Daily Multi-Asset Trading Blueprint & Level Execution Manual

Date: Wednesday, October 28, 2026

Session: 🇺🇸 New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

📰 SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve maintained its key interest rate at 3.9% today, as widely expected, despite acknowledging elevated inflation. The Fed's statement suggested a "wait-and-see" approach but kept the door open for a potential rate hike in December, with markets pricing in a 75.1% chance for a 25-basis-point increase.
- Elevated inflation, influenced by rising oil prices due to Middle East tensions, remains a key concern for the Fed.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) is also widely expected to keep rates unchanged at its upcoming meeting, with less than an 80% certainty for a December rate rise.
- The US Dollar strengthened, reaching a two-week high against a basket of currencies, ahead of the Fed's decision.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock index futures were mixed in pre-market trading, with Nasdaq 100 futures slightly higher, while Dow futures showed a marginal decline.
- Wall Street pre-market movers included significant gainers like Ultralife (+145.3%), Braiin (+48.0%), and Ai Okto Corp. (+30.8%).
- Among the biggest pre-market decliners were Enphase Energy (-19.9%), Rapport Therapeutics (-18.0%), and Oatly Group Ab (-17.0%). Enphase Energy's decline was attributed to a weaker Q4 revenue outlook.
- AI-related stocks rallied, fueled by strong quarterly results and a significant shareholder return plan from memory chip maker SK Hynix, which surged over 8% in pre-market. This helped calm fears about the AI spending boom.
- Microsoft (MSFT) and Alphabet (GOOGL) are scheduled to report their quarterly earnings after market close, with investor focus on Azure cloud growth, AI product monetization, and returns on infrastructure investments.
- Boston Scientific shares dropped after the company cut its 2026 outlook due to a cybersecurity incident.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty, closed lower today, primarily dragged by selling pressure in Reliance Industries and IT sector stocks, and concerns over rising crude oil prices ahead of the US Fed decision.
- The BSE Sensex dropped 352.64 points (0.48%) to 73,246.03, while the NSE Nifty fell 50.90 points (0.22%) to 22,698.85.
- Top Nifty 50 gainers included Apollo Hospitals (+4.43%), Larsen & Toubro (+3.72%), Trent (+3.31%), SBI Life Insurance (+2.06%), and IndiGo (+2.03%). Larsen & Toubro's surge followed a 32.5% rise in consolidated net profit for Q2 FY27.
- Reliance Industries (-3.46%) and IT majors like Infosys (-3.34%), Tech Mahindra (-1.83%), and Tata Consultancy Services (-1.68%) were among the top Sensex losers.
- Jio Platforms, backed by Reliance Industries, made a strong debut on Dalal Street, listing nearly 27% higher than its issue price, and becoming the second most valuable domestic firm by market capitalization.
- Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) were net buyers, injecting $445.78 million into Indian equities in the previous session, while Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) were net sellers.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil rebounded, climbing above $101 per barrel (+1.34%), and Brent crude surged above $115 per barrel (+0.99%), driven by renewed threats to Middle East energy supplies following a Houthi attack on Saudi Arabia's largest refinery.
- Gold prices dipped below $4,050 per ounce, down 0.28%, while silver slid towards its yearly low, down 0.94%. Both precious metals are under pressure from a strengthening US Dollar and expectations of continued Federal Reserve tightening, despite geopolitical uncertainty.
- US Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent announced that the Treasury will collaborate with the SEC and CFTC to establish clearer crypto regulations, following the Senate's rejection of the Digital Asset Market Clarity Act.
- The stalled Clarity Act (due to ethics provisions and stablecoin yield language) leaves a regulatory gap, but efforts are underway to coordinate rulemaking and set industry standards.
- XRP saw a modest increase of 1.99% to $1.32 in early trading, and Ripple announced new partnerships and final approval for its national trust bank charter.
- Bitcoin rebounded above $81,000.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

Indian Equities (Strictly Long-Only)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| LARSEN & TOUBRO (L&T) | Long | Selected due to strong Q2 FY27 earnings report with 32.5% profit growth. This fundamental strength, combined with recent upward momentum, would make it a candidate for a 20/50 EMA Golden Cross where the shorter-term EMA crosses above the longer-term EMA, indicating bullish sentiment and potential for continued upward price action. |
| APOLLO HOSPITALS | Long | Identified as a top Nifty 50 performer today (+4.43%). Its consistent relative strength makes it a candidate for a 50-SMA Support Bounce strategy, where price retracts to the 50-period Simple Moving Average and finds support, indicating a healthy uptrend continuation. |

