Date: October 1, 2026

Session Highlight:  New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) raised the federal funds rate by 0.25 percentage point to a range of 3.75%-4.00% on September 16, 2026, marking the first rate hike in three years.
- Markets are anticipating additional rate hikes by the Federal Reserve in late 2026 and through mid-2027, as Fed Chair Kevin Warsh reiterates commitment to the 2% inflation target.
- Economic activity in the US is expanding at a solid pace, driven by strong productivity growth and robust capital investment, though real wages are currently trailing inflation.
- A recent report by the Fed's inspector general identified mismanagement but no criminal violations in a $2.5 billion renovation project at the Fed's headquarters.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street Pre-Market Movers: S&P 500 (SPY) and Nasdaq 100 (QQQ) futures are showing modest gains, while the Russell 2000 (IWM) is slightly down. Noteworthy pre-market gainers include Vicor (raised Q3 growth guidance), Fluor Corporation (secured a major LNG project), and Credo Technology Group (CRDO) due to optimism in AI-focused optical connectivity. Astera Labs is declining amid rising US Treasury yields and analyst caution regarding its valuation.
- Mega-Cap US Stocks:
 - Microsoft (MSFT): Shares are trading higher following Wells Fargo's upgrade of its price target to $725 (Overweight rating), citing accelerating Azure growth and improved monetization of Microsoft 365 Copilot, along with increasing AI spending. The stock is trading near its recent highs.
 - NVIDIA (NVDA): NVDA is priced around $230.24, showing a 0.8% increase from its daily low. Cantor Fitzgerald reiterated an Overweight rating with a $350 price target, highlighting strong activity in AI hardware. The company is also involved in a patent dispute regarding high-bandwidth memory (HBM) with Netlist.
 - Tesla (TSLA): Trading around $356.40, up 0.7% from its daily low. Despite near-term headwinds from slowing auto demand, Tesla maintains long-term growth potential through its autonomous driving technology and AI initiatives. Tesla plans over $25 billion in 2026 capital spending, supported by $30 billion in new credit facilities. Q3 2026 vehicle deliveries are projected to be lower than previous periods.
- Semiconductor Developments: Micron Technology reported strong earnings, benefiting from the ongoing AI boom. Synopsys and OpenAI announced a strategic partnership to apply advanced AI to semiconductor design. ASE Technology is expanding its capacity for AI chip testing.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- No specific real-time market-moving headlines regarding Sensex/Nifty updates, corporate earnings, or FII/DII institutional flows for today were found in the performed searches. Trading decisions for Indian equities will be based on technical strategies and general market sentiment.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil: WTI crude oil futures have surged by approximately +2.52%, trading in the range of $91.00-$92.63 per barrel, driven by re-escalated geopolitical risks in the Middle East, including the Trump administration's firm stance on Iran sanctions and continued disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz. OPEC+ is expected to maintain current oil production targets for November at its upcoming meeting on October 4.
- Gold: Gold is contending with resistance around the $4,200 level as US Treasury yields have reached 2002 highs.
- Crypto: Crypto fund inflows reached a 2026 high of $3.55 billion, with Bitcoin leading demand, followed by Ethereum and Solana. Regulatory clarity, including the US Senate's passage of the GENIUS Act for stablecoins and enhanced state-level oversight coordination between New York and Wyoming, is boosting institutional adoption. The SEC has also proposed its "Regulation Crypto Assets" framework, and tokenization services are gaining traction.
