SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve held the federal funds rate steady at 3.50%–3.75% in its July 2026 FOMC meeting, marking the fifth consecutive hold. Despite this, three voting members dissented, favoring a 25 basis point hike, indicating growing divisions and increasing pressure for a rate hike in September. Inflation remains elevated relative to the Fed's 2% goal, partly due to supply shocks in sectors like energy.
- Global central banks, including the ECB and Bank of Japan, have increased rates this year, while the Bank of England and Bank of Canada are expected to follow, responding to recent energy price increases. Market-implied rate odds across major central banks are closely watched for future policy expectations.
- A weaker US dollar is providing some support to gold prices.

2. US & European Markets

- US equity futures (S&P 500, Nasdaq 100, Dow Jones, Russell 2000) are showing gains in pre-market trading, with the S&P 500 up 0.50% and Nasdaq 100 up 0.25%. This positive sentiment is partly driven by easing crude oil prices and improving global sentiment after diplomatic developments in the Middle East.
- Wall Street pre-market movers include a diverse set of companies with some seeing significant gains (e.g., AiRWA Inc., Focus Universal Inc.) and others facing volatility (e.g., Apple plunged 7.3% last week). Reports indicate that Bristol Myers Squibb and AstraZeneca are in talks for a potential $400B mega-merger.
- The semiconductor industry remains a key focus, with recent news mentioning "exceptionally higher memory costs" and Kioxia's dim outlook.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty 50, traded sharply higher, extending their winning run for the fourth consecutive session. The Sensex rose over 544 points to close above 78,639, and Nifty 50 rose around 391 points to end the session at 24,774.
- This rally was driven by a sharp fall in oil prices, hopes of a US-Iran peace deal, stable domestic macro-economic conditions, a strengthening rupee, better-than-expected Q1 earnings, and renewed buying by Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs).
- Q1 FY27 corporate earnings have been mixed but broadly encouraging, with financials, metals, IT, and auto sectors showing strong performance. However, oil marketing companies (OMCs) reported significant losses due to elevated crude prices, masking overall earnings growth for India Inc. DIIs held a record 21% stake in Nifty 500 companies, while FII ownership fell to a new low of 17% as of June 2026, though FII inflows have recently rebounded.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil futures are sliding significantly, with prices falling by more than 6% to around $79.30/bbl, as renewed diplomatic momentum between Washington and Tehran accelerates the dismantling of the Middle East war premium. OPEC+ has agreed to raise oil production quotas for the sixth consecutive month by 188,000 barrels per day (bpd) in September, completing the rollback of voluntary supply cuts introduced in 2023. However, a larger 2 million bpd of separate OPEC+ production cuts from 2022 remain in place until year-end.
- Gold prices are little changed, trading around $4,030 an ounce, as investors balance support from a weaker US dollar against reduced safe-haven demand amidst easing geopolitical tensions in the Middle East. Historically, gold reached an all-time high of $5,608.35 in January 2026.
- The broader crypto market sentiment is mixed. Bitcoin price edged lower towards $63,000 as bearish momentum resurfaced, partly due to a reported Coldcard wallet hack and ETF outflows. The total crypto market capitalization decreased by 2.07% from last week. Ethereum spot ETFs recorded $27M in weekly inflows, marking a four-week positive streak, while Solana also faces risks of a steeper decline.
