Current Session Highlight:  New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve faces a pivotal week with its FOMC meeting scheduled for Wednesday, September 16. Market consensus, significantly influenced by stronger-than-expected core inflation data (3.4% annual CPI), now points to a near 90% probability of a 25 basis point rate hike. Fed Chair Kevin Warsh's credibility is seen as being on the line amid pressure to address persistently high inflation.
- Other G7 central banks are also confronting mounting inflation risks, increasing pressure for them to potentially raise interest rates.
- The International Monetary Fund (IMF) projects global growth at 3.0% for 2025 and 3.1% for 2026, an upward revision attributed to factors like front-loading ahead of tariffs and improved financial conditions. However, persistent uncertainty and downside risks, including geopolitical tensions and potential tariffs, remain.
- A study by the German Economic Institute (IW) indicates that German companies increased investment in China by a third in the first half of 2026 while sharply reducing investment in the United States. This shift raises concerns about job relocation and has prompted calls for the EU to impose countervailing tariffs on Chinese imports.
- The BRICS grouping, chaired by India in 2026, is deepening cooperation across various sectors, including AI, trade, and supply chains. Chinese President Xi Jinping proposed a BRICS AI Open Source Zone to foster collaboration in large language models and an open AI ecosystem.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street futures are anticipated to open cautiously, reacting to the weekend's geopolitical developments and the heightened expectation of a Fed rate hike mid-week.
- NVIDIA (NVDA): Despite strong Q2 earnings (EPS $2.22 vs $2.09 est.; Revenue $96.22B vs $92.27B est., up 105.9% YoY) and being touted as the AI compute leader with 80% market share, the stock is considered undervalued by GuruFocus (GF Value $387.37 vs Current $218.29). Piper Sandler sees significant upside (up to 37% with a $300 target). However, a director recently trimmed holdings, and Hyundai's delay in its Atria AI driving system (an NVDA partnership) could impact future growth projections.
- Microsoft (MSFT): Reported robust Q2 earnings (EPS $4.74 vs $4.24 est.; Revenue $90.01B vs $87.62B est., up 17.7% YoY). Analysts maintain a "Moderate Buy" rating with an average price target of $564.27, driven by strong AI and Azure cloud growth (Azure revenue +43%, 30 million paid Copilot seats). While some institutional investors have slightly reduced stakes, overall sentiment remains positive, though concerns exist regarding high data center CapEx and competition.
- Tesla (TSLA): Q2 earnings missed EPS estimates ($0.33 vs $0.50 est.) but exceeded revenue forecasts ($28.24B vs $26.42B est., up 25.5% YoY). The CFO recently sold shares, and while the Cybercab is gaining traction, it also faces market scrutiny. Institutional investor activity is mixed.
- Pre-market movers indicate significant volatility in smaller caps, with stocks like Tenon Medical (+53.77%) and Aperture AC (+94.41%) showing strong gains, while RiverNorth Opportunities Fund was down significantly (-34%).

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian equity markets will be closed on Monday, September 14, 2026, for Ganesh Chaturthi, giving investors their first opportunity on Tuesday to react to global developments.
- Indian equities extended their losing streak to five consecutive weeks, with the Sensex declining 2.27% and the Nifty falling 2.09% last week. The Nifty 50 is currently at a crucial support zone of 23,000-23,300.
- Foreign Portfolio Investors (FPIs) withdrew ₹13,138 crore from Indian equities in the first half of September, reversing recent buying trends. This outflow is largely attributed to heightened global uncertainty, elevated crude oil prices, rising US bond yields, and a strengthening US dollar.
- Crude oil prices, the upcoming US Fed policy decision, and broader global monetary policy cues are expected to be the key drivers for Indian equities in the coming holiday-shortened week.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil: Prices are trading near $97.00, having fallen approximately 3.4% on Friday amid reports of a potential arrangement for shipping through the Strait of Hormuz, though still up for the week. Geopolitical tensions (US-Iran conflict, attacks on shipping routes) continue to fuel supply fears, keeping prices elevated above $90. The International Energy Agency (IEA) warns that high oil prices will lead to the largest drop in global oil demand since the COVID-19 pandemic this year. September 2026 WTI contracts closed above $99.
- Gold (XAU/USD): Trading around $4,348.62, gold is under pressure from rising US Fed rate hike expectations, higher US Treasury yields, and a stronger US dollar, which increase the opportunity cost of holding the non-yielding asset. Despite short-term headwinds, analysts at UBS forecast gold to reach $4,600 by December 2026 and $5,400 by September 2027, with J.P. Morgan eyeing $6,000/oz by year-end 2026. The immediate support for gold is seen in the $4,300-$4,400 range.
- Crypto: Bitcoin is trading below $80,000, influenced by the strong likelihood of an upcoming Fed rate hike. The SEC proposed "Regulation Crypto Assets" on August 18, 2026, aiming to create a tailored securities offering framework, including new exemptions and a conditional safe harbor. Comments on the proposal are due by October 20, 2026. Brazil's central bank has introduced strict capital rules, potentially forcing the exit of up to 290 out of 300 crypto firms. European regulator ESMA also issued a warning on prediction markets, scrutinizing their legal status.

