Date: Tuesday, September 29, 2026

Session Highlight:  New York Session Pre-Open Briefing (1 Hr Before Open)

Session News Focus: Wall Street pre-market movers, US Federal Reserve news, mega-cap US stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA), and WTI Crude Oil catalysts.

1. Global Macro & Central Banks

- Inflation Concerns Persist Globally:* Elevated crude oil prices continue to dampen risk sentiment and limit prospects of a meaningful rebound in markets, raising concerns about the inflation outlook. Pakistan's headline inflation for September 2026 is projected to ease modestly from August, primarily due to statistical dampening from a high prior-year base effect, but sequential momentum remains elevated due to Middle East supply disruptions and domestic energy tariff revisions.
- Hawkish Stance by Major Central Banks:* The US Federal Reserve raised interest rates by a quarter percentage point in September, its first hike since 2023, taking the target range to 3.75% to 4.00%, with officials signaling another hike in 2026 to combat stubbornly high inflation. Markets are now pricing in over a 70% chance of a Fed rate hike by end-October. Australia's central bank also lifted its benchmark rate for the fourth time this year to 4.60%, the highest in 15 years, citing persistent inflation, high energy costs, and weak domestic productivity. The Bank of Japan (BOJ) raised rates to a 31-year high of 1.25% in September, with minutes reinforcing a hawkish shift and suggesting further tightening.
- Strong Dollar and Rising Yields:* The US dollar held near a two-month high on Tuesday, supported by rising Treasury yields, as investors await key US economic data like the PCE price index and non-farm payrolls for further Fed clues. The 10-year US Treasury yield surged above 5.2%, reaching levels not seen since 2007, and the 30-year yield hit its highest since 2004. This rise in yields increases the opportunity cost of holding non-yielding assets like gold.

2. US & European Markets

- Wall Street Futures and Pre-Market Movers:* US stock futures edged lower on Tuesday, extending losses from Monday's session. On Monday, the S&P 500 slipped 0.8%, the Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 0.7%, and the Nasdaq composite dropped 0.9%. Premarket activity shows some individual stock volatility, with both gainers and losers.
- Mega-Cap Tech and Semiconductor Developments:* Samsung Electronics announced plans to quadruple its semiconductor foundry customer base by 2029, pivoting towards high-performance computing (HPC) and AI. TSMC is reportedly considering Texas for a second US chipmaking hub, with potential investment exceeding its Arizona operations, driven by demand from major customers like Nvidia, Intel, AMD, and Apple for domestic chip production. TSMC affiliate VisionPower Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (VSMC) has opened its first advanced chipmaking plant in Singapore, with capacity already "sold out" due to the AI infrastructure boom, and is eyeing expansion. Nvidia has also unveiled a tool to keep AI agents in check. Micron Technology is set to release its Q4 2026 earnings with analysts expressing optimism amid strong demand in the memory chip market, although GuruFocus indicates it is significantly overvalued. AI infrastructure plays like Nvidia, Bloom Energy, and Amphenol are highlighted due to strong demand and earnings momentum. Australia's Megaport rallied after securing significant AI infrastructure contracts, leveraging Nvidia and AMD chips.
- Mega-Cap US Stocks (NVDA, MSFT, TSLA):* Nvidia (NVDA) gained 1.6% on Monday. Tesla (TSLA) declined nearly 4% on Monday. Microsoft (MSFT) news was not explicitly detailed in the pre-open briefing but is generally considered a strong tech play.

3. Indian Markets & Dalal Street

- Indian Markets Open in Red:* Indian equity benchmark indices, Sensex and Nifty, opened lower on Tuesday, extending Monday's sharp correction due to elevated crude oil prices and concerns over global monetary tightening. The Sensex was down by around 165 points, and the Nifty 50 traded below 22,750 in early trade. Broader Indian stock market indices also opened and traded in the red, with the Nifty MidCap and SmallCap falling 0.32% and 0.39% respectively.
- FII/DII Institutional Flows & Sectoral Momentum:* On Monday, both benchmark indices crashed by over 1.5% each. Rising crude oil prices, elevated bond yields, and concerns over further global monetary tightening dampened investor sentiment. The Nifty MidCap 150 declined over 7% in September so far, underperforming the Nifty50. However, the Nifty Pharma sector outperformed in a weak market, with Dr. Reddy's Laboratories and Sun Pharmaceutical Industries shares supporting the index. Landmark Cars shares jumped 12% on heavy volumes, defying weak market sentiment, due to increasing presence with new facilities.

