today's pre-market futures for the S&P 500 and Nasdaq 100 are mixed to slightly negative, indicating continued caution.
- European markets, including the FTSE 100, DAX, and CAC 40, closed lower in the prior session.
- Notable pre-market gainers include Lakewood-Amedex Biotherapeutics Inc. (LABT) up 74.71%, SHF Hldgs (SHFS) up 51.2%, and WISeSat.Space Holdings Corp. (SAIQ) up 20.08%.
- Prominent pre-market losers include Lunai Bioworks Inc. (LNAI) down 18.60% and Pomdoctor Limited (POM) down 13.30%.
- Nvidia (NVDA) stock was down in pre-market trading, with significant trading volume observed yesterday.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian markets extended their losses on October 23, with the Nifty 50 falling 1.22% and the Sensex declining 0.93% in the previous trading session.
- However, Gift Nifty indicated a firm start for domestic equities today, trading higher before the open.
- Sectoral performance was largely negative, with Metal, Realty, Media, and Energy stocks leading losses, and IT stocks also experiencing a decline.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) remained net sellers, but Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) provided crucial support through net buying, cushioning the broader market.
- Key Q2 corporate earnings releases are influencing market sentiment, with companies like Infosys, Tata Motors, JSW Steel, and BPCL reporting today.
- Shriram Finance reported a robust 59% year-on-year profit jump for Q2 FY27.
- The elevated Brent crude oil price, currently around ~$114/barrel, poses a significant headwind for Indian markets.
- The USD/INR pair is around ₹94.95/$, with the rupee facing pressure from rising crude prices.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- International crude oil futures surged on October 22, with WTI up 2.4% to $99.47 per barrel and Brent up 4.0% to $113.17 per barrel.
- Brent crude is trading around $114/barrel today, reaching a five-month high.
- WTI crude oil is trading near $99-$100 per barrel, also near five-week highs.
- The surge in oil prices is primarily driven by escalating geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, including Houthi attacks on Saudi Arabia and reports of potential US-Israel strikes on Iran, raising significant supply disruption concerns.
- OPEC anticipates a slowdown in global oil consumption growth in 2026.
- Gold eased on Friday, heading for its steepest weekly decline in over four months, as high oil prices fueled expectations of higher-for-longer interest rates.
- Speculators are actively defending the critical US$4,000 level for gold.
- The total crypto market capitalization fell 3.74% in 24 hours to $2.76 trillion, with major assets like Ethereum (ETH), XRP (XRP), and TRON (TRX) trading lower, reflecting a broader risk-off sentiment spilling over from traditional markets.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| SHRIRAMFIN (Shriram Finance) | Long | Selected based on strong Q2 FY27 earnings, with standalone net profit increasing 59% YoY and NII rising 40%, indicating robust financial health and potential for a positive trend continuation. This aligns with a '20/50 EMA golden cross' on strong fundamental momentum. |
| CGPOWER (CG Power and Industrial Solutions) | Long | Selected due to excellent Q2 FY27 results, showing a 46.5% YoY net profit increase and 30.1% revenue growth, suggesting strong underlying business performance. This momentum could lead to further upward price action. |

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| NVDA (NVIDIA Corporation) | Short | Selected as a mega-cap growth leader experiencing a significant pre-market decline (-4.40% yesterday) and a broader tech sell-off due to AI spending concerns. Applying a '21-day EMA rejection' strategy, expecting continued downward pressure after failing to hold key moving averages. |
| TSLA (Tesla Inc.) | Short | Chosen as a mega-cap leader facing headwinds after reducing full-year CAPEX guidance, contributing to negative sentiment in the tech sector. This aligns with a '50-day SMA rejection' strategy, anticipating resistance at a key moving average after a perceived weakening in growth outlook. |
| MSFT (Microsoft Corp.) | Short | As a prominent mega-cap tech stock, it's expected to be affected by the overall sector sell-off, despite no specific negative news. The strategy is a '21-day EMA pullback' short, anticipating that the broader tech weakness will pull this stock lower from recent levels. |

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| LABT (Lakewood-Amedex Biotherapeutics) | Long | Identified as a top pre-market gainer, up 74.71%. This suggests a strong 'High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) breakout' as retail interest and positive news (if any, not explicitly stated in search, assumed catalyst for large pre-market move) drive momentum. |
| SHFS (SHF Hldgs) | Long | Appearing as a significant pre-market gainer, up 51.2% with high trading activity. This aligns with a 'High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) breakout' strategy, indicative of strong short-term bullish sentiment and potential for a sustained move. |

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| ETH (Ethereum) | Short | The total crypto market capitalization is down 3.74%, with Ethereum trading lower. This triggers a '4H 21-EMA trend following' strategy for a short position, anticipating continuation of the bearish momentum below the EMA. |
| XRP (Ripple) | Short | Also noted among major assets trading lower amidst the crypto market decline. Initiating a short based on a 'high-volume volatility breakout' strategy, expecting downside extension as selling pressure mounts. |

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| WTI Crude Oil (CL=F) | Long | Crude oil futures surged significantly, with WTI trading near $99-$100/barrel, driven by escalating Middle East tensions and supply concerns. This indicates a strong bullish trend; trade based on 'Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels' to project upside targets. |
| Gold (XAU/USD) | Short | Gold is easing and facing its steepest weekly decline, defending the key $4,000 level, primarily due to higher-for-longer interest rate expectations. This suggests a bearish trend; trade based on 'Pivot & Fibonacci retracement/extension levels' for potential downside targets. |

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| EUR/USD | Short | The euro is headed for a moderate weekly loss against the US dollar. This indicates a short-term bearish trend, capitalizing on dollar strength and euro weakness. |
| GBP/USD | Long | Sterling traded higher against the US dollar on Friday morning. This suggests a short-term bullish momentum, looking for continuation of the upward move. |

Macro Carry Swing

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| USD/JPY | Short | The yen is on track for its biggest rise in almost a month, driven by safe-haven demand amidst global uncertainties, causing the dollar to fall against the yen. This offers a short opportunity, contrasting typical carry trade in a risk-off environment. |
| AUD/USD | Short | Amidst a risk-off global sentiment and broad market weakness, the Australian dollar (a risk-sensitive currency) is expected to weaken against the USD. This forms the basis for a long-term bearish trend swing trade. |

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| NIFTY 50 (Index Options) | Short (Put Option) | While Gift Nifty showed a firm start, the underlying sentiment for Indian markets remains wary due to oil price headwinds and FII selling. A 15-minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB) strategy with a short bias (Put Option) is suitable if the initial upward momentum fades and resistance is encountered. |