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Current Price (₹)	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level (₹)	Target (₹)	Stop Loss (₹)
Divi's Lab (DIVISLAB)	4,210	50-SMA Support Bounce (Nifty Pharma outperforming last week). A bounce off the 4180-4200 zone (50-SMA on Daily) after broader market weakness indicates relative strength. Healthcare/pharma was a better-performing sector last week.	4,205-4,215	4,350	4,160
Apollo Hospitals (APOLLOHOSP)	6,180	20/50 EMA Golden Cross (Daily). Recent crossover of 20-day EMA above 50-day EMA, confirming renewed bullish momentum after a consolidation phase. High relative volume suggests accumulation.	6,170-6,190	6,350	6,100

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price ($)	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level ($)	Target ($)	Stop Loss ($)
NVIDIA (NVDA)	218.29	21-day EMA Pullback (Long). Despite positive earnings and strong analyst targets ($300-$325.23), recent institutional selling and Hyundai news may trigger a temporary pullback to the 21-day EMA (around $215). Buy the dip for continuation of AI narrative.	214.50-216.50	225.00	210.00
Microsoft (MSFT)	495.63	50-day SMA Rejection (Short). Strong fundamentals but overextended rally and potential profit-taking pre-Fed meeting. If it rejects the 50-day SMA (around $498) on Monday, a short-term correction could occur. Analysts cite concerns about high CapEx and competition.	497.50-499.00	488.00	502.00
Tesla (TSLA)	385.50	21-day EMA Pullback (Short). EPS miss and CFO selling combined with broader market caution could lead to further weakness. A break below 21-day EMA (around $388) confirms downtrend toward recent lows.	387.00-388.50	375.00	392.00

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Current Price ($)	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level ($)	Target ($)	Stop Loss ($)
ACV Auctions (ACVA)	10.45	High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) Breakout. Significant pre-market mover (+44.73%). Look for continuation and breakout above resistance on high volume post-open.	10.60-10.80	11.50	10.20
Tenon Medical (TNON)	8.15	Stage-2 VCP Breakout. Pre-market gain (+53.77%) indicates strong buying interest. Assuming a volatility contraction pattern on daily/weekly, a breakout above pivot is sought.	8.25-8.40	9.00	7.80

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price ($)	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level ($)	Target ($)	Stop Loss ($)
Bitcoin (BTC/USD)	78,500	4H 21-EMA Trend Following (Short). BTC below $80,000 amid Fed rate hike fears. If 4H chart shows rejection from 21-EMA (around $79,200), bearish momentum likely to continue.	79,000-79,300	77,500	80,000
Ethereum (ETH/USD)	4,280	High-Volume Volatility Breakout (Long). If BTC stabilizes, ETH could see an upward spike on renewed optimism or short covering, especially if it breaks above recent consolidation on higher volume. Looking for a break above $4,300 with increased buying.	4,310-4,330	4,450	4,250

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target	Stop Loss
Gold (XAU/USD)	$4,348.62/oz	Pivot Level Reversal (Long). Gold is at a critical support zone ($4,300-$4,400). A bounce off the weekly pivot point (P: $4340) or S1 Fibonacci level (S1: $4315) can signal a short-term rebound. Strong long-term forecasts from UBS and J.P. Morgan.	$4,330-4,345	$4,380	$4,300
WTI Crude Oil	$97.00/bbl	Fibonacci Extension Levels (Short). Despite Friday's drop on Hormuz talks, underlying geopolitical tensions and OPEC+ stance keep oil prices elevated. If resistance around $98.50 (Fibonacci 0.618 level) holds, a pullback is likely. Long-term supply concerns vs. IEA demand warnings create volatility.	$98.20-98.70	$96.50	$99.20

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Current Price	Strategy & Selection Reason	Entry Level	Target	Stop Loss
EUR/USD (Short-Term)	1.0725	Technical Resistance & Fed Divergence (Short). With the Fed likely to hike and ECB potentially holding or being less hawkish, look for resistance at 1.0740-1.0750 to hold for a short entry.	1.0740-1.0755	1.0680	1.0780
USD/JPY (Macro Carry Swing)	148.80	Carry Trade & Rate Hike Expectations (Long). Increased probability of a Fed rate hike strengthens USD, while BoJ remains dovish. Favorable interest rate differential for long carry trade. Target recent highs.	148.60-148.90	150.00	148.10
