📊 Daily Multi-Asset Trading Blueprint & Level Execution Manual

Date: Monday, October 26, 2026

Session: 🇺🇸 New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

📰 SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve is largely expected to hold interest rates steady at its upcoming monetary policy meeting this week, with a 90% probability of a hold. However, accelerating inflation keeps the possibility of a rate hike alive, with some economists forecasting an immediate 25-basis-point increase in October due to sticky core inflation.
- The Fed had previously increased its policy rate by 25 basis points last month, marking the first hike since 2023, bringing the range to 3.75% to 4%.
- Minutes of the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) from September 15-16, 2026, were released on October 16, 2026. A closed meeting of the Board of Governors for discussion of Monetary Policy Issues is scheduled for October 27, 2026.
- Major global currencies have traded in tight ranges to start a week filled with central bank decisions and corporate earnings.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock futures (S&P 500, Nasdaq 100, Dow Jones) are showing modest gains in pre-market trading.
- NVIDIA (NVDA): Shares rallied 3.1% in morning trading due to continued strong demand catalysts in the AI sector. Analysts suggest NVIDIA's AI business is booming, solidifying its leadership in GPU development and AI software.
- Microsoft (MSFT): The company announced voluntary buyout offers to approximately 60,000 employees as part of cost-cutting measures, while simultaneously increasing investments in artificial intelligence. MSFT stock saw a 1.08% jump on this news. Microsoft is set to report quarterly earnings this week, with analysts expecting significant revenue and EPS growth, but options markets suggest a tight post-earnings trading range of $500–$555 with potential downside risk if results disappoint.
- Tesla (TSLA): Shares surged 6.1% after Barclays upgraded the stock to Overweight and raised its price target to $450. The upgrade is attributed to a projected operational turnaround, including increased automotive deliveries and strong energy-storage business, as well as market speculation around a potential merger with SpaceX. TSLA has reached a three-month high and is trading above its 200-day moving average.
- Anthropic's initial public offering (IPO) filing is further intensifying focus on the broader AI trade.
- European markets are largely flat as investors digest corporate earnings and monitor ongoing political developments in France.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity markets experienced a notable recovery on Monday after initial losses, with the Sensex rising nearly 483 points and the Nifty gaining over 153 points. This rebound was attributed to value buying across various sectors.
- Indian Overseas Bank plans to raise $500 million, following a 56% surge in its Q2 net profit.
- Concerns persist regarding the impact of shrinking leveraged positions (Margin Trading Facility - MTF) on deepening the sell-off in Indian small-cap stocks.
- Several Indian companies, including Paytm, Tamilnad Mercantile Bank, and Tata Consumer, have announced their Q2 earnings, with Paytm reporting a remarkable 976% year-on-year profit jump.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil: Prices eased with Brent crude futures down over 1% after reaching a six-month high last week. WTI crude is currently around $103.08, sitting at the 78.6% Fibonacci retracement level and the lower boundary of a descending channel, with bullish RSI divergence building. Recent price action, including a pullback and a potentially bearish outside-day pattern, suggests potential for further consolidation or retracement. Geopolitical events, particularly involving Iran, remain a key catalyst.
- Gold (XAU/USD): Gold prices have been trading with some volatility, hitting a seven-month low recently. The precious metal is currently around $4010, with key levels to watch at 3980 (support) and 4025 (resistance).
- Crypto: While no direct major crypto regulatory or adoption headlines were prominent, the surging interest and investment in AI, as highlighted by Anthropic's IPO, may have a spillover effect on the crypto market, particularly on tokens related to AI or blockchain infrastructure.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Entry Zone	Target Zone	Strategy & Selection Reason
IOB (Indian Overseas Bank)	Long	Pullback to 50-SMA Support	Recent Highs / Extension	Strong Q2 profit growth (56%) and plans to raise capital, indicating fundamental strength. Seeking technical confirmation via 50-SMA support bounce for trend continuation.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Entry Level	Stop Loss	Target Level	Strategy & Selection Reason
TSLA	Long	Pullback to 21-day EMA (~$385-$390)	Below 21-day EMA / ~$375	$450+ (Barclays PT)	Strong positive momentum from Barclays upgrade to Overweight and price target increase to $450, coupled with SpaceX merger speculation. Seeking a tactical pullback entry to the 21-day EMA for optimal risk/reward.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker (Example)	Direction	Entry Trigger	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
CLRO (ClearOne, Inc.)	Long	Breakout above pre-market high with RVOL > 2.0	Below intraday support / Breakdown level	Intraday High Extension

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Entry Trigger	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC/USD	Bi-directional	4H 21-EMA Crossover / High Volume Breakout (Range)	Below 4H 21-EMA (for Long) / Above 4H 21-EMA (for Short)	Volatility Extension / Next Key Level

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Pivot (P)	Resistance (R1/ R2)	Support (S1/S2)	Strategy & Selection Reason
WTI Crude Oil	Bi-directional	~104.00	R1: ~107.09, R2: ~110.00	S1: ~102.23, S2: ~100.00	Current price at 78.6% Fibonacci retracement level and channel floor. Recent pullback and potentially bearish outside-day pattern suggests vigilance for both long (bounce off support) and short (breakdown below support) opportunities using pivot and Fibonacci levels.
Gold (XAU/USD)	Bi-directional	~4000	R1: ~4025, R2: ~4050	S1: ~3980, S2: ~3950	Trading in a key range with support at 3980 and resistance at 4025. Will monitor for breakouts from these levels using pivot and Fibonacci extensions, capitalizing on potential safe-haven flows or dollar strength.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term Futures

Pair	Direction	Key Levels	Entry Signal	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Bi-directional	Daily Range / Key S/R	Breakout of daily range / Rejection at S/R	Major currencies are trading in tight ranges, indicating potential for breakout or range-bound trading strategies based on upcoming central bank decisions and market data.
GBP/USD	Bi-directional	Daily Range / Key S/R	Breakout of daily range / Rejection at S/R	Similar to EUR/USD, expect consolidation or short-term directional plays based on technical patterns and UK economic data post-Fed announcements.

Long-Term Carry Swing

Pair	Direction	Key Levels	Entry Signal	Strategy & Selection Reason
USD/JPY	Long Bias	Long-term trend support / Retracement levels	Consolidation Breakout / Bounce from Support	Persistent USD strength expectations driven by sticky inflation and potential Fed policy. Looking for long opportunities on pullbacks to capitalize on positive carry and trend.
AUD/USD	Short Bias	Long-term trend resistance / Retracement levels	Breakdown from Resistance / Rejection at Key Levels	Vulnerable to shifts in commodity prices and global growth concerns. Looking for short opportunities on rallies towards resistance, anticipating a negative carry impact.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Index	Direction	Entry Trigger	Stop Loss	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 / BankNifty	Bi-directional	15-Min Opening Range Breakout (ORB)	Opposite side of the 15-Min Opening Range	The ORB strategy aims to capture early intraday momentum. For a long (Call) trade, enter on a decisive close above the 15-minute high. For a short (Put) trade, enter on a decisive close below the 15-minute low.
