Current Session:  New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- The US Federal Reserve raised interest rates by 0.25 percentage points on September 16, 2026, marking the first hike since July 2023, bringing the target range for the federal funds rate to 3-3/4 to 4 percent to combat inflation spurred by elevated energy prices.
- A senior Federal Reserve official indicated on September 21, 2026, that containing inflation might necessitate "painful" measures, including increased unemployment, due to persistent supply shocks such as the Iran war's impact on oil prices and tariffs.
- This shift signals an end to a 15-year period of low interest rates and inflation, moving towards a higher-priced, higher-rate economic environment driven by strong consumer and business demand clashing with supply disruptions.
- On September 21, 2026, US government bond yields declined, with the 10-year Treasury note yield falling to 4.967% from its recent 19-year high of 5.041%, influenced by receding oil prices and broader easing in global borrowing costs.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) also implemented a rate hike this month, while the Bank of England maintained its rates.
- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) issued new norms concerning capital requirements for market risk for banks, under the Basel III framework.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street futures for the S&P 500 (SPY), Nasdaq 100 (QQQ), Dow Jones (DIA), and Russell 2000 (IWM) showed upward movement in pre-market trading, benefiting from declining oil prices and lower treasury yields.
- Mega-cap US stocks:
 - Microsoft (MSFT) pre-market trading was slightly down on September 18, 2026, though the company recently announced an 8% increase in its quarterly dividend to $0.98 per share, and remains a strong player in AI and cloud computing (Azure).
 - NVIDIA (NVDA) also saw a slight dip in pre-market on September 18, 2026, but holds a "Buy" consensus rating from analysts with an average price target indicating over 44% upside potential. AMD's recent achievement of a $1 trillion market cap on AI computing bets may signal a robust broader semiconductor and AI sector.
 - Tesla (TSLA) exhibited a pre-market gain of 0.72% on September 18, 2026, and climbed 3.55% in the past 24 hours to $373.28, fueled by a Morgan Stanley report detailing its deepening integration with SpaceX in "physical AI" and its role in an expanding AI and robotics ecosystem.
- Pre-market gainers include StubHub Holdings, driven by an analyst upgrade and increased trading volume, and Figure Technology Solutions, boosted by its recognition as a top blockchain stock and advancements in AI agents. Cipher Mining is also surging on news of a data center lease and a strategic shift towards AI infrastructure.
- Investors are monitoring Costco's quarterly earnings and the Meta Connect conference this week, alongside a key meeting between US President Donald Trump and Chinese leader Xi Jinping in Washington, with discussions expected on extending the tariff truce.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- The Sensex surged 564 points, and the Nifty closed above 23,400 on Monday, September 21, reflecting a strong market rally.
- The Nifty 50 gained 68 points, settling at 23,414. The BSE Sensex closed up 0.75% at 74,858.99.
- India's core sector output growth moderated to 4.8% in August.
- The RBI adjusted its FCNR(B) collections upward to USD 133 billion following strong participation from Non-Resident Indians.
- Corporate earnings are positively influencing mid and small-cap stocks; Milky Mist Dairy Food shares notably rose 10% after reporting significant Q1 profit growth, and Zerodha's FY26 net profit increased by 1.2%.
- Analysts have issued "strong buy" and "buy" recommendations for several large-cap Indian stocks, projecting potential upside of up to 29%.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil prices are trending downwards towards $93.50, driven by optimism for diplomatic progress in the Middle East, which is easing concerns about supply disruptions and contributing to lower US Treasury yields. However, higher oil prices due to the Iran war remain a factor in inflation.
- Gold (XAU/USD) saw choppy trading today but maintained levels above its 50% retracement.
- The cryptocurrency market is experiencing a rally, with Bitcoin (BTC) breaking above $81,000, even reaching $84,000, leading to significant short liquidations and indicating a potential return to a bullish market sentiment. Bitcoin also reclaimed its 50-week moving average. Ethereum (ETH) surged 3.22% fueled by ETF inflows and rotation from BTC. Stellar (XLM) recorded an 8% increase following a protocol upgrade. Cardano (ADA) is extending its recovery following a partnership with Mastercard and the testing of its Leios upgrade.
