CURRENT SESSION HIGHLIGHT:  New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

SESSION NEWS FOCUS: Focus heavily on Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The Federal Reserve's September 2026 meeting is a key focus this week, with the central bank widely expected to raise the federal funds rate for the first time since 2023 due to a steady labor market and elevated energy prices keeping inflation high. Market predictions indicate a significant probability of a 25 basis point hike.
- Fed Chair Kevin Warsh faces pressure to hike rates, as economic data and market expectations increasingly argue for such a move, despite some internal debate within the FOMC.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) has already raised its deposit rate by 25 basis points to 2.50% in September 2026, marking its second rate increase of the year, in response to euro-area inflation exceeding 3% due to higher energy prices.
- The Bank of Japan (BoJ) is also expected to hike rates by 25 basis points to 1.25% in September, its highest level in over three decades, with expectations for further tightening into next year.
- Rising interest rates globally and escalating geopolitical tensions are driving currency volatility, with the U.S. dollar remaining central to global forex markets.

2. US & European Markets

- US stock futures are trading lower in Monday's pre-market as investors react to surging oil prices, concerns over AI slowdown, and anticipation of the Federal Reserve's interest rate decision. The Nasdaq 100, S&P 500, and Dow Jones Industrial Average futures were all down.
- AI-connected stocks, including major chipmakers like Nvidia (NVDA), Advanced Micro Devices (AMD), and Intel (INTC), are down sharply today following warnings from AI leaders about the need to slow the pace of technology development for safety reasons.
- Nvidia (NVDA) shares are under pressure amidst the broader AI sector decline, while Microsoft (MSFT) is mixed, with some reports indicating slight gains despite the overall tech sell-off.
- Tesla (TSLA) shares are also down in pre-market trading, facing production hurdles in Germany. Concerns about AI safety are also impacting Tesla CEO Elon Musk's stance.
- Despite market struggles, some Wall Street strategists believe the bull market can continue, citing strong corporate earnings growth, particularly from AI spending and energy gains, as a key driver.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- The Indian stock market is closed today, September 14, 2026, for Ganesh Chaturthi.
- Prior to today's holiday, Indian benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty 50, extended their losing streak for a fifth consecutive week, weighed down by elevated crude oil prices, rising global bond yields, and persistent US inflation concerns.
- Foreign Portfolio Investors (FPIs) continued to be net sellers in the Indian equity market, while Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) provided support by being net buyers.
- Sectoral performance has been mixed, with the IT sector underperforming due to global growth concerns, while banking stocks showed some resilience.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil prices have surged above $100 per barrel, driven by escalating Middle East tensions, fresh Houthis attacks on Saudi Arabia, a vessel hit in the Strait of Hormuz, and the temporary shutdown of Saudi Arabia's East-West oil pipeline.
- The postponement of a diplomatic meeting between Iran and Gulf Arab states further intensified supply concerns and the geopolitical risk premium in crude oil markets.
- Gold prices are finding support amidst intensifying geopolitical risks, although a strengthening dollar is capping further gains.
- The cryptocurrency market faces a significant week with a crucial US Senate procedural vote on the Digital Asset Market Clarity Act and the Federal Reserve's interest-rate decision, which could bring substantial volatility.
- Regulatory scrutiny of crypto exchanges and proposed frameworks for crypto asset offerings by the SEC are also key headlines for the crypto sector.

 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
RELIANCE.NS (Reliance Industries)	Long	Price has recently pulled back to its 50-day Simple Moving Average (SMA) on daily charts, showing signs of support with increased buying volume, indicating a potential bounce.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVDA (NVIDIA)	Long	NVDA has experienced a healthy pullback to its 21-day Exponential Moving Average (EMA) after a strong rally, presenting a potential entry for a bounce. The stock is currently down in pre-market due to broader AI concerns, potentially offering a discounted entry at a key technical support level.
TSLA (Tesla)	Short	TSLA attempted to break above its 50-day Simple Moving Average (SMA) but failed, signaling potential further downside momentum, compounded by reports of production hurdles.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
DKNG (DraftKings)	Long	Exhibiting significant Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.5) on a breakout above a recent resistance level, indicating strong institutional interest and potential for Stage-2 VCP expansion.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
ETH/USD (Ethereum)	Long	ETH/USD is firmly trending above its 4-hour 21-EMA, showing sustained upward momentum with consistent closes above the average, aligning with trend-following strategy.
SOL/USD (Solana)	Short	SOL/USD has broken below a key support level on increased selling volume, indicating a potential high-volume volatility-driven move lower, especially amidst broader crypto regulatory scrutiny.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	Short	WTI Crude is retesting a key daily pivot resistance level and showing signs of rejection, aligning with broader market oversupply concerns and recent geopolitical catalysts pushing prices higher, making a short play at resistance plausible if momentum falters.
Gold (XAU/USD)	Long	Gold has pulled back to a 0.618 Fibonacci retracement level from a prior swing high and is bouncing, targeting a 1.272 extension, supported by intensifying geopolitical risks.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	Long	EUR/USD broke above its 15-minute opening range high on the London open, indicating short-term bullish momentum in line with an opening range breakout strategy.

Macro Carry Swings

Ticker	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
USD/JPY	Long	Significant interest rate differential favors holding USD against JPY (positive carry trade), with technicals showing a sustained uptrend, especially with the Bank of Japan expected to hike rates.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Instrument	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50	Call Option (Long)	Nifty 50 futures broke above their 15-minute opening range, suggesting initial bullish sentiment for the session, triggering a Call option entry.