4. Commodities & Crypto Wire

- WTI Crude Oil Catalysts & Geopolitics:* Oil prices rose on Tuesday, extending gains, as stalled US-Iran negotiations kept concerns over Middle East supply disruptions in focus. Brent crude traded near $106.54 a barrel, up 1.20%, while WTI crude oil was around $96.2485. Earlier, Brent crude gained 1.4% to $99.16 per barrel, well above the $72 level before the Iran war. US President Donald Trump rejected an offer from Tehran to reopen the Strait of Hormuz, maintaining diplomatic uncertainty. Despite recovering Saudi crude exports, physical supply remains tight. The Houthis' military success is seen as bullish for oil markets due to increased supply risks.
- Gold Supply/Demand Drivers:* Gold prices remained under pressure in early trade on Tuesday after a sharp sell-off on Monday. Spot gold had fallen as much as 4% to $4,111 an ounce on Monday, its lowest level since August 5, due to rising US Treasury yields and expectations of further Federal Reserve rate hikes. A firmer US Dollar on robust US data and hawkish Federal Reserve also contributed to gold's downside pressure. China's upcoming Golden Week holiday (October 1-7) could provide some seasonal support to gold demand after a challenging period for jewellery consumption, but the outlook comes as gold prices remain under pressure. Bears are eyeing a test of support in the $4000-$4030 zone.
- Major Crypto Regulatory/Adoption Headlines:* The US Federal Reserve has proposed rules for payment stablecoin issuers under its supervision, as required by the GENIUS Act, focusing on reserve backing, capital, and custody arrangements. The US Senate's CLARITY Act on digital assets stalled, underscoring the evolving regulatory path, yet the stablecoin market has grown to nearly US$300 billion. Coinbase Clearing has won CFTC approval for 24/7 USDC derivatives clearing. Regulatory progress can improve conditions for the entire crypto sector.

🎯 STRATEGY-BASED DAILY TICKER SELECTION & SECTOR CONSTRAINTS

(Note: Ticker selections are illustrative, based on current market sentiment and strategy application, as real-time future market data is unavailable.)

1. INDIAN EQUITIES (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Strategy: Screen Nifty leaders using 50-SMA support bounces or 20/50 EMA golden crosses.

Ticker	Price (Illustrative)	50-SMA (Illustrative)	20-EMA (Illustrative)	50-EMA (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
DRL (Dr. Reddy's Labs)	₹6,250	₹6,200	₹6,220	₹6,190	Nifty Pharma is outperforming in a weak market. DRL shows resilience, nearing its 50-SMA, suggesting a potential support bounce if broader market sentiment stabilizes.
SUNPHARMA (Sun Pharma)	₹1,600	₹1,580	₹1,590	₹1,575	Another strong performer in the Pharma sector. Positioned for a 20/50 EMA golden cross or a bounce off 50-SMA, indicating bullish continuation.

2. US EQUITIES

Large-Cap (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Strategy: Screen using 21-day EMA pullbacks or 50-day SMA rejection strategy on mega-cap growth leaders.

Ticker	Price (Illustrative)	21-EMA (Illustrative)	50-SMA (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
NVDA (Nvidia)	$1,220	$1,250	$1,180	Nvidia shares recently gained 1.6% and are a key AI infrastructure play with strong demand. A pullback to its 21-day EMA would present a long entry opportunity for trend continuation, given the overall strong AI narrative and semiconductor sector performance.
MSFT (Microsoft)	$480	$485	$470	A strong mega-cap tech leader. A 21-day EMA pullback could offer a favorable long entry, aligning with continued strength in the tech sector and cloud computing.
TSLA (Tesla)	$280	$285	$295	Tesla declined nearly 4% on Monday, suggesting bearish momentum. A rejection off the 50-day SMA could signal further downside, presenting a short opportunity based on technical weakness and recent selling pressure.

Mid-Cap & Small-Cap (STRICTLY LONG-ONLY)

Strategy: Screen using Stage-2 VCP or High Relative Volume (RVOL > 2.0) breakouts.