- However, a Bloomberg analyst issued a warning that the crypto market faces a "lose-lose scenario" due to its historical volatility and poor returns since 2017, compounded by the hawkish stance of the Federal Reserve in fighting inflation with further rate hikes in 2026, which could curb liquidity.
- The NYSE has spent a year evaluating Avalanche (AVAX) technology for future tokenization initiatives.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
INFY.NS (Infosys)	20/50 EMA Golden Cross / 50-SMA Support Bounce	As a Nifty leader, Infosys is expected to benefit from today's market rally, indicating potential for a fresh 20/50 EMA golden cross or a strong bounce off its 50-SMA.
TCS.NS (Tata Consultancy Services)	20/50 EMA Golden Cross / 50-SMA Support Bounce	Another bellwether of the Indian market, TCS's strong recent performance amidst the market rally suggests it is likely finding solid support around its 50-SMA or exhibiting a bullish EMA crossover.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
TSLA (Tesla)	21-day EMA Pullback / 50-day SMA Rejection (Long Bias)	Tesla's significant pre-market surge driven by AI/SpaceX integration news suggests strong upward momentum. A long entry on a minor pullback to the 21-day EMA could be sought if positive sentiment sustains, or a breakout if momentum continues strongly past resistance.
MSFT (Microsoft)	21-day EMA Pullback (Long Bias)	Despite a flat pre-market, Microsoft maintains a robust position in AI and cloud. A slight dip to the 21-day EMA would present a low-risk long entry, anticipating continued growth driven by strong fundamentals and positive dividend news.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
CIFR (Cipher Mining)	High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) Breakout	Cipher Mining is a strong pre-market gainer due to a new data center lease and a strategic pivot towards AI infrastructure. This suggests high relative volume and potential for a breakout through resistance levels.
FIGR (Figure Technology Solutions)	Stage-2 VCP Breakout / High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0)	Figure Technology Solutions is exhibiting strong pre-market gains, identified as a top blockchain stock with AI agent developments and acquisition momentum. This indicates high relative volume and a potential Stage-2 VCP breakout.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC/USD (Bitcoin Futures)	4H 21-EMA Trend Following / High-Volume Volatility Breakout	Bitcoin has aggressively broken above $81,000 and reclaimed its 50-week moving average, signifying a strong bullish trend. This sets up for potential high-volume volatility breakouts or trend-following opportunities on the 4H 21-EMA.
AVAX/USD (Avalanche Futures)	High-Volume Volatility Breakout	News that the NYSE has been testing Avalanche technology for tokenization plans serves as a significant catalyst, likely to induce high-volume volatility and potential breakouts.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
CL=F (WTI Crude Oil Futures)	Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels	WTI Crude Oil is retreating towards $93.50 due to improved Middle East diplomatic sentiment. This creates opportunities for a short position on continued weakness or a long position if it finds support at a key Fibonacci retracement or pivot level.
XAU/USD (Gold Futures)	Pivot & Fibonacci Extension Levels	Gold is showing choppy price action but is holding above its 50% retracement level. Trading around known pivots, it offers bi-directional trading opportunities based on reactions to these key technical levels.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
6E=F (EUR/USD Futures)	Short-Term Trend Following	The EUR/USD pair is under pressure due to recent Federal Reserve and ECB rate decisions and a generally firm US Dollar, presenting a short-term trend-following opportunity for a short position if it breaks below key support.
6J=F (USD/JPY Futures)	Macro Carry Swing	With the US Dollar strengthening and the Federal Reserve's hawkish stance, combined with the Japanese Yen's role in carry trades, a long position on USD/JPY could be a favorable macro carry swing opportunity, especially if interest rate differentials widen further.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Strategy	Strategy & Selection Reason
NIFTY50 Options	15-Minute Opening Range Breakout (ORB)	Given the strong market rally experienced by the Nifty 50 today, an upward breakout from its initial 15-minute trading range (ORB) would signal strong directional momentum, favoring a Call option entry.

 10-Year Backtest Metrics (Illustrative)

Metric	Blueprint Performance	Benchmark (S&P 500 TRI / Nifty 50 TRI)
Target CAGR	28.4%	~13.0% (S&P 500 TRI) / ~12.5% (Nifty 50 TRI)
Sharpe Ratio	1.45	Not applicable
