Date: September 2, 2026

Current Session Highlight: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve has held the federal funds rate steady at 3.50%-3.75%, but underlying inflation remains elevated, suggesting potential for future rate hikes.
- Global bond yields are rising, driven by inflation fears and expectations of further monetary tightening by central banks.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) is expected by market participants to announce a 25-basis-point rate increase at its September 10 meeting, following Eurozone inflation reaching a nearly three-year high in August.
- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI)'s special US dollar-Indian rupee forex swap facility has successfully attracted over $136 billion in forex inflows, significantly boosting India's foreign exchange reserves and providing firepower to support the rupee.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock futures, including Dow Jones, S&P 500, and Nasdaq 100, are showing declines in pre-market trading, extending losses from the previous session.
- European equities are trading lower, with major indices approaching one-month lows, amidst concerns over higher oil prices, rising government bond yields, and the monetary policy outlook.
- Wall Street pre-market activity shows a mixed sentiment, with some individual movers, but the overall market sentiment is cautious.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian stock markets, Sensex and Nifty, experienced a sharp drop in early Wednesday trading, reacting to escalating US-Iran conflict and surging crude oil prices.
- The Sensex plummeted nearly 700 points and the Nifty fell over 200 points at open, wiping out significant investor wealth, though some losses were pared later in the session.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) have shown mixed activity, while Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) were net buyers of ₹1846.94 Cr in the cash segment on September 1, 2026, providing some market stability.
- Nifty Auto and Nifty IT sectors were among the top losers, while Adani Ports, Bajaj Finserv, and Power Grid showed relative strength.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil and Brent crude prices have surged towards $95-$96.6 a barrel due to intensified US-Iran conflict and concerns about potential energy supply disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz.
- Gold prices have slid to a two-week low, trading around $4,375-$4,329 per ounce, primarily driven by surging Treasury yields and increased expectations of a September Federal Reserve rate hike, which are overshadowing its safe-haven appeal from geopolitical tensions.
- In crypto news, the SEC proposed "Regulation Crypto Assets" in August 2026 to establish a clear framework for investment contracts involving crypto assets, aiming to enhance clarity and deter offshore operations.
- The US Senate has also passed the GENIUS Act, a bipartisan, White House-backed bill aimed at creating a comprehensive federal framework for stablecoin regulation.
- Among top crypto performers, Fusionist (ACE) gained significantly, alongside Siacoin (SC) and Ontology Gas (ONG) in the last 24 hours.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

(Note: Ticker selections are illustrative applications of strategies based on current news and general market sentiment, as real-time screener data with specific technical indicator triggers is not available.)

1. INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
POWERGRID (Power Grid Corporation of India)	Long	50-SMA Support Bounce	Power Grid was noted among the few Nifty constituents showing gains today amidst a broader market downturn. This resilience suggests potential for a bounce from key moving averages if market sentiment improves or sector-specific tailwinds emerge. Illustrative for a long entry on a confirmed bounce from 50-SMA.

2. US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVDA (NVIDIA Corp)	Short / Watch	50-day SMA Rejection	Mega-cap tech stocks are sensitive to broader market downturns and rising yields. With US futures trending lower, a rejection from the 50-day SMA could signal further downside. Monitor for confirmation of bearish momentum after potential pre-market weakness.
MSFT (Microsoft Corp)	Short / Watch	21-day EMA Pullback	Similar to NVDA, MSFT is a mega-cap tech leader facing headwinds. A pullback to or breakdown below the 21-day EMA in conjunction with negative market sentiment suggests a potential short opportunity or at least a cautious stance.
TSLA (Tesla Inc)	Short / Watch	50-day SMA Rejection	TSLA, known for its volatility, could experience significant downside if it fails to hold its 50-day SMA in the current risk-off environment driven by higher oil prices and bond yields. Monitor for a clear break and retest of this level.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
UAVS (AgEagle Aerial Systems)	Long	High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) Breakout	(Illustrative) In a volatile market, look for small-cap stocks demonstrating unusual strength and high relative volume (RVOL > 2.0) on intraday breakouts from consolidation patterns, indicating strong institutional interest despite the broader market trend.

3. CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC (Bitcoin)	Short	4H 21-EMA Trend Following	The overall crypto market has shown sensitivity to broader risk-off sentiment and regulatory developments. While some altcoins are gaining, Bitcoin may face selling pressure if it breaks below its 4-hour 21-EMA, especially with regulatory clarity still evolving.
ETH (Ethereum)	Short	4H 21-EMA Trend Following	Ethereum tends to follow Bitcoin's lead, and a confirmed breakdown below its 4-hour 21-EMA, coinciding with BTC weakness, would present a short opportunity.
ACE (Fusionist)	Long	High-Volume Volatility Breakout	Fusionist (ACE) has been identified as a top gainer today, showing significant percentage price increase and strong market momentum. This indicates high-volume volatility and potential for further upside, aligning with a breakout strategy.

4. COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
XAU/USD (Gold)	Short	Fibonacci Extension Levels (Counter-trend bounce play possible)	Gold prices are under pressure, having slid to a two-week low due to surging Treasury yields and higher probability of a Fed rate hike, despite geopolitical tensions. This suggests shorting opportunities on rallies towards resistance or continued breakdown below support, with careful monitoring for geopolitical escalations that could reverse the trend.
WTI Crude Oil	Long	Pivot Level Breakout / Fibonacci Extension	WTI Crude Oil has surged significantly due to escalating US-Iran conflict and fears of supply disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz. A break above recent pivot highs, supported by continued geopolitical tensions, indicates a strong long bias.

5. FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term Futures

Ticker	Direction	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Short	10x-20x Leverage Trend Following	The USD is broadly firmer against G10 peers. Despite potential ECB rate hikes, global risk aversion and a strong dollar environment could keep EUR/USD under pressure. Shorting on rallies towards intraday resistance.
GBP/USD	Short	10x-20x Leverage Trend Following	Similar to EUR/USD, GBP/USD is likely to face headwinds from a strengthening USD and global bond yield surge. Shorting on pullbacks to the 10x-20x leveraged trend indicator.

Long-Term Carry Swings

Ticker	Direction	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
USD/JPY	Short	2x-3x Leverage Carry Trade Reversal	The Japanese Yen (JPY) was a clear outperformer today, strengthening against the USD without a clear driver. This could indicate a short-term reversal in the carry trade dynamics, offering a swing short opportunity.
AUD/USD	Short	2x-3x Leverage Trend Following	AUD, a commodity-linked currency, could suffer from global risk aversion, even if oil prices are high, given the broader market sell-off and rising yields. A breakdown below key support could indicate a continuation of a longer-term downtrend.

6. INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
NIFTY 50	Put Option (Short)	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout	Given the Indian markets opened sharply lower today due to geopolitical tensions and crude oil surge, a breakdown below the 15-minute opening range would confirm strong bearish momentum, making a Nifty 50 put option an appropriate trade.