US Equities

Large-Cap (Bi-Directional)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| ENPHASE ENERGY (ENPH) | Short | Significant pre-market decliner (-19.9%) due to a weaker Q4 revenue outlook. This could present a 50-day SMA Rejection Strategy opportunity if the stock attempts a bounce but fails to break above its 50-day SMA, indicating strong overhead resistance and continuation of the bearish trend. |
| MICROSOFT (MSFT) | Long / Short (Event-Driven) | Mega-cap tech leader with earnings release scheduled after market close. Given current AI sentiment driving tech, a positive earnings surprise could lead to a 21-day EMA Pullback opportunity post-earnings if initial reaction is strong, allowing for entry on a short-term dip within an uptrend. Conversely, a negative surprise could trigger a breakdown. |

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (Strictly Long-Only)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| DMC GLOBAL (BOOM) | Long | Showed significant pre-market gains (+24.1%). Such strong relative performance and high volume (if confirmed live) would make it a candidate for a High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) Breakout strategy, targeting continuation of the upward move on sustained buying interest. |

Crypto Futures (Bi-Directional)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| BITCOIN (BTC/USD) | Long | Rebounded above $81,000 recently. This momentum makes it suitable for a 4H 21-EMA Trend Following strategy. A confirmed bounce and close above the 4-hour 21-EMA on strong volume would signal continuation of the short-term uptrend. |

Commodities (Bi-Directional)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| WTI CRUDE OIL (CL=F) | Long | Prices surged above $101/barrel due to renewed Middle East supply concerns. This fundamental catalyst points to an upward bias. Traders would target a move to key Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels (e.g., R1 pivot or 1.272 Fibonacci extension) as price extends previous highs. |
| GOLD (XAU/USD) | Short | Currently pressured below $4,050 by a strong dollar and hawkish Fed expectations despite geopolitical tensions. A move below key support (e.g., S1 pivot or 0.618 Fibonacci retracement level of a prior rally) would activate a short position, targeting lower Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels. |

Forex Futures (Bi-Directional)

Short-Term (EUR/USD, GBP/USD)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| EUR/USD | Short | Extended declines to 2026 lows around 1.11, trading below its 50 and 200 EMAs. The strengthening US Dollar and French fiscal concerns contribute to a downward bias. A short position would be taken on a retest of broken support or resistance levels, aligning with the overall bearish trend reinforced by central bank divergence expectations. |
| GBP/USD | Short | The US Dollar is rising ahead of the Fed's rate decision. The pair could face downward pressure. A short entry would be considered if the pair rejects a resistance level (e.g., 1.3340 or the 50 EMA at 1.3350), with the strengthening dollar as a primary driver. |

Long-Term Carry Swing (USD/JPY, AUD/USD)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| USD/JPY | Long (Carry) | The US Fed's hawkish stance (potential December hike) and elevated US bond yields continue to support the dollar against the Yen, which is typically a lower-yielding currency. This pair is ideal for a Long-Term Carry Swing strategy, capitalizing on the interest rate differential. |
| AUD/USD | Short (Carry) | The strengthening US Dollar and potential for further Fed tightening would weigh on commodity currencies like the AUD. A short position could be established on rallies, aiming to profit from the negative carry and potential for continued dollar strength. |

Indian Options (Bi-Directional)

| Ticker | Direction | Strategy & Selection Reason |
|---|---|---|
| NIFTY 50 | Short (Put Option) | Indian markets ended lower, with the Nifty 50 declining, dragged by IT and Reliance. An intraday 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout strategy would be employed. If Nifty breaks below its initial 15-minute range low, a Put option would be bought, anticipating further downward momentum. |
| BANKNIFTY | Long (Call Option) | Despite broader market weakness, Bank Nifty gained 0.53% today, indicating relative strength. If BankNifty breaks above its initial 15-minute range high, a Call option would be bought, utilizing the 15-Minute Opening Range Breakout strategy for intraday bullish momentum. |

📈 10-Year Backtest Metrics (Target vs. Benchmarks)
