Current Session Highlight: New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

SECTION 0: DAILY MACRO & FINANCIAL NEWS DIGEST

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- US Federal Reserve: Chair Kevin Warsh delivered a hawkish speech at the Jackson Hole symposium, indicating the Fed "will have work to do" to bring inflation down to its 2% target, hinting at potential interest rate hikes.
- Rate Hike Expectations: Market-implied probabilities for a September rate hike increased to 57-60% following Warsh's remarks. Short-term Treasuries sold off, and the US Dollar Index rose, reflecting these expectations.
- Inflation: The Personal Consumption Expenditures (PCE) price index, the Fed's preferred inflation gauge, remains elevated at 3.7%, significantly above the 2% target.
- ECB & RBI: The European Central Bank (ECB) is poised for a September rate hike. Meanwhile, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) maintained its repo rate at 5.25% due to volatile oil prices impacting the inflation outlook, with Indian inflation expected to stay above the 4% target until early 2027.

2. US & European Markets

- US Futures Mixed: US stock futures are showing a mixed picture ahead of the New York open, with Dow Jones futures slightly positive (+0.10% to +0.13%), while S&P 500 futures are marginally lower (-0.05% to -0.06%), and Nasdaq 100 futures are down (-0.21% to -0.3%). This cautious sentiment is largely attributed to anticipation of Fed Chair Warsh's speech.
- Mega-cap Tech & Semiconductors: Nvidia (NVDA) reported record Q2 revenue and projected strong AI-driven growth, which boosted sentiment on Thursday. However, NVDA's stock was observed to be down 4.8% in pre-market trading on Friday. Tesla (TSLA) was also down 2.0% pre-market. Other semiconductor news includes capacity expansions by memory chipmakers and Lam Research's new AI semiconductor lab. Marvell Technology's shares were down 6% pre-market due to gross margin guidance.
- Key Premarket Movers: Gap Inc. (GAP) shares surged over 13-17% pre-market following news of a new CEO for its Old Navy brand and stronger-than-expected Q2 earnings. Conversely, PayPal (PYPL) tumbled 12-14% after reports of an abandoned acquisition bid. Elastic (ESTC) shares saw a significant jump of nearly 22% after beating Q1 expectations.
- European Markets: Major European indices showed positive movement earlier in the day after two sessions of declines.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Positive Open: Indian benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty 50, opened and traded in the green on Friday, recovering from losses in the previous session. The Sensex gained over 300 points, while the Nifty 50 traded above 24,150.
- IT Sector Rally: Information Technology (IT) stocks led the rally, with companies like Infosys, TCS, Tech Mahindra, and Wipro seeing gains of 2-4%, driven by strong global tech performance and Nvidia's positive outlook.
- Broader Market Mixed: While Sensex and Nifty were up, other broader indices traded mixed, and Bank Nifty was slightly down. Investor focus remains on FII/DII flows and corporate earnings.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil: Oil prices are trending lower and are on track for a weekly decline of 4-5%. This decline is primarily due to easing US-Iran tensions, progress in reopening the Strait of Hormuz, and signs of increasing OPEC+ supply. WTI is currently trading around $82.74 - $83.12 per barrel.
- Gold (XAU/USD): Gold prices are slipping and undergoing a correction, currently trading around $4454-$4575 per ounce. The hawkish stance from the Federal Reserve, which could lead to higher US interest rates and a stronger dollar, is reducing gold's appeal. Despite a sharp rise earlier in August (nearly 16% to $4600) driven by a weaker dollar and US national debt concerns, the metal is correcting on Friday. ETF demand and central bank purchases continue to offer some support.
- Crypto Market Rally: The cryptocurrency market is experiencing a significant rally. Bitcoin (BTC) surged past $77,000, gaining over 22% in a week, reaching its highest level in three months, currently around $77,616.48. Ethereum (ETH) also climbed above $2,400, trading around $2,439.28.
- Catalysts for Crypto: This surge is attributed to renewed investor optimism and pivotal regulatory developments, including President Trump's push for the "Clarity Act" and the SEC's proposed digital-asset rules. Institutional adoption, exemplified by significant Bitcoin ETF inflows and Mastercard's acquisition of a stablecoin firm, is also accelerating. Charles Schwab is also planning to add Solana (SOL), Avalanche (AVAX), and Chainlink (LINK) trading options.

STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Price (Approx.)	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
TCS (TCS.NS)	₹2332.5	LONG	Nifty leader showing strong momentum (+3.74% early gains) and part of the rallying IT sector, fitting the 20/50 EMA golden cross or 50-SMA support bounce (assuming recent positive price action sustains above key moving averages).
Infosys (INFY.NS)	₹1138.5	LONG	Another Nifty IT leader with significant early gains (+2.99%), indicating strong sectoral momentum and likely positive chart structure like a 20/50 EMA golden cross.

US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Price (Approx.)	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nvidia (NVDA)	~$217.00	SHORT	Mega-cap growth leader, despite strong underlying AI narrative, is showing pre-market weakness (-4.8%). This could present a 50-day SMA rejection strategy if it fails to reclaim key moving averages at open, indicating potential for short-term downside.
Gap Inc. (GAP)	Significantly Up Pre-Mkt	LONG	Strong pre-market mover (+13-17%) on positive news (new CEO, Q2 earnings beat). This suggests a high-relative-volume breakout opportunity, looking for sustained upward momentum post-open.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Ticker	Price (Approx.)	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
Elastic (ESTC)	Significantly Up Pre-Mkt	LONG	Significant pre-market surge (+22%) after strong Q1 results and outlook. This indicates high relative volume and a potential Stage-2 VCP (Volatility Contraction Pattern) breakout if it consolidates and then breaks higher on strong volume after the open.

CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Price (Approx.)	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
Bitcoin (BTC/USD)	~$77,616	LONG	Strong recent rally, up over 22% in a week, pushing past $77,000. A 4H 21-EMA trend following strategy would look for entries on pullbacks to the EMA, anticipating continuation of the strong bullish trend and high-volume volatility breakouts.
Ethereum (ETH/USD)	~$2,439	LONG	Following Bitcoin's strong lead, ETH also climbed above $2,400. Similar to BTC, a 4H 21-EMA trend following strategy is appropriate, seeking long entries on dips to maintain exposure to the bullish momentum.

COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Price (Approx.)	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
WTI Crude Oil (CL=F)	~$82.74-$83.12	SHORT	Prices are down and on track for a weekly decline (4-5%) due to easing geopolitical tensions and increased supply. Trading pivots and Fibonacci extension levels could identify short entry points on bounces towards resistance, anticipating continuation of the bearish trend.
Gold (XAU/USD)	~$4454-$4575	SHORT	Gold is correcting downwards on Friday, driven by a hawkish Fed and stronger USD, despite earlier August gains. A pivot and Fibonacci extension strategy would target short positions on failure to hold key support levels, given the current strong dollar and rate hike expectations.

FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term & Macro Carry Swings

Ticker	Price (Approx.)	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	~1.0450 (Implied)	SHORT	The hawkish Fed and rising US dollar index (+0.6%) suggest potential downside for EUR/USD, even with ECB hike expectations. A short-term futures strategy would target bearish momentum, looking for breakdowns below intraday support.
USD/JPY	~148.70 (Implied)	LONG	A stronger US dollar, driven by Fed hawkishness, would typically push USD/JPY higher. This aligns with a macro carry swing strategy, anticipating continued strength in the dollar against the Yen.

INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Ticker	Price (Approx.)	Direction	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50 (NIFTY)	~24,156	CALL (Long)	Indian markets opened positive and are trading higher. An Opening Range Breakout (ORB) on the 15-minute chart, if breaking above the initial range high, would signal a call option buying opportunity, capitalizing on the intraday bullish momentum.
BankNifty (BANKNIFTY)	~57,477	PUT (Short)	While the broader Indian market is positive, Bank Nifty was slightly down (-0.06%) in early trading. An Opening Range Breakout (ORB) on the 15-minute chart, if breaking below the initial range low, would signal a put option buying opportunity, playing the relative weakness.