Ticker	Price (Illustrative)	RVOL (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
SOAR (Volato Group, Inc.)	$0.40	>2.0	Reported as a top pre-market gainer with 120.17% increase and high volume. This indicates a high relative volume breakout, suitable for a long-only strategy on momentum.
KOD (Kodiak Sciences Inc.)	$62.99	>2.0	Another significant pre-market gainer, up 94.71% with substantial volume. Signals strong buying interest and a potential Stage-2 breakout.

3. CRYPTO FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Strategy: Screen using 4H 21-EMA trend following and high-volume volatility breakouts.

Ticker	Price (Illustrative)	4H 21-EMA (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
BTC/USD (Bitcoin)	$84,000	$83,500	Bitcoin rallied above $87,000 before returning towards $84,000 amid regulatory optimism. A strong bounce and hold above the 4H 21-EMA could signal trend continuation for a long position; a break below could initiate a short.
ETH/USD (Ethereum)	$4,800	$4,850	Following broader crypto market sentiment, a high-volume breakout above the 4H 21-EMA would indicate bullish momentum for a long, while a rejection could suggest a short.

4. COMMODITIES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Strategy: Gold (XAU/USD) and WTI Crude Oil using Pivot & Fibonacci extension levels.

Ticker	Price (Illustrative)	Pivot (Illustrative)	Key Resistance/Support (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
XAU/USD (Gold)	$4,130	$4,150	R1: $4,180, S1: $4,100	Gold is under extreme downside pressure due to rising real yields and a firmer US Dollar, with bears eyeing $4000-$4030 support. Short entry on rejection of pivot/resistance, long on a strong bounce from support levels with volume.
WTI Crude Oil	$96.25	$96.08	R1: $97.35, S1: $94.52	Oil prices rose due to US-Iran stalemate. WTI needs to settle above $92.50-$93.00 for upside momentum, with the next resistance at $97.00-$97.50. Trade breakouts/breakdowns from pivot and Fibonacci extension levels, given the high volatility and geopolitical catalysts.

5. FOREX FUTURES (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Short-Term (EUR/USD, GBP/USD)

Strategy: Using technical indicators and recent central bank commentaries.

Pair	Price (Illustrative)	Resistance (Illustrative)	Support (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
EUR/USD	1.1367	1.1400	1.1350	The euro traded near a three-month low after the ECB signaled a measured approach to inflation. Short on continued weakness and failure to reclaim resistance; potential bounce from strong support.
GBP/USD	1.3248	1.3280	1.3220	Sterling was little changed, also near a three-month trough. Trade based on technical breakouts/breakdowns from current consolidation, sensitive to upcoming US data.

Macro Carry Swings (USD/JPY, AUD/USD)

Strategy: Leveraging interest rate differentials and longer-term trends.

Pair	Price (Illustrative)	Key Level (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
USD/JPY	150.80	150.00 (Support)	The BOJ's hawkish stance and intervention risk should help contain JPY weakness, but a sustained decline in USD/JPY requires moderation in US yields. Long-term carry trade opportunity on sustained USD strength and higher US yields.
AUD/USD	0.6978	0.7000 (Resistance)	The Australian Dollar fell despite an RBA rate hike, hitting a two-month low. A hawkish RBA message could support AUD through higher short-end yields, but upside may be constrained by the difficult global backdrop. A short position on rejections of 0.7000.

6. INDIAN OPTIONS (BI-DIRECTIONAL)

Strategy: Nifty 50 / BankNifty 15-Minute Opening Range Breakouts (Call for Long, Put for Short).

Index	Opening Range High (Illustrative)	Opening Range Low (Illustrative)	Strategy & Selection Reason
Nifty 50	22,780	22,700	Nifty 50 traded below 22,750 on open and continues to be in red. A break above the 15-minute opening range high indicates bullish momentum (Buy Call); a break below indicates bearish momentum (Buy Put). Given the current bearish sentiment, a put option on breakdown is favored.
BankNifty	48,500	48,300	Following Nifty's lead, BankNifty is likely to show similar patterns. Utilize the 15-minute opening range for clear breakout/breakdown signals, buying calls for long and puts for short.
